Veteran Slash Accord Plan Is Lost in Senate

Veto Awaiting Likely Action by House This Morning.

Leaders Are Certain Economy Act Is Safe.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

President Roosevelt's $100,000,000 compromise on veteran pension economies was rejected by the Senate last night by a vote of 51 to 39.

By that count the Senate insisted upon the revamped Cutting-Steiwer amendment to the veteran section of the independent offices appropriation bill, thereby sending the deadlocked measure back to the House for another test of administration strength on the March economy regulations.

Despite an unqualified declaration on the floor by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, that adoption of the Cutting-Steiwer amendment would call for a prompt White House veto, the Senate declined to recede from its demand that compensation rates be written securely into the new law rather than left open for promulgation by the Veterans' Administration.

Total Additional Cost.

Veterans' Bureau estimates placed the total added cost of the Cutting-Steiwer amendment at approximately $170,000,000 a year, or about $70,000,000 more annually than the amount called for in the White House compromise written into the bill by the House last week.

Although in different language, the amendment approved in the Senate last night calls for about the same amount of restoration to veterans as was demanded in the original Connally amendment, which joined the issue ten days ago between the President and his "associates in government" on Capitol Hill.

The new amendment against the veteran economies also throws over the principle of the original regulations in regard to nonservice connected disabilities—the crux of the differences between the White House and the Senate.

Eight Hours More Debate.

After eight hours more debate on the veteran tangle, 39 Democrats voted to sustain the President. The line-up against the administration—those who voted for the Cutting-Steiwer amendment—included 19 Democrats, 31 Republicans and the lone Farmer-Laborite.

Immediately following the Senate vote, the question was again presented to the House, but since a unanimous consent motion to take up the conference report at once was blocked, the matter went over until 10 a. m. today.

Republicans forced a roll call on the motion to recess, which carried, 230 to 136.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, said last night he saw nothing to stop an adjournment tonight. He predicted the House would sustain the Presidential veto and then bring in a supply bill for

Whistles and Cheering Greet Murphy in Manila

Manila (Thursday), June 15 (A.P.). While cheering crowds and shrieking whistles greeted his arrival, Frank Murphy, new governor general of the Philippines, said in his inaugural address today that acceptance of preferred independence was entirely a Filippino problem on which he would maintain the traditional hands-off policy.

MATTERN IS ALOFT ON DANGEROUS HOP

Moscow, Thursday, June 15 (A.P.). Jimmie Mattern, Texas flier, took off from Khabarovsk, Siberia, for Alaska on his trip around the world at 9 p. m., Moscow time (1 p. m., Eastern standard time), Wednesday.

Nome, Alaska, June 14 (U.P.).—Overcast skies and poor visibility await James Mattern, reported to be en route here from Khabarovsk, Siberia, on the most dangerous leg of his world flight.

Weather, however, was better than Tuesday, when he was forced to turn back after encountering fog, sleet and freezing temperatures.

Preparations for his arrival were renewed when it was reported he had started his second attempt to span the Sea of Okhotsk and Bering Sea, a distance of 2,409 miles. Post and Gatty made the hops in 16 hours 45 minutes.

Rome-U. S. Trip of 24 Planes Again Is Delayed

Orbetello, Italy, June 14 (A.P.).—The departure of the Italian squadron of 24 seaplanes on a 6,100-mile flight by stages to Chicago was still being held up tonight because of unfavorable weather over Europe.

There appeared no possibility for a take-off tomorrow. Aviation Minister Italo Balbo personally will lead the 100 crack fliers on the cruise.

Paralyzed Man Victim of Thugs

Norton, Va., June 14 (A.P.).—Robbers broke into the Bold Camp cabin of Bradley Baker, paralyzed since his injury in a mine accident, and robbed him today of between five and six thousand dollars.

Baker said that the men after subduing him and his wife tore the lock from a trunk in an adjoining room and removed the money from a half-gallon jar.

Although paralyzed from his waist down, Baker told police that he bit and fought his assailants as best he could over two rooms and a porch. He was cut about the face and head by blows from a pistol.

Moderation Is Weather Outlook in D. C. Today

A bit of moderation is the weather outlook for today. The Weather Bureau promises fair and warmer, which is some assurance that Washington will be free of both last week's heat wave and this week's cold wave.

Sixty-one degrees was the thermometer's maximum effort yesterday, which was accomplished from a low reading of 49 degrees at 4:30 a. m. North winds from Canada have brought the cold.

OLD FURLOUGH PLAN STAYS IF BILL IS VETOED

New Rotative System Is Fiscal Measure Rider and Awaits Fate.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Possibility that administrative Federal furlough provisions of the old economy law may be continued in force another year was paramount last night as the threat of veto hung over the independent offices appropriation bill.

The bill carries a legislative rider repealing the old administrative furlough plan, and substituting authority for rotative Federal furloughs and involuntary retirements, in place of the old economy section.

Should the House today concur in last night's Senate action liberalizing veterans' provisions, the President is expected to veto the bill. If the veto is not overridden, this would continue in force the old law, making furloughs mandatory in lieu of dismissals.

A "Continuing Resolution."

A "continuing resolution" carrying current independent offices appropriations over another year may be passed, but this would not save the President's $166,000,000 economy rider to the supply measure.

It was this rider that specifically repealed the old administrative furlough law, which prevented dismissals for the purpose of keeping within appropriations, and substituted authority to dismiss or furlough.

Indeterminate Furlough Feature.

While seemingly favoring employes by making furloughs compulsory, the law actually could be administered to place workers scheduled for dismissal on an indeterminate furlough that would be equivalent to discharge.

So far as the involuntary retirement feature is concerned, that arrangement would not become operative anyway unless the President repealed the old executive order giving longevity credits for length of service.

The provision was designed to give department heads the right to order retirements of 30-year employes where extensive cuts in personnel were necessary.

Reports Called Baseless.

Reports at the Capitol that the President might withdraw some of the controversial Federal reorganization orders issued Saturday, were held baseless at the White House yesterday.

At the same time it was pointed out that the President has "discretionary" power to make 25 per cent cuts in agriculture extension activities, and this power need not neces-

Killing of Roomer Charged to Three

Following the death Tuesday of William C. Cooley, 65, who was slugged and beaten Monday in a rooming house at Riverdale, Md., Mrs. Margaret Nash, 45, the landlady; Homer Wellman, 35 and Mrs. Mabel McGee, 33, were formally charged with murder in connection with his death.

Mrs. Nash and Wellman were taken into custody by Prince Georges county police after the man was taken to Providence Hospital. Mrs. McGee was arrested Tuesday night in a rooming house at New Jersey avenue and F street northwest. Cooley suffered a fracture of the skull, a ruptured lung and other injuries.

Police were told Cooley started making trouble at the rooming house and was hurt in the ensuing affray, but they also are investigating a report the fight was over money.

Government Pay Cuts Outside Power of Court

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers, of Brooklyn, held today the court was without jurisdiction to interfere with pay reductions for Government employes put into effect by Executive order or legislative enactment.

Judge Byers ruled out a suit brought by Nathan Anchanitsky, a mail carrier, to prevent the pay cut under the economy bill from becoming operative.

U. S. Expected to Refuse Manchukuo Recognition

Geneva, June 14 (A.P.).—Unless the United States advises the League of Nations to the contrary, that body will presume America will adopt measures for nonrecognition of Manchukuo formulated by the advisory committee studying the Sino-Japanese dispute.

This was made clear today in communications sent to all governments, including the United States, outlining measures recommended for carrying

White House Says of 'Plot' to Kidnap Grandchild, Sarah D. Roosevelt.

(Associated Press.)

A secretary to President Roosevelt, after talking with the Chief Executive late last night, declared there was "no truth" in reports that a threat had been received to kidnap Sarah Delano Roosevelt, grandchild of the President.

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, said that James Roosevelt, father of the child, had talked with the Chief Executive last night by telephone.

"James told his father," Early said, "that he had heard reports were being circulated that a threat had been made to kidnap his child, but that there was absolutely no truth in the report and that he was denying it flatly."

Early said he had talked with James Roosevelt several times during the day and had been told by him about the fire at his summer home, but that there had been not even an intimation about any threatened kidnaping.

The Boston Post, according to the Associated Press, says a threat to kidnap the President's grandchild was disclosed yesterday at the same time a fire of mysterious origin swept through the summer home of James Roosevelt at Little Boars Head, N. H.

BANK BANDITS KILL 2 OFFICERS IN FIGHT

Sheriff and State Trooper Shot to Death After Missouri Robbery.

Columbia, Mo., June 14 (A.P.).—Two officers were shot to death here late today by three men fleeing with the loot of a holdup of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, of Mexico, Mo. Posses sought them tonight, many citizens joining authorities in the hunt throughout central Missouri.

Sheriff Roger Wilson, 43 years old, of Boone County, and Sergt. Ben Booth, 38, a State highway patrolman, were slain when they halted the three men for questioning 45 minutes after the robbery.

The slayers continued their automobile flight eastward, leaving in their wake conflicting reports of their progress. Four airplane pilots took off in efforts to spot the trio from the air.

Witnesses said that Wilson and Booth, after halting the robbers' car, had questioned the men about two minutes when the driver whipped out a pistol and began shooting.

C. F. Merrifield, cashier of the Mexico bank, said two men executed the robbery. He and two customers were held up. The third gunman remained at the wheel of the robbers' car.

"I was forced to go to the vault and get all the money there," Merrifield said. "Then the robbers looted the cash drawer and the money changer, having a little difficulty in getting the last dime out of the changer."

One of the customers, Robert Lyons, was robbed of $65 which he had intended to deposit.

Holdup Trio Get $7,000 From Circus' Pay Car

Philadelphia, June 14 (A.P.).—Three men held up the pay car of the Hagenback-Wallace Circus at the Millbourne Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad today and escaped with between $6,000 to $7,000.

FOUR MILLION JOBS IN TRADE BILL FORESEEN

Gen. Johnson Cites Goal as Plan Waits Signing; Idleness Again Drops.

(Associated Press).

Figures to show that 4,000,000 idle men can be put back to work by October 1 were announced last night by Gen. Hugh Johnson, director of the mighty public works-industrial control program, as the bill giving President Roosevelt unprecedented economic authority awaited his signature at the White House.

Almost simultaneously Secretary Perkins announced an increase of 4.8 in manufacturing employment and 11.5 per cent in pay rolls during the month of May.

The Labor Secretary pointed out that the gains were far beyond the customary seasonal increases, and that the upward trend of employment and fattening of pay envelopes constituted the biggest jump over a preceding month since January, 1932.

Goal Given Relief Aids.

Gen. Johnson put forward his goal as administrator of the administration's king pin industrial recovery move during an address last night before a meeting of relief officials from all the 48 States.

Figures gathered by his staff, Gen. Johnson said, indicated that 3,000,000 men could be put to work in industrial establishments by October 1, with an additional 1,000,000 employed on the public works program.

Gen. Johnson described the business recovery measure as an adventure, but asserted that with cooperation on the part of owners of industrial plants the goal could be realized.

Still unofficial, since President Roosevelt has not yet signed the bill, the Johnson organization was driving simultaneously toward early trade agreements within industry to bring higher wages and heavy disbursements through the public works section to stir purchasing power.

The officers of the organization were besieged yesterday by hundreds of persons seeking jobs. In the offices, hastily cleared by Commerce Department workers and with equipment loaned by that department, the employes of the National Recovery Administration worked.

Questions Are Ignored

But it was all voluntary since no jobs have been created and all were laboring in the hope of employment later. As a result of the semiofficial status, everyone at the direction of Gen. Johnson firmly declined to answer questions of the most simple type. It was a noisy bustle from

Mother of Five Arrested After Neighbor Is Slain

St. Louis, June 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. Lloyd Rees, 30, mother of five children, one 3 months old, late today was arrested by police who said she killed Lee Robey, her next-door neighbor, during a quarrel.

Witnesses said the quarrel originated among children of the two families. Mrs. Rees was declared to have entered her home, returned with a rifle, and shot Robey, who was armed with an ax handle. No formal charge against the woman had been filed tonight, pending an inquest.

Congressional Report Raps Navy in Disaster of Akron

Alternate Sea and Air Duty for Officers Branded Mistaken Policy as Threat of Separate Corps Arises If Policy Continues.

(Associated Press.)

Calling a "mistaken policy" the Navy's custom of transferring airship personnel to sea duty, the congressional committee investigating the crash of the dirigible Akron yesterday suggested that the Navy command be given until next session of Congress to "correct the situation" under penalty of losing aircraft operations to a separate Navy air corps.

Simultaneously the committee members criticised naval activity both before and after the giant airship plummeted into the sea off Barnegat Light, N. J. The naval court of inquiry's investigation into the disaster, the committee said, "was lacking in thoroughness."

It also was charged that lack of experience and knowledge of weather conditions "contributed largely to the disaster," and that "had there been men in command of the Akron the disaster probably would not have occurred."

"We feel bound to warn the Navy Department against following the same mistaken policy in the management of the Macon (new Navy airship) that contributed to the disaster to the Akron, so that every safeguard should surround the operation of the Macon," the committee stated.

"It is our opinion that in case the Navy Department has not corrected this situation before the convening of the next session of Congress that it will be necessary to enact further legislation seeking safe operation of aircraft, including probably such provisions as the creation of a Navy Air Corps."

The warning came in the form of a supplement to the committee report, signed by eight of the ten mem-

Roosevelt Will Accept Britain's Token Today, With Paris Defaulting

Chamberlain Asserts 50-Cent Silver to Be Transferred.

London, June 14, (A.P.).—A payment of $10,000,000 in silver on Great Britain's war debt obligation of $75,950,000 due the United States tomorrow was announced to the House of Commons tonight by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in a statement which acknowledged the "debt pending final settlement."

Simultaneously, the chancellor stated formal debt negotiations between Great Britain and the United States upon the entire problem will be started at Washington in accordance with President Roosevelt's reply to the British remittance.

The United States accepted the partial payment, the chancellor declared, "without prejudicing the freedom of either government in subsequent discussions."

Roosevelt Is Praised.

News of the arrangement was hailed by the American delegation to the World Economic Conference and the chancellor with high hopes that it might open the way for genuine progress toward economic rehabilitation.

The partial payment, Mr. Chamberlain told an enthusiastically cheering house, will be made in silver at 50 cents a fine ounce and constitutes Great Britain's acknowledgment of her obligation to America under the war debt account.

Labor and Liberal spokesmen, applauding the arrangement, joined Chancellor Chamberlain in praising President Roosevelt for his acceptance of the scheme of payment.

"The difficult and delicate problem has been adjusted," the chancellor announced in revealing the results of several days' anxious negotiations between London and Washington.

"Good Augury of Success."

"It is a good augury for the success of the World Economic Conference and may prove the first step toward complete and final settlement of the whole of the war debts."

The chancellor revealed that the British government had hoped that it would be possible for the United States to accede to a request that the payment of the June installment be postponed pending discussion of the war debts as a whole.

"They (the British government) maintained this hope up to a very recent date," the chancellor continued. "In the end it became clear that it could not be realized. They, therefore, had to decide upon their course of action in these circumstances as they found them."

The American President was congratulated by Sir Stafford Cripps,

French See Debts Still Deadlocked

Paris (Thursday), June 15 (A.P.).—That the British payment leaves the debt deadlock much where it was appeared the general opinion of French commentators today.

"Pertinax," writing in L'Echo de Paris, said the British action of June 15 completes what the French action of December 15 began, adding that "the courageous conduct of Roosevelt repaired, in some measure, the injury caused Germany's creditors by Hoover."

The Leftist Oeuvre urged a Roosevelt message to the people telling the truth of the debts to "choke the poison of international economics."

Debt Parley Here Opens in Fortnight

London (Thursday), June 15 (U.P.). The Morning Post's political expert said today that Sir Frederick William Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the government since 1932, probably will head a staff of treasury experts which will go to Washington in about a fortnight to open negotiations for a final settlement of British war debts to the United States.

It is expected that the negotiations will be conclusive, the Post said, adding that there is an opinion in government circles that the recent exchange of notes between the two governments on payment of the June 15 installment amounts to an admission by the United States that the 1923 debts agreement is at an end.

Sir Frederick accompanied Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald when the latter went to Washington to con-

American and British Views Differ Sharply

(United Press.)

The sharp difference of opinion on the effect of war debts upon world economic stability was reflected in the notes exchanged between Great Britain and the United States on the June 15 installment.

Great Britain—"The conclusion at which his majesty's government have arrived is that payment of the June installment could not be made at this juncture without gravely imperiling the success of the conference (world economic) and involving widespread political consequences of a most serious character. * * *"

United States—"The President * * * notes the characterization of the circumstances with which the British government accompanies this payment, although he, by no means, concedes some of the statements concerning the world-wide economic cause and effect contained in his majesty's government's communication, especially insofar as they affect the economic conference."

UNITED U.S.-BRITISH PARLEY PLAN IS SEEN

Lower Tariffs Likley in Joint Recovery Move to Be Offered in London.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

London, June 14.—A move toward Anglo-American unity on a joint economic program to be offered at the world economic conference was hailed in both America and British quarters tonight after temporary amicable settlement of the debts issue.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, said after a talk with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, head of the United States delegation, that he was much encouraged over the possibilities of such a united front.

The Anglo-American economic program, it was intimated, would include as its major points lower tariffs throughout the world and stabilized currencies.

The United States delegation was assured tonight of sufficient votes for the vital chairmanship of the monetary committee of the economic conference, provided all who promised fulfill their pledges.

Secretary Hull this evening expressed encouragement over the speed with which the economic conference was moving.

"I am much encouraged at the progress thus far," Mr. Hull said, "especially at the speed with which we are traversing the speech period of the conference."

Mr. Hull proposed that the conference be limited to six weeks, but he said that if the progress being made continues, it may not be necessary to call up his resolution.

The Secretary's failure to put forward a detailed program of recovery in his speech to the conference today was dictated by a desire to await a psychological, dramatic moment later, he said.

The Secretary of State pointed out that the United States has concrete plans for lower tariffs and stabilized money. But he feels they would be

Post to Hop Off July 1 On World Solo Flight

Dayton, Ohio, June 14 (A.P.).—Wiley Post announced tonight he has decided definitely to hop off July 1 from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, on a projected solo flight around the world. He flew here today from Oklahoma City.

Post came here for installation of radio receiving equipment in his plane, the rebuilt Winnie Mae, in which he and Harold Gatty set their globe-circling record of 8 days 15 hours 51 minutes in 1931. He plans to use a mechanical pilot on his second world flight.

Senators See Statehood For Puerto Rico Nearing

San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 14 (A.P.).—Senate President Rafael Martinez Nadal and Senator Alfonso Valdes said, on their return from Washington today, that the United States is favorably inclined toward granting the island Statehood during the Roosevelt administration.

While in Washington the senators conferred with President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Dern and many

Medium of Payment in Doubt; Roumania Repudiates.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Roosevelt informed the British government yesterday that he would accept a payment of $10,000,000 in "token" of the principal amount of $79,000,000 due today on payment of Great Britain's war debt to this country. The President's acceptance was, however, hedged about with all the reservations and contingency clauses necessary to permit the acceptance of the debt payment without invalidating in any degree the inherent nature of the bond or its ultimate obligation.

Of the $65,000,000 due from other countries, the prospects of payment in full are nonexistent. Italy, Czechoslovakia, Finland and perhaps Poland will make some token payment, but in the case of the other nations the best that can be expected is a 10 per cent payment or actual default. France has practically determined to ignore the day of reckoning. For France and for many of her satellite nations, like Roumania and Jugoslavia, June 15 will be just another day.

Attacked by Republicans.

The President's debt formula plunged Congress into the throes of a bitter debate in its last hours. There was however general approval of the debt settlement as announced by the President himself and even Senator Borah, irreconcilable opponent to all trafficking with the enemy, declared:

"I presume that the amount paid was all that the debtor was willing to pay, but I find nothing here that gives the debtor any advantage whatsoever."

The Republican opposition to the debt agreement was, however, voiced by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Arthur Robinson, of Indiana. The Republican leader was violent in his denunciation of the President's action:

"The President has no authority to remit or suspend any payment of the debts or any installment thereon. If he has done so, it has been in defiance of the Constitution."

Reply by Glass.

Senator Robinson's opposition was tinged with greater force. He said:

"The entire sum or none of it should be paid. The same President who takes $400,000,000 from the veterans undertakes now to accept $10,000,000 against British debt aggregating $79,000,000."

Senator Carter Glass, the lanky statesman from Virginia, immediately challenged the opposition of Senators Reed and Robinson to the debt settlement as a "partisan fight," and declared the very same debt settlement made by President Roosevelt yesterday was advanced by President Hoover last year.

With visible equanimity, President Roosevelt made the debt announcement at the White House yesterday afternoon with all the sangfroid that he would display in making a circuit court judgeship. The machinery of the debt settlement will remain as it has been in the past. The countries paying will remit through their fiscal agents in New York or through their central banks, the necessary amount in United States Government bonds or in American currency. There was

FARLEY IS AMAZED AT WET SENTIMENT

(Associated Press.)

Welcoming Massachusetts to what he termed the "honor roll," Postmaster General Farley last night said he was "amazed at the strong and growing" prohibition repeal sentiment in North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

The Democratic chieftain said he had just returned from a visit to these States, "all of which have been regarded as among the driest of the dry States."

"It is my confident belief that the States yet to vote on this question will all be recorded for repeal," Farley said in his statement.

Farley Is Confident.

"I am more confident than ever that the eighteenth amendment will be repealed. The demand for repeal is strong in every section of the country.

"I have just returned from a trip which took me into North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee. In each of these States I was told by numerous responsible and leading citizens that these States would also vote for repeal as soon as they had the opportunity to express themselves.

"Without exception these citizens agreed that the eighteenth amendment had proven a dismal failure; that it had utterly failed to accomplish what its advocates had promised and hoped it would accomplish; that it not only had not prohibited traffic in liquor, but that it had fostered crime and hypocrisy.

Sentiment Change Seen.

"Many who have hitherto earnestly supported national prohibition in the belief that it would reduce liquor drinking and traffic in liquor were frank to say that their hopes have not been realized and that it is not only wise but necessary to repeal the eighteenth amendment and to restore liquor control to the States."

Boston, June 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Joseph B. Ely today summoned the constitutional convention to ratify the proposed new amendment to the Federal Constitution to replace the eighteenth amendment for Monday, June 26.

The 45 delegates, unanimously pledged to repeal, who were elected at yesterday's special election, will comprise the convention.

Cleaners Accept Fair Trade Code

Philadelphia, June 14 (A.P.).—Dry cleaners from New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania today adopted a business code after a warning by George McCorkle, member of the Federal Trade Commission, that the Government was ready to enforce fair competition.

"Business had better begin now to engage in fair competition," McCorkle told a conference of 300 dry cleaners. "If it does not, the Government will make somebody do it for the industry. Elimination of unfair competition is for the public interest.

"The new control bill will see that business will not embarrass competitors by cut-throat competition, long hours and low-paid labor. The first man that violates the law will be hauled up under the new act."

College Students' Suit Is Dismissed

Pineville, Ky., June 14 (A.P.).—The $100,000 damage suit of five representatives of Commonwealth College, Mena, Ark., who claimed they were beaten when they came here last year to study conditions in the coal fields, was dismissed today.

The defendatns were Mary J. M. Brooks, Chief of Police Pearl Osborne and Dr. C. B. Utacy. Counsel for the plaintiffs did not object when defense counsel filed a motion for dismissal, and the motion was granted by Circuit Judge D. C. Jones.

Mavila to Turn Over Leticia to Commission

Lima, Peru, June 14 (U.P.).—Commander Oscar Mavila, of the navy, prefect of Lima, was appointed tonight as prefect of Iquitos, where he will act for the Peruvian government in turning over the town of Leticia to the League of Nations commission which will control the small Amazon River port until Peru and Colombia settle their dispute over its possession.

President Roosevelt Given LL. D. Degree at C. U.; Called Doer of Great Things; His Example Praised

Brilliant Commencement Held; Executive Makes Brief Reply.

Cardinal Hayes Is Present and Delivers Address to Class of 493.

President Roosevelt received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the forty-fourth annual commencement exercises of Catholic University yesterday.

The Chief Executive was hailed a "doer of great things whose very doing is his worthiest praise" in the ceremony, which brought together many notables of the Nation and the Catholic Church.

The President was greeted "as the teacher, by word and by example, of the principles which must determine the course of human affairs," by the university chancellor, the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore.

"We are grateful for the lessons you have given," he said. "With pleasure we avail ourselves of this opportunity to offer you our hearty congratulations on the progress made in your plans for the Nation's well-being since March 4."

Reply by the President.

In thanking the university in a brief talk, President Roosevelt expressed his gratitude.

"I am happy to be here on the platform with some of my old friends," he said.

"Here is my old friend and neighbor of New York, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, and my old friend of Washington, Archbishop Curley.

"Last but not least, here is my new friend who has just come here, and whom I hope to see much of in the next four years, the apostolic delegate of his holy father.

"This is not only the commencement day of Catholic University, but it is Flag Day that means so much to all of us Americans.

"It is a happy combination on this occasion—Flag Day—great dignitaries of the church, and among them the President of the United States."

Mrs. Roosevelt was with the President. Other notables on the platform in the university gymnasium were the apostolic delegate, James A. Farley, the Postmaster General; Daniel C. Roper, Secretary of Commerce; Supreme Court Justice Pierce Butler and many members of Congress, as well as members of the Diplomatic Corps.

In his address to the university's 493 graduates, Cardinal Hayes declared that the world needs leadership of President Roosevelt's caliber today more than it ever did.

President Praised in Citation.

The Right Rev. Mgr. Edward A. Pace, vice rector of the university, presented the President for the degree with the citation, which said, in part:

"A man we hail—our foremost fellow citizen, and, as well, a citizen of the world: a man outstanding among men for upright living, faithfulness to God and country, breadth of thought and warmth of kindly feeling; for skill in the handling of public affairs and the settling of vital issues; a doer of great things whose very doing is his worthiest praise, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"Forgetful of self, happiest always in striving for the happiness of others, ever willing and eager to serve, he spread his friendship far and wide along the years. A pattern of fair and even-handed dealing, he gave to one and all according to their due. Office he did not seek. When it sought him, acceptance of it meant devotion to duty, in fulfillment of pledge and plan through deeds that furthered the commonweal.

"Therefore, in token of thankful acknowledgment to our leader, who, as befits the statesman, has taught us to look forward and go onward; to the master of the finer arts which shape and sway the souls of men, we, rejoicing in his growth through daily achievement, desire of your excellency, as chancellor of the university, that you offer him our tribute of honor and proclaim him doctor of laws. And we shall pray the King of kings and Lord of lords to have our President in His keeping, to enlighten him, to shield and prosper him in all his ways and undertakings, now and evermore."

Many Church Dignitaries Attend.

Other church dignitaries at the function were the Right Rev. John M. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore, and the Rev. Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, president of Georgetown University. Mgr. Ryan delivered the invocation. The benediction was pronounced by the cardinal.

In conferring the degrees in course, the traditional reading of candidates' names was omitted. The deans of the various schools merely proposed the names of the candidates listed in the program, and in a like manner the degrees were conferred by Archbishop Curley.

Timothy W. McCarthy delivered the valedictory.

W. L. MELLON FACES $2,000,000 TAX SUIT

Income Levy Evasion Is Laid to Nephew of Former Treasury Head.

Pittsburgh, June 14 (A.P.).—A suit charging William L. Mellon, president of the Gulf Oil Co. and nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, with evasion of $2,000,000 in income taxes, was filed in Federal Court today.

The action was brought by David A. Olson, former Senate Banking Committee investigator, through his counsel, Charles A. Russell, of Washington, D. C.

The suit alleges the nephew of the former Secretary of the Treasury omitted from income tax reports of the years 1926 to 1930, inclusive, 73,000 shares of Gulf stock, valued at $6,062,526, voted to him for services.

As filed by Robert Anderson, an Altoona (Pa.) attorney, acting for Olson and Russell, the suit asks recovery of double the tax, or $4,000,000, and a total of $10,000 in penalties.

Olson brought the suit as a taxpayer in behalf of the Government.

Olson further asserts in the suit that William L. Mellon deducted $750,000 from income tax returns, alleging the deduction was for interest paid Gulf Oil on obligations of the president. Olson charges these obligations were false notes.

In the suit, Andrew W. Mellon is mentioned as the owner, while he was Secretary of the Treasury, of 1,500,000 of the Gulf Co.'s 4,500,000 shares of stock. Olson says the public owns only 300,000 of the shares.

West Point Class Off to Ft. Monroe

The second class of cadets at the United States Military Academy left West Point yesterday and are scheduled to arrive at Fort Monroe, Va., this morning for three weeks' summer training with the Air Corps, the Coast Artillery and the Field Artillery.

The class will be divided into three detachments and rotated weekly at Langley Field for instruction with the Air Corps, at Fort Bragg, N. C., for instruction with the Field Artillery, and at Fort Monroe for instruction with the Coast Artillery.

The class will be reassembled at Langley Field at 8 a. m. July 7 and embark at Fort Monroe that date for return to West Point. The program is part of the annual summer training for the class which graduates the following spring.

Maj. Heath Takes Harriman Position

Maj. Perry K. Heath, who was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury during the Hoover administration, will take part in the management of the brokerage business of the Washington office of Harriman & Co., at 729 Fifteenth street northwest, it was learned yesterday.

Maj. Heath was in charge of the Government's building program when he was Assistant Secretary. His appointmetin follows the withdrawal of G. Bowie Chipman as a partner in the brokerage firm.

William G. Jones, partner in Harriman & Co., and Christopher W. Karb, another partner, are here in connection with the change in management. For the present Mr. Jones will remain here in charge of the office as resident partner. The firm is retaining many members of its present staff and will continue in the same offices.

Merger of Three Air Lines Likely

Los Angeles, June 14 (A.P.).—The Times tomorrow will say that General Motors likely will regroup the Nationwide network of air lines controlled by North American Aviation, Inc., into a single operating subsidiary.

"An intimation of this program was offered here a few days ago by Ernest R. Breech, the General Motors representative presiding over North American as president and chairman of the board," it said.

"Probably under some such name as General Air Transport, the pioneer lines now running under the names of Western Air Express, Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and Eastern Air Transport are expected soon to merge into the new Nationwide system."

Train Kills Child, as Mother Scrubs.

Gary, Ind., June 14 (A.P.).—Two-year-old Nancy Nelson toddled off while her mother was scrubbing today and walked onto the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks. She stepped beyond the rails just as a fast freight bore down upon her, and the locomotive's pilot step knocked the child down and killed her.

Interesting Case May Draw Darrow From 'Retirement'

"What will your next case be?"

"But you will accept another if it interests you?"

The defender of forlorn causes in the courtroom said: "I have not been to my office in five years but sometimes they come to my home for me."

"Only recently I was asked to defend the Iowa farmers charged with assaulting a judge. I almost accepted."

From Mr. Darrow's answers it was presumed that if and when a case which interested him turned up he would take it, although he admitted that the work of a trial was very tiring.

The country's most famous criminal lawyer and Mrs. Darrow are at the Willard Hotel. They are on a trip through the East visiting friends.

Mr. Darrow, who several months ago declared that his advice to young men in this age would be to jump out of a window, yesterday said that conditions "look as though they will be a little better."

He visited the President yesterday, but declared that his sojourn in Washington was only a pleasure stopover. He and Mrs. Darrow will be here two days.

RAIL HEADS TO ASK WAGES BE SLASHED

Executives Seek to Add 12.5 Per Cent to Cuts Already in Force.

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Railway executives decided today to make immediate application for a 12½ per cent wage reduction.

This cut will be in addition to the present 10 per cent voluntary wage "deduction," and means that the carriers are seeking a 22½ per cent reduction in the basic rate of pay.

Formal notices to this effect were to go out tonight, it was made known in transportation circles here. All classes of contract labor will be included.

The decision of railway managements to move for lower wage costs bring to a head a situation which has been brewing for the past two years.

The Association of Railway Executives—one of the key organizations of the industry, which includes the presidents of all the roads in the country—will meet tomorrow in Chicago to review the entire wage problem. Executives of the association consider the meeting of paramount importance.

That railway labor will put up a vigorous fight was indicated by the prompt announcement of plans of the labor leaders to meet in Chicago on Friday presumably to discuss measures to meet the carries' action. A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association and head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has already issued a call for the meeting.

Additional evidence of labor's attitude was contained in a statement issued from Cleveland by David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Any further wage reductions "can not be justified," said Robertson, who added that his men would "decline to grant" further decreases.

Allied Chemical's Head Sees Foreign Rule Move

20 Per Cent Stock Holdings by Belgian Concern Seen by Weber in Rap at Minority Shareholders' Maneuvers, Who Deny Statement.

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Breaking his established rule of silence, Orlando F. Weber, head of the Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation, today accused minority stockholders, who are opposing his methods of management, of seeking to bring the company under foreign domination.

The stockholders against whom Mr. Weber directed his criticism are those who recently formed a committee for avowed purpose of replacing certain members of the board and obtaining fuller publicity on the company's financial affairs.

While the New York Stock Exchange and the company have for several months been in conflict on the form of Allied's financial statements, Mr. Weber declared the committee's plan had nothing to do with the company's relations with the exchange.

The stockholders' committee, asserted Mr. Weber, was "attempting to inflict foreign domination upon the company and the American chemical industry."

He urged stockholders "in their own and the public interest to place themselves squarely on record behind the present management to prevent such domination, to maintain the American chemical market for American labor and American capital and to deter the organized and ruthless attacks of foreign competitors upon a company and industry so vital to American peace and wartime existence."

He declared the principal Allied holdings represented by the committee was a 20 per cent stock interest owned by Solvay & Cie, of Belgium, "one of the most powerful chemical companies in the world."

He charged that most of this stock is registered in the name of Solvay American Investment Corporation, a subsidiary of Solvay & Cie, and in the names of private bankers in escrow and was used as collateral and otherwise to obtain $40,000,000 largely for the purpose of building European chemical plants which compete with Allied in the markets of the world.

A few weeks ago the stock exchange announced that the company's securities would be stricken from the list if the company failed to comply with the exchange's demand for more informative statements by August 28, next.

Rogers S. Lamont, secretary of the stockholder's committee, later issued a counter-statement charging that "Mr. Weber undertakes to draw a red herring across the real trail."

"The stockholders' committee," the Lamont statement added, "is not attempting to obtain control of the Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation for any interest. The stockholders' committee will make a complete reply to Mr. Weber. Meanwhile, attention should be concentrated upon the actual purposes of the committee, as set forth in its letter of June 2, to the stockholders of the company, as follows:

"'The committee does not propose the election of an entire new board of directors, or even a majority of the board, as the committee always believes that the election of three or four new directors will produce a board representative of the stockholders. Nor does the committee propose the removal of the president.'"

The letter referred to further stated it was believed the change in directors would result in a settlement of the controversy with the stock exchange and prevent the company's stock from being stricken from the list.

COUNTESS AND MAN INDICTED IN THEFTS

Grace DeBenque and Gormley Unable to Raise Total of $40,000 Bond.

Quickly completing its investigation of charges preferred against the Countess Grace DeBenque and George A. Gormley, the District grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging each with grand larceny. The indictment is in three counts.

The first count alleges that the two stole $4,074 from Miss Louise Maret, coproprietor of a fashionable school in Kalorama road, October 8, 1931. The second relates to the alleged larceny of $1,000 on the same date, and the last count charges them with having obtained $470 the following day, making a total of $5,544.

The indictment alleges that Miss Maret, who is 80 years old, was induced to turn the money over to Gormley after she had been led to believe she was in danger of arrest on a statutory charge. Miss Maret, in a statement made to Assistant United States Attorney William A. Gallagher, said that Gormley took her for an automobile ride on the Brookville pike and drew up to a stop.

At that moment, she said, Gormley switched off the automobile's lights, and a man, ostensibly a policeman, stepped up to the car with a flashlight. This man, according to Miss Maret, said that he would have to prefer charges against them and it was to avert the possibility of arrest, she said, that she gave Gormley the money, which he was to turn over to the policeman.

Both Gormley and the countess are in jail, they having been unable to raise bond set for their release. Gormley is being held for $25,000 and the woman is being held for $15,000. They will be arraigned in District Supreme Court tomorrow.

Text of Roosevelt's Message on Relief

The emergency relief act is an expression of the Federal Government's determination to cooperate with the States and local communities with regard to financing emergency relief work. It means just that. It is essential that the States and local units of government do their fair share. They must not expect the Federal Government to finance more than a reasonable proportion of the total.

It should be borne in mind by the State authorities and by the 5,000 local relief committees now functioning throughout the land that there are 4,000,000 families in need of the necessities of life.

Obviously the Federal relief administrator should put as much responsibility as possible on the State administration. This means a competent set-up in each State, preferably a commission of five or six well-known citizens, who will not only administer the relief in a businesslike way but entirely apart from partisan politics. The only way relief officials can be assured that people are getting relief who need relief is to have competent administration.

It is essential that there be effective coordination of relief and public works in all communities. While an important factor in setting up a public works program is speed, there is no intention of using the public works funds simply to build a lot of useless projects disguised as relief.

It is the purpose to encourage real public works. One function of public works in an emergency is to provide a bridge by which people can pass from relief status to normal self-support.

The use of public works as a means of rational redistribution of population from congested centers to more wholesome surroundings where people can have a chance to lead normal life will be encouraged.

It is a primary purpose of my administration to cooperate with the States and with industry to secure work opportunities for as many of the unemployed as possible, by which they will find employment through natural channels. But until those jobs are available the Federal Government, the States and every local community must provide relief for every genuinely needy unemployed person in America.

I know that I can count on your full and complete cooperation with the Federal emergency relief administrator, and I can assure you on his behalf of a sympathetic understanding of your problems and decisive action when that is necessary.

FORMING OF STATES RELIEF CORPS URGED

President Demands Business Methods, Politics-Free, In Distribution.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday called for the creation of a relief organization in each State to administer aid to the needy "in a businesslike way but entirely apart from partisan politics."

In a talk to representatives of the 48 States gathered in session here, the President said it was essential that the States and local units of government do their fair share toward financing emergency relief work.

Only a little earlier, his emergency relief director, Harry L. Hopkins, had told the 10 governors and other State representatives present of his own views, and they were in close accord with those of the Chief Executive.

The President emphasized that there was no intention of using the public works fund "simply to build a lot of useless projects disguised as relief."

Function of Public Works.

"One function of public works in an emergency is to provide a bridge by which people can pass from relief status to normal employment," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"Partisan politics must play no part in the carrying out of this work."

In his outline of the administration's relief plans, Hopkins told representatives of the States that they must take a greater hand toward caring for their own needy than they have in the past.

Otherwise, unless some lessening of demands occurs, Hopkins said the Federal fund for matching State expenditures will not last until January 1.

Ten governors and representatives of the other States and Puerto Rico heard his talk on the relief situation.

Private relief agencies are not to get any of the Federal funds, Hopkins said.

Exhaustion by January 1.

"This policy," he added "obviously must be interpreted on a realistic basis in various parts of the United States. Hundreds of private agencies scattered throughout the land have freely and generously offered their services in the administration of public funds. It would be a serious handicap to relief work if the abilities and interests of these individuals were lost.

"But I would ask for their cooperation to the extent that these responsible individuals be made public officials working under the control of public authority, serving in hundreds of cases without pay, but if paid, paid in the same manner as any public servant."

In answering a question by Gov. T. W. Green of Rhode Island, Hopkins said the $250,000,000 fund to be allocated on the basis of $1 of Federal funds for $3 of State would last only until January 1.

"It now looks," he said, "as though disbursements on the basis of the first quarter of the year will be $60,000,000. The same or a larger sum will be made available shortly after June 1 for the second quarter. If this keeps up, the fund will be gone January 1."

Relief 'Cans' and 'Can'ts'

Federal Funds Denied for Material on Work Projects; Matching of Private Donations Illegal; Medical Care Provided at Home.

(Associated Press.)

Here are some of the "cans" and "can'ts" which will apply in the operation of the new $500,000,000 emergency relief program as brought out in conferences yesterday between governors and State relief officials and Harry L. Hopkins, Federal administrator:

Any Federal funds given States may be included in the total for the next allocation by matching of $1 in Federal money with $3 spent by the States.

Relief can be given in cash.

Doctors' care and medicine may be supplied at home but hospital treatment will not be given.

In the opinion of the administrator, municipalities can not put up bonds and get money on them.

Work relief may be paid for in cash or in kind.

Federal funds will not go toward paying for materials used in work projects.

Matching of private funds is considered illegal.

Money may be given out of the $250,000,000 outright grants or discretionary fund if a State is unable match the Federal contribution fully.

The State organizations must be chiefly responsible for determining local relief needs and administration.

The National administration will pass on State organization salaries and the like, with the State officials to control such local expenses.

REAL ESTATE SALES AD VALUE STRESSED

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, Ill., June 14.—What will probably be the greatest realtors' convention ever held formally opened today at the Stevens Hotel in Chicago with William C. Miller, of Washington, D. C., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, presiding.

The realtors were welcomed to Chicago by Edward J. Kelly, mayor of Chicago; Rufus C. Dawes, President of A Century of Progress, and Henry G. Zander, president of the Chicago Real Estate Board. Addresses followed by Bernard F. Dickman, mayor of St. Louis; Philip A. Beacon, president of the Dime Savings Bank and Real Estate Financing of Brooklyn, New York, and J. Soule Warterfield, chairman of the National Conference on the Renewal of Home Building, of Chicago.

Harry J. Stevens, president of the Real Estate Board of New Jersey, speaking before the brokers division of the association, emphasized the advertising, consistent, intelligent advertising, giving the prospective buyer or tenant of real estate the facts he needs to pick out his quarters in accordance with his present economic situation," is the core of successful real estate selling methods.

At the meeting of the brokers division, Clifford Bangs, of Washington, D. C., chairman of that division, welcomed the delegates. Washington realtors attending the convention are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bangs, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Walker, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Fristoe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rush, Waverly Taylor, Claude Livingston, John L. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cafritz, Mr. and Mrs. Carence Donohoe, and Sam Hyman.

FIVE TIRE COMPANIES RAISE PAY OF 35,000

Four Akron Concerns Boost Salaries 10 Per Cent and Another 5.

Akron, Ohio, June 14 (A.P.).—Wages went up today for thousands who earn their living in the tire and rubber industry.

Four large companies announced 10 per cent increases effective tomorrow or Friday, and a fifth disclosed it had already given its workers a 5 per cent boost.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. estimated the number of its employed affected at 20,000. The others would not say how many workmen would be the gainers, but an estimate by a reliable authority set the total aside from Goodyear at approximately 15,000.

Besides Goodyear, those announcing 10 per cent increases were the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the General Tire & Rubber Co., and the Mohawk Rubber Co. General's rise will be effective tomorrow; the others Friday.

The Seiberling Rubber Co. announced it had made its pay checks 5 per cent greater on June 5, retroactive to June 1.

The Goodyear increase was its first general raise in several years, except for the previous restoration of a temporary cut during the national banking holiday. General Tires said its increase raised its wage level back to the pre-January scale.

While none of the companies indicated how far such increases would go toward making up for the total of reductions made during the past several years, it was generally understood here that the increase was not a full restoration of all previous cuts.

Kaschagen Is Honored At Carnegie Exercises

Leo Kaschagen 3d, of Charleston, W. Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kaschagen, of this city, was among those who received a degree of master of science at the commencement exercises at Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Pa., this week.

Mr. Kaschagen was also awarded a fellowship leading to a doctor of science degree. He was an honor graduate of Central High School in 1926.

Man, Amuck, Kills Two and Himself

Andalusia, Ala., June 14 (A.P.).—Running amuck with a pistol, Gus Harrelson, aged 55, of River Falls, today shot and killed two men, wounded a third perhaps fatally, and then ended his own life by drinking poison.

The dead, in addition to Harrelson, are Jim Tollison, 60, a planter, and Clint Money, 30. John Hassel was dangerously wounded when he went to the assistance of W. R. Wright, owner of a commissary where the shooting occurred.

Covington County officers said they were told that Harrelson was enraged over his arrest yesterday on a charge of grand larceny.

Repeal Is Assailed At Church Parley

Denton, Md., June 14 (A.P.).—In the opening sermon of the Maryland annual conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, the Rev. W. L. Hoffman, of Crisfield, Md., asserted that repeal of the eighteenth amendment would be "the greatest blot on the history of our country. Let us enter into the new deal with our President," he said, "provided it is in accordance with a square deal to our God."

A memorial service was held during the morning for two ministers who died during the year. They were the Rev. H. W. D. Johnson, of Greenwood, Del., and the Rev. L. A. Bennett, of Baltimore.

The conference, which will remain in session until Monday, is comprised of churches in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Divorce Courts in Reno On New 1-Day Schedule

Reno, Nev., June 14 (A.P.).—To meet competition of other Nevada centers, the Reno divorce mill went back on a one-day schedule today.

Hereafter complaints filed in the morning will be heard in the afternoon, eliminating necessity of waiting an extra day for a decree. Such procedure is followed in other counties hereabouts with the result that many celebrities have gone elsewhere for divorces.

Twin Is Sentenced In West Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 14.—After he had been enabled to evade processes of criminal law through having his twin brother mistaken for him, Trace R. Ice, 25, Bingamon Creek farmer, drew a 2-year penitentiary sentence today in criminal court here.

Ice confessed to the forgery of his father's name to checks totaling $195. Previously he was charged with passing a forged check on a store and officers arrested his twin brother, who closely resembles him, and the brother had some difficulty in proving himself innocent.

Leniency was recommended because Ice has tuberculosis, which, it was declared, made the prosperous young man despondent and started him off on a forging "spree," which landed him in jail.

Strickler Is Reelected Mayor in Luray Voting

Luray, Va., June 14.—In a hotly contested election here yesterday, H. M. Strickler was reelected mayor by 68 majority over J. Everett Will. The contest revolved around a municipal owned light and power company espoused by Mayor Strickler, and the renewal of a franchise for light and power to be furnished by the Page Power Company, championed by Will.

McDivani Interests Put in Receivership

Los Angeles, June 14 (A.P.).—A receiver was appointed by the Superior Court today to take over the business interests of the Princes David and Serge M'Divani, both of whom became involved within the past week in court actions growing out of marital troubles.

The receiver, D. A. Russell, was appointed after the wives of the two men, Mae Murray, film actress, who has sued Prince David for divorce, and Mary McCormic, opera singer, who has brought a separate maintenance action against Prince Serge, joined in submitting affidavits.

Miss Murray charged that although her husband collected more than $500 a month from his interests in three oil companies he failed to support her. She alleged that she "put up the money" to purchase the interests for him, amounting to a one-third share in the three firms.

Miss McCormic stated she advanced money for Prince Serge's business ventures and that his income totaled more than $1,000 a month from his interests in the same companies and a fourth oil organization.

George Washington Hatchet Tale 'Won' City Cherry Trees

Mrs. Taft Reveals How Story Relieved Tense Situation at Tokyo After First Sapling Gift Was Destroyed as Infected.

(Associated Press.)

The story of George Washington and the hatchet may be a myth, but it helped him win for the City of Washington its now famous cherry trees.

Mrs. William Haword Taft, who first conceived the idea of the Japanese cherry trees when she was in the White House, yesterday told how the hatchet story helped to save the day when the fate of the project hung in the balance.

"I have written a series of letters back and forth with the wife of Yukio Ozaki, the Tokyo mayor, really responsible for the gift, to establish the exact truth about the Japanese cherry trees," said Mrs. Taft.

With the letters in her lap, she went over the familiar story—Ozaki heard of her wish for the trees, called a council, secured a unanimous vote that the City of Tokyo should present 3,000 trees as a memorial of friendship between Japan and America to the City of Washington.

Japan was scoured for the finest specimens. The trees were shipped. On their arrival they were founud to be infected, and were destroyed on recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture.

"Read what my friend, Yei Theodora Ozaki, wrote about it," invited Mrs. Taft. The letter read:

"When the Secretary of the United States Embassy went to the City Hall and informed my husband of the unforeseen and unfortunate end of the cherry trees, the young man looked very uneasy and grave at having to announce such an untimely

"My husband smiled and said, 'Oh, I believe your first President set the example of destroying cherry trees, didn't he?'"

That joke not only brought a laugh that broke the tension, but also started Ozaki to working with right good will for another vote for 3,000 cherry trees. This time, his wife recorded, there were "some obstructionists," but eventually 3,000 young saplings which he had ordered reared in disinfected soil were sent to Washington.

HOUSE COMMITTEE HALTS D. C. INQUIRY

Meanwhile Senate Group Continues With Eye to Reorganization.

While the Senate District Committee pushed forward with its investigation of District affairs, with an eye to reorganization of the local government, the special House District subcommittee investigating local affairs yesterday definitely called off its inquiry for the summer.

Representative Vincent L. Palmisano, (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the subcommittee, said the investigation could not be prosecuted without funds, and the House had failed to provide the necessary appropriations.

A resolution authorizing appropriation of $2,500, and empowering the subcommittee to subpoena witnesses and records, is now pending on the House calendar, but is not expected to be reached before adjournment.

The special Senate District subcommittee inquiring into the District government with a view to reorganization has designated Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, and William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, to gather data.

Both local officials are hard at work on the preliminary inquiry. They will report their findings to the subcommittee headed by Senator William H. King, (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee.

Judge Dismisses Brew Test Case

Biloxi, Miss., June 14 (A.P.)—Judge Edwin R. Holmes in Federal District Court here today dismissed the beer test case that Federal Prohibition agents brought against R. A. McCarthy, Macon, Ga., bottler, and two Negroes, Roland Tuff and Ralph Beale.

Their appearance in court followed seizure of a truck bearing 60 cases of 3.2 per cent beer which McCarthy explained he was transporting from New Orleans to Columbia, S. C.

The district attorney announced before the court that the Government was unable to offer sufficient proof against the defendants, who claimed that the beer was not intoxicating and was not designed for use in Mississippi in which beer is still illegal. Judge Holmes dismissed the case with leave to reinstate, declaring that the State's attitude was inconsistent and hazy on the subject.

O'Brien's Tax Plan Given Committee

New York, June 14 (A.P.)—In a surprise meeting, the board of estimate today referred Mayor John P. O'Brien's $30,000,000 tax-raising program to a committee of five for further study.

The program, which caused a storm of protest and had been regarded by some persons close to Tammany Hall as shelved, will be studied by a committee composed of the borough presidents of Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx and the city comptroller and corporation counsel.

Mr. O'Brien's plan, contemplating city taxes on automobiles and tolls on the Harlem River and East River Bridges, was to have been considered in executive session. Instead the board met publicly, named the committee and instructed it to report to the local laws committee.

Pope Will Participate In Corpus Christi Fete

Vatican City, June 14 (A.P.)—Pope Pius will turn the pages of Vatican history back 63 years tomorrow afternoon when he participates in an enormous corpus domini or Corpus Christi procession in St. Peter's square.

This custom, annually observed by the Popes for centuries, was abandoned after the fall of Rome in 1870.

Woll Declares Nations Seek Gifts From U. S.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 14 (A.P.)—Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, declared tonight that the nations at the World Economic Conference "are looking forward to what the United States is willing to give or barter away" and hope "that they will be able to obtain some of the gifts for their people at the expense of the American people."

He discussed labor's view of the conference in an address at the third annual Rutgers Labor Institute, at Rutgers University.

OLD FURLOUGH STAYS IF FISCAL BILL LOSES

sarily be used. Resolutions to block one or more of the orders are expected to be called up in the Senate today. They have little chance of success.

The President told newspapermen yesterday he is not in sympathy with provisions of the Neely bill passed by the Senate Tuesday, giving him power to appoint, subject to Senate confirmation, some 3,800 Federal workers earning more than $5,000. The bill had been regarded as a bid for more patronage.

Statement by Mitchell.

As temporary transfers of workers scheduled for furlough got under way yesterday, in line with the Council of Personnel Administration's plan for saving jobs of competent Federal employes, President Harry B. Mitchell yesterday issued the following statement:

"A misunderstanding has arisen regarding the relation of transfers from one department to another and certification from reemployment registers when the Civil Service Commission is called upon to make certifications for filling vacancies.

"The fact is that those whose names are on the reemployment registers are certified at once. The implication that reemployment people are not considered if people for transfer are available is not correct. Every announcement of vacancies that has been sent to the departments has carried the following statement:

"These positions are to be filled if possible, in accordance with the plan of the Council of Personnel Administration, by transfer of employes now in the service or through the reemployment registers.'"

Skipper and Experts Call Macon's 2-Day Test Success

Capt. Dresel and Engineer Deny Report Huge Navy Airship Had Trouble With Rudder on Chicago Trip.

Akron, Ohio, June 14 (A.P.)—Returning from her fourth and longest trial cruise, a jaunt over the Midwest and lower lakes region which lasted nearly 46 hours, the huge airship Macon was slipped into her dock at dusk tonight.

The cruise and the tests made during it were pronounced "successful" and "satisfactory" by her commander, Capt. Alger H. Dresel; by Commander S. M. Kraus, of the Navy board of inspection and survery, and by Dr. Karl Arnstein, chief engineer of the builders, the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation.

Asked concerning a wireless message reported to have been received late yesterday by a ground station at Frankfort, Mich., to the effect that one of the ship's rudders was disabled, Capt. Dresel said "the report was in error."

Dr. Arnstein declared, "We don't know anything about it. There was no trouble aboard throughout the flight."

During the cruise, Dr. Arnstein said, the "program of tests was carried out with precision and remarkable success. Full power runs, full consumption and water recovery tests gave results beyond expectations."

"The only thing might have been improved upon," he added with a smile, "was the cigar lighter. It failed to work."

Capt. Dresel, as usual, made only a terse comment on the flight. "It was a very successful and satisfactory 48-hour test flight," he said.

Commander Kraus said, "All of the evolutions and tests planned for the flight have been completed. The flight was both interesting and satisfactory."

SENATE REJECTS COMPROMISE ON VETERANS COMPENSATION

McNary Sees Acceptance.

McNary believed the Republicans, who united last night in opposing the President, would accept the compromise then rather than precipitate a prolonged wrangle.

Under plans the House will accept the Senate amendment promptly this morning and send the $635,000,000 independent offices appropriation bill to a certain veto.

Speaker Rainey indicated after the recess that the veto message would be ready for transmission to Capitol Hill at noon.

The veto doubtless will be sustained by a comfortable margin in both Houses.

To provide operating funds for some 40 Federal establishments whose 1934 appropriations are tied up in the bill, both Houses then will hasten passage of a brief joint resolution continuing the 1933 appropriations for a year.

Democrats Are Confident.

Under the provisions of the March economy act, President Roosevelt will have broad authority to curtail these 1933 appropriations by Executive order. By this route, the veteran reduction now in operation will be continued, save for such relaxations as the President may elect to authorize through administrative regulations.

If this program is followed through without an upset, final adjournment of the special session should be achieved by early evening. This would permit President Roosevelt to carry out his original vacation plans, which call for his departure from Washington about 8 p. m. tonight.

Republican threats again to attempt new bounties to the veterans by attaching the Cutting-Steiwer amendment to the emergency joint resolution continuing the independent offices appropriations were sounded on the Senate floor in yesterday's debate. Democratic leaders indicated last night, however, they could quickly overturn this obstructionist maneuver after the President's veto message.

Parliamentary Cross-Fire

With acrid debate on the British debt settlement interspersed, the hot parliamentary cross-fire regarding veterans payments touched thrilling heights of heart-rending patriotic bombast yesterday.

Immediately preceding the final vote on the Cutting-Steiwer largess, however, Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, brought the discussion back to earth with the challenge—

"While we are discharging our debt to the battle-scarred veterans, let us also discharge our debt to the battle-scarred taxpayers."

Earlier, Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, had urged his colleagues to ignore the "lashing of the White House whip" and vote according to conscience. He, for one, insisted the relaxing amendment would be offered today to the appropriation bill.

In Feverish Indignation.

Senator Glass rose in feverish indignation against Mr. Reed's suggestion that those who voted to sustain the President could do so only in response to White House pressure.

"I intend to vote against the Cutting-Steiwer amendment," he said. "I have no doubt on earth that particular cases of great hardship may be presented pathetically, as one a while ago was presented by the senator from California (Mr. Johnson), but that does not constitute a system. I am going to vote against the proposed amendment because I feel that no man who will not fight for his own country is worth living in the country. When he comes out of the combat without wounds, without disability, he has no right to raid the Federal Treasury perpetually because he was called into the contest.

"Called in under draft, too, when it was a question of being shot here or shot at abroad."

Voted Against Bonus.

"I voted against the bonus, and I never cast a vote here of which I was prouder, and never expect to. I had two boys in the front-line trenches, one of them being nearly killed. I had a nephew there, who was gassed so badly that he will never recover. He was decorated by his country for extraordinary heroism."

"I had a sister in a hospital in France and two daughters in the hospitals here to relieve trained nurses.

"I would not want ever to speak to one of them if they would join in the raid upon the Federal Treasury made by people who have never suffered any disability and thousands of them who got better treatment, better clothing, better food, better discipline, the only discipline they had ever gotten in their lives, after they went into the service.

"I would empty the Federal Treasury for any man who was wounded in the war, or for those dependent upon a man who was killed in the war, but I have not any respect for any man, whether he be a millionaire or a pauper, who, drafted into the service of his country to defend its honor and its security, would take a dollar for his services from the Treasury. It is commercialising patriotism, a word we roll under our tongues, and I am not one to condone that. Therefore I want it distinctly understood that when I vote against the Steiwer-Cutting amendment, I am not doing it under lash, and I am not afraid of the votes at home because I do it."

Will Take Responsibility.

In attacking the President's debt settlement arrangement Senator Reed said that the $60,000,000 discount to Great Britain would more than cover the cost of the added veteran benefits sought in the amendments in dispute.

Senator Bennet Clark, of Missouri, who left the veteran bloc to support the President on the final roll call, said the necessary $30,000,000 well might be taken from the civilian conservation camp funds and distributed to the veterans.

In informing the Senate of a certain veto awaiting the Cutting-Steiwer amendment, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, added unequivocally, "The President is perfectly willing to take the responsibility."

Most Ancient Prerogative.

As the matter thus works out—assuming there will be no further demolition of the administration program today—the veteran row shows up well for all concerned. The President's authority under the March economy bill remains unimpaired; the senators and members of the House may now return to the States with fine records of an heroic fight for more veteran boodle, and both the Senate and the White House have carried the day on an issue which admitted of no politically sound compromise.

Meanwhile, the Senate has reaffirmed one of its most ancient and respected prerogatives, the right to turn everything topsy-turvy on the President in the last days of a congressional session.

Late last night the veto message was reported in final draft at the White House.

Milk Prices Rise On Kansas Farms

Kansas City, Kan., June 14 (A.P.)—An increase of 20 per cent in the price producers are receiving for milk was announced today by distributing dairies here, who expressed hope of thus accomplishing the intent of the new Federal farm law in advance of its administration.

Fred C. Allvine, president of one dairy, said the increase will mean thousands of dollars daily in revenue to 2,500 milk producers in Tyndotte, Leavenworth and Johnson counties.

Many dairies announced a new retail price of 8 cents a quart for milk, which hitherto has been retailing from 5 to 6 cents a quart.

JOINT U. S.-ENGLISH RECOVERY PLAN SEEN

The fight between France and the United States over chairmanship of the monetary committee lessened somewhat tonight, when the French waived their claims to the post at a meeting of the plenary's bureau or steering committee.

However, the French remained opposed to the naming of James M. Cox, or any other American, as chairman on the monetary committee. They had no objections to an American being named on the Economic Commission, or second on the monetary committee, such as reported, but feel a nation on the gold standard or neutral in that question should head the monetary group.

Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, who replaced Premier Edouard Daladier as head of the French delegation, told the United Press that France is not seeking the monetary committee chairmanship now, but significantly added she would not refuse, if offered it.

M. Bonnet, after a day of talks with Cox and Hull, added he felt stabilization of the pound and dollar—primary point on the French program here—could be reached "within a few days," after which the "conference can get down to serious business."

ALLEY BETTERMENT BILL ACTION HELD UP

Poll Indicates House Won't Pass Plan if Congress Quits This Week.

The fate of the Capper alley bill, to improve and renovate Washington's inhabited alleys, was definitely sealed yesterday when a poll of the House District Committee indicated sentiment adverse to immediate action.

The bill passed the Senate last week and required only House action to become law. It appropriated $500,000 in unexpended balances to commence the rehabilitation of inhabited alleys, long a center of attack as potentional disease and crime centers.

The informal poll of the House District Committee was conducted yesterday to determine whether the bill would be favorably reported before adjournment.

Earlier yesterday, Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride conferred with Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), Maryland, of the House District Committee, urging enactment of the measure. Mr. Palmisano told the corporation counsel a meeting of the committee might be held to vote out the measure if Congress does not adjourn this week.

Indictment Is Returned In Marital Blackmail

The District grand jury yesterday indicted James S. Howell, alias "Slusher" Howell, for alleged blackmail.

The accusation against Howell is that he extorted various sums of money from an employe of the telephone company whose wife, he said, had a husband at the time she married the telephone company employe. The husband is said to have turned over large sums of money to Howell to keep him from making public the alleged marital status of the wife.

You don't have to tell me a thing about "Toasting"

Now, don't misunderstand me. I probably don't know just how the "Toasting" process works... but I certainly know enough about the good it does. To me my cigarette is personal, so when I light a Lucky and taste its fine, pure tobacco fragrance... when I smoke Luckies in any number and still find them cool and mild... do I have to know how "Toasting" works? Frankly, I don't care much... just so long as I can keep on saying—and mean it—"Luckies Please!"

The RIGGS NATIONAL BANK

Announces

THE OPENING OF ITS CHEVY CHASE BRANCH

Having acquired from Mr. John C. Walker, Conservator of the Chevy Chase Savings Bank, with the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency and the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, certain assets of the Chevy Chase Savings Bank, we are now in position to offer to the people of this community a complete banking service.

As a result of our action, there is now available to the depositors of the former institution 60% of the amount standing to their credit —a sum quite in excess of the amount which would have been available at this time in the ordinary course of liquidation.

We extend a most cordial invitation to the depositors of the Chevy Chase Savings Bank and to the residents and merchants of this community to open a relationship with us, and assure them not only an enlarged service, but every possible consideration consistent with sound banking principles.

AN ADDITIONAL LINK IN OUR COMMUNITY-WIDE SERVICE

The opening of this new branch marks a further milestone in the progress of the Riggs National Bank, which for nearly a century has extended its strength and service in the upbuilding of the Nation's Capital.

Today, in addition to the main office, we have seven modernly equipped and conveniently located branches, offering:

COMPLETE BANKING and TRUST SERVICE

Banking Department

This bank solicits the accounts of individuals, firms and corporations and offers every courtesy and accommodation consistent with sound banking principles.

Savings Department

Our conveniently located branches offer exceptional advantages for the opening of savings accounts, which may be opened by a deposit of one dollar or more. 3% interest is paid on Savings or Thrift accounts.

Trust Department

This department acts as Executor and Trustee under Wills; as Administrator of Estates; as Trustee under Voluntary Trusts; as Guardian of the Property of Minors; as Committee of the Property of Incompetents; as Trustee under Mortgages and Deeds of Trust securing Bonds; as Transfer Agent and Registrar for Corporations.

Foreign Exchange Department

Our Foreign Exchange Department will be found of great convenience to those contemplating foreign travel. Letters of Credit, Travelers' Cheques and Foreign Drafts issued; Foreign Exchange bought and sold.

Credit Department

This department furnishes information concerning local or out-of-town firms, corporations, and individuals; also compiles statistics.

Safe Deposit Department

Safe Deposit Boxes may be rented for a nominal charge at our Main Office and the following branches: Farmers & Mechanics, Friendship, Dupont Circle, Park Road, Northwest and Chevy Chase; with facilities for silver storage at the Park Road and Chevy Chase Branches.

DEBT DISCUSSION POSTPONED.

After fruitless efforts to obtain postponement of the June 15 war debt installment, the British government has made a payment of $10,000,000 "as an acknowledgment of the debt pending a final settlement." It requests the President to designate the time and place at which formal negotiations for ultimate settlement may be begun.

In his reply through the Acting Secretary of State the President tacitly accepts the partial payment and suggests that the British government make its representations concerning the debt as soon as convenient in Washington. Any results of such a discussion can be submitted to Congress for its information or consideration.

A public statement by President Roosevelt makes clear to the people that the payment of $10,000,000 does not prejudice the freedom of either government in any subsequent discussion of the debt question. This statement was cited by Chancellor Chamberlain in Parliament yesterday as providing a satisfactory temporary arrangement pending conclusive debt negotiations.

The complicated nature of the war debt problem, involving as it does both economic and political factors, makes it extremely difficult for the leaders of either debtor or creditor governments to make any concessions which are not approved by popular sentiment in their respective countries. The debt question is a matter of domestic politics on both sides of the ocean. Debtor governments must consult public opinion, just as the President consults public opinion in this country. In addition, Mr. Roosevelt reminds the British government that it is not within his power to alter the schedule of debt payments contained in the existing agreement.

Bearing in mind the opposing views of the debtor and creditor peoples, it appears that the temporary arrangement paving the way to a conclusive settlement is the best that could be made at this time. Great Britain honorably acknowledges the debt, and the United States, in accepting a partial installment instead of the fixed amount, does not waive or alter the present agreement. The question therefore goes over for the time being, to be taken up during the summer or autumn in Washington.

By temporarily postponing discussion of a final settlement, there appears to be no reason now why the vexed debt question should interfere with the program of the London conference. That program was formulated on the understanding that war debts should not be discussed by the London delegates. The conference can now take up the economic questions on its agenda.

LOCAL FLOOD CONDITIONS.

Complaint is made by residents in the neighborhood of Fifth and Ingraham streets northwest against the long delay in installation of an adequate plant for disposing of flood waters. The heavy storm of September 5 last flooded cellars and basements in that section, and aroused vigorous protests against the failure to provide relief, which had been demanded for more than six years. Again, on June 7 of this year, another violent rainstorm backed up the waters, leaving a wake of mud and unhealthful sewage.

Study of a plan to prevent floods in that neighborhood has been made for a year, and has recently been completed. No estimate for an appropriation for the work was made, however, at the extra session of Congress, and the project must now lay over until next winter or longer. It is roughly estimated that the cost of the work will be about $500,000, a sum which may be difficult to obtain while Congress is in a mood of pare down provision for necessities in the District. Doubtless citizens' associations and municipal organizations will take note of this situation and make an earnest demand for early installation of the flood prevention project.

RAIDING CIVIL SERVICE.

The Senate's last-minute raid on the civil service is very distressing. Only a selfish demand for more political jobs can explain the attempt to lift all positions paying more than $5,000 per year out of civil service regulations.

As this measure was reported out of the judiciary committee it would have required presidential appointment and confirmation by the Senate for all positions paying more than $3,500. About 10,000 employes, most of them administrative officials, scientists, technicians or experts in their particular fields, would thus have become the prey of politics. In this form the bill was so palpably absurd and unjust that even the patronage-hungry Senate amended it so that only jobs paying more than $5,000 would be affected. The number of employes who would be subjected to replacement by political job seekers would be reduced to about 4,000 under this arrangement, but the unjust principle of skimming the cream from the Civil Service for distribution as the spoils of politics would still prevail.

Congress has made rapid strides back toward the spoils system since the extra session began. Virtually all of the agencies created under the recovery program are exempt from civil service rules. While the Government is dismissing thousands of competent workers, political job hunters are finding places on the basis of favoritism rather than merit. It is a pity that arrangements were not made to transfer competent civil service employes from bureaus that are being abolished to new agencies which are being set up. Some efforts are being made along this line, but there is no obligation on the part of the new agencies to use men and women with civil service ratings.

A blow at the merit system is invariably reflected in the efficiency of the Government. The President already has such broad appointive powers that he must rely upon subordinates for discretion in a majority of cases. The Senate gives attention only to the more important positions in dealing with confirmations. It would be a regrettable step backward to throw responsibility for routine appointments back upon the President and the Senate aside from the injustice such a course would involve. President Roosevelt is known to be opposed to breaking down the merit system. If patronage-hungry congressmen lose their heads, as the Senate did, the President may stop this raid on the civil service with a veto.

NAZI TACTICS IN AUSTRIA.

The campaign of terrorism in Austria launched by German Nazis has reached a stage that threatens to disrupt relations between the two nations. Continued bombings have been followed by the arrest of leaders of the National Socialists who are not protected by immunity as members of the Senate or the Vienna Diet. Chancellor Dollfuss, who flew to London to attend the economic conference, returned at once by plane to Vienna.

The situation had become so acute, however, that before leaving London Dr. Dollfuss approached the representatives of England, France and Italy, requesting their intervention with the German government in an effort to stop the violence in Austria which, he says, is directed by Hitlerites in Germany. Assaults against Vienna citizens and property became so numerous that protection of the city was taken from the hands of the Socialist mayor and transferred to federal police.

The Austrian government had considered the advisability of ordering dissolution of the National Socialist party throughout the nation, but this was suspended pending the return of the chancellor. However, all Hitlerite headquarters have been closed. There is growing tension as a German is arrested in Vienna for whom immunity is claimed as a recently appointed press attache of the legation. Austria held that his appointment had not been recognized, and in retaliation Berlin has now expelled the chief of the Austrian legation's press department, who has long occupied the post and whose name appears in the official list.

From such petty beginnings serious international differences grow. Acts of personal injustice fan popular resentment and in this case are adding to the tension already existing over the violent acts of the German Nazis and the repressive measures employed by the Austrian authorities. With the concentration of officials at present in London it appears possible that concerted representations to Berlin may result in orders which will effectively restrain Hitler enthusiasts in Austria.

ECONOMY VS. DEFENSE.

The public does not yet know what effect the economy program is having upon national defense. It is not easy for laymen to note the deterioration of the Army and the Navy. But when men like Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the Army, express fear that retrenchment is crippling the national defense there is cause for apprehension.

Secretary of War Dern has given assurance that the number of officers in the Army will not be reduced at the present time. But otherwise the people do not know how deeply the economy program will cut into the efficiency of the Army. Drastic reductions have been made, but they are not yet being felt. If the Army is too severely handicapped under the economy program to afford adequate national defense, a decided reaction against these savings may be expected. Gen. MacArthur's dictum that "retrenchment which cripples national defense ceases to be economy" is unquestionably supported by public opinion.

Thoughts of war may be remote. Yet aggression is still active in various parts of the world. Military weakness in such great nations as the United States encourages belligerent governments to press forward ambitious projects involving their neighbors' territory. A nation is never safe unless its defense is adequate to assure its protection.

Gen. MacArthur sounded an ominous warning in his address to the graduates of West Point:

> As the necessity of national defense is sacrificed in the name of economy, the United States presents a tempting spectacle. It is a spectacle which may ultimately lead to an alignment of the nations, which may lead to another World War, and that war would find a score of nations ready for the sack of America.

If the leading military authority of the country believes that national defense is being imperiled by the reduction of expenditures and that peace has been jeopardized thereby, it is high time to review the economy programs imposed upon the Army and the Navy. The mere absence of any direct threat of war at the present time does not justify the weakening of the defense agencies beyond the point of reason. Gen. MacArthur's statement calls for assurance that adequate national defense will not be sacrificed.

NO APOLOGY FOR TAXPAYERS.

Senator Reynolds was deeply "humiliated and embarrassed" when he learned that he had inserted in the Congressional Record a speech that made serious reflections upon Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and Mr. Reynolds' colleague, Senator Bailey. When Senator Reynolds asked that the speech in question might be placed in the Record, it was assumed, of course, that he indorsed its contents. But when he arose on the floor of the Senate to make an apology to his colleagues he admitted that he had never read the address.

Members of Congress are frequently embarrassed by incidents of this kind, even though few addresses inserted in the Record bring forth public apologies. An immense amount of claptrap which has no relationship to the proceedings of Congress is included in the Record. It is cluttered with undelivered speeches, unpublished articles and miscellaneous balderdash to gratify the vanity of constituents who like to believe that they are exerting an influence upon the deliberations of Congress. Probably a large percentage of this material is not read—not even by the senators who ask to have it inserted.

Senator Reynolds apologized profusely to the Senate for having "committed the insertion of that speech in the Record without ever having read it." But he didn't apologize to the taxpayers, to whom a greater apology was due. Publication of the Congressional Record costs approximately $40 per page.

The insertion of extraneous matter in the Congressional Record costs taxpayers thousands of dollars per month. Why does a Congress which is supposed to be committed to rigid economy permit this waste of money to continue?

GAINING ON LEPROSY.

Announcement has just been made through the Leonard Wood Memorial for the Eradication of Leprosy that after many years of research two American scientists have finally succeeded in cultivating, outside the human body, the germ of the dread disease. Isolation of the leprosy germ may be the initial step for the control of the terrible scourge. A condensed report of the remarkable work of the two men, both members of the memorial advisory council, Dr. E. B. McKinley, of the George Washington School of Medicine, and Malcolm H. Soule, Sc. D., University of Michigan School of Medicine, is contained in The Outpost, publication of the memorial association.

Although the germ of leprosy was seen in infected tissues sixty years ago, the earnest endeavors of science to isolate it failed until the work of these two doctors over a period of more than two years was crowned with success. Employing artificial media under special atmospheric conditions of carbon dioxide and oxygen they were able to continue cultivation of the organism through sixteen generations. Experimenting upon monkeys, they report that they have been able to produce suggestive lesions of early leprosy.

The importance of this research lies in the fact that it produces a culture for study in the laboratory from the standpoint of chemical treatment and immunity. This study will in turn doubtless produce a skin test for diagnosis. In early stages this would aid greatly in treatment.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

From the Houston Post.

The late Dr. J. B. Gambrell held that democracy carries its own antitoxin. Quite true, provided it knows its limitations. An unrestrained majority can easily degenerate into a mob. Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights and a written Constitution are restraints on those intrusted with the powers of government.

Thomas Jefferson stood for equal rights. William Jennings Bryan stood for equal opportunities. Where either or both are denied serious trouble is engendered.

The causes that led up to the French Revolution ought not to be lost on any subsequent generation. The people were overwhelmed by taxation, while the nobility and clergy, who owned two-thirds of the land, were nearly exempt. When the royal treasury needed replenishing, what we in this day call balancing the budget, a restriction of trade was imposed, and licenses were issued for even the commonest callings. Large tracts of land were declared game preserves, where wild boars and deer roamed at pleasure. The French Revolution was not a sudden and unexpected event, but the blossoming of a seed planted long before. The American Revolution grew out of the unjust exactions of the crown.

But it will be said that monarchy was the provoking cause in each instance. No; it was injustice, a denial of equal rights and equal opportunities. And that same can be true of democracy, a failure to render to every man that which is his due according to his ability.

American democracy, rightly understood and practiced, is the world's salvation; let us not destroy it.

Now to Assemble It.

POST HASTE.

Having previously shown the President it could mind, the Senate had to display a mind of its own before facing the home folks.

No matter how relatively unimportant the war debts may be to the American delegation, they remain a great handicap when so many others consider them the chief issue.

With Secretary Hull having to revise his speech that way, Prof. Moley must regret letting him go off to London unattended.

Now, if the industry pump does not begin to function promptly Niagara Falls will be used to prime it.

Another ringing cheer from Mr. Shouse over the wringing wet victory in what is now the Old Bay Rum State.

That was kind of Congress, just before closing time on the bank bill, to recall that the District of Columbia is in the U. S. A.

No, Davis, absolutely no connection between the cat-nipping by Dr. Miller at the Zoo and the kit-napping by Col. Howe at the White House.

The Nazis, so far from making a hit with the Austrian dictator, an antianschluss is about to create a neighborly rupture.

President Ames urges Johns Hopkins graduates to join the reforestation corps rather than be idle. And, certainly, the boys in the woods are also entitled to brain-trust leaven.

Out-Heinzed by nine varieties of nations the London conference finds itself in a pickle over agreements.

A debt bloc is laying for Uncle Sam, and the small states are ganging up on the great powers to fight 'em, and so on ad infinitum.

"Amtorg seeks R. F. C. loan to buy farm products." A little more encouragement from the friendly Wildman and the Soviet will crash Uncle Sam's gate unrecognized and uninvited.

JUST FOLKS

THE FUTURE HOPE.

And how shall we be happy
Whose need has grown so great?
How shall the old find courage
To bear the blows of fate?
And who has words to comfort
The pains which we endure,
Or set our lips to smiling,
At ills we can not cure?

Our hopes in deep destruction
Have fallen to the ground.
Beneath a flood of trouble
Now lies our future, drowned.
'Tis well enough to whisper
That soon the tide will turn,
But how shall we recover
Who are too old to learn?

I find no ready answer
To questions such as these.
Perhaps some day our children
Shall put our minds at ease.
Perhaps our loss their gain is.
And as the years advance
These days of doubt and darkness
May hold our children's chance.

'Twas in our hearts to build them
An easy road to fare,
But now the world will call them
To stand face front to care.
'Twill set their hands to toiling,
And, bitter though it seems,
We may be soon rejoicing
In their accomplished dreams.

From Friendly Neighbors

(Washington News.)

Eugene Meyer, Publisher.

Here on the News we have a decided prejudice against newspaper operation by other than newspaper people. That is to say, we do not like to see newspapers published as an adjunct to some other business, or to serve some personal or political interest. This may be due to the pride—perhaps unwarranted—that we take in the profession of journalism; or to the modest feeling that a man who can produce a good newspaper hasn't sufficient time in his life to do much more than that.

However, we are glad to waive this prejudice in the case of Mr. Eugene Meyer, new owner of The Washington Post. There are extenuating circumstances in his case. It seems that a governor of the Federal Reserve Bureau, on retiring, finds himself greatly handicapped by the law in the matter of his activities. At least, he can't run a bank or help run a bank during the two years immediately following his departure from office.

Mr. Meyer isn't a man to sit idle for two years. If he can not utilize his managerial talent in the field of finance, it is natural that he should turn to the field of public opinion. He doubtless regards the latter as only second in importance to the former.

So, we welcome him cordially. We know he will prove an amiable, able competitor. With his political and economic views we expect to differ quite a lot, but we are certain he will prove a gentleman in journalism as he has in politics and finance.

(New York Herald Tribune.)

Mr. Meyer and The Post.

It is good news for Washington in particular and for journalism in general that Mr. Eugene Meyer is the new owner of The Washington Post. What Mr. Meyer lacks in publishing experience he will make up in being above all else his own boss. Few public men have the financial resources to swing such an undertaking single-handed and free from the entangling alliances that can cripple the independence of a newspaper. Still fewer have the sort of fighting independence of spirit that is Mr. Meyer's second nature. We hope and trust that The Post will be a Republican journal, but we are even surer that under Mr. Meyer it will be no slavish supporter of any party or leader. All of which means that in our guess the new Post will be hard hitting and independent, a paper that nobody can ignore. May it so prosper!

(New York Times.)

The opportunity for building up a strong and influential morning newspaper in Washington has long seemed obvious. It is for this reason that the purchase of The Washington Post by Mr. Eugene Meyer will be of great interest not only to the journalistic world, but to many residents and public men in the National Capital. Mr. Meyer announces his intention to publish an absolutely independent newspaper, and it is to be expected that his wide knowledge of public affairs and his personal energy will bring about a skilled direction both in the gathering of news and in the intelligent discussion of important questions, which promises fine things in the morning newspaper field at Washington. Both Mr. Meyer and the public are to be congratulated upon this interesting venture of his.

If a Coat Doesn't Fit All Men, Why Expect an Idea to Fit All Minds?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A LADY of my acquaintance remembers, as one of the happiest experiences of her life, the day and the hour when the mystery of long division was revealed to her.

She wasn't stupid. But her teacher's efforts to explain the mystery had somehow made it appear unreasonable, and her mind was closed against it.

For days she wept and worried while adults scolded and punished and pleaded, and then one evening as she sat alone, pondering in hopeless misery, the truth appeared as a shining light and she laughed aloud with the joy of discovery.

Much that is called teaching is merely learning in spite of the teacher. Perhaps it is impossible for one person to teach another anything at all.

If you would teach an ignorant man that the earth is round instead of flat, the first obstacle you have to overcome is his unwillingness to learn. Since he can not accept the truth without first admitting that his present belief is wrong, his vanity and his will combine to reject it.

But even when this difficulty is overcome, there remains the matter of his capacity. If your statement that the earth is round seems to him incredible and foolish, he can not accept it. He can't learn because he can't believe.

It is possible in some measure to close the mind against truth, but one can not believe merely by willing to do it any more than one can fall in love by willing to do that. Belief waits on conviction.

The ability to believe and comprehend a new idea depends on two factors—natural mental equipment and the material already stored in the mind.

Learning is much like tuning in a radio receiving set. The air may be full of music, but none of it is available until the receiver is attuned to the right wave length. In like manner the wisdom of sages is meaningless until the mind is equipped and adjusted to receive it. If knowledge of French is stored in the mind, words spoken in that language have meaning; otherwise they seem gibberish.

Since no two minds have the same caliber or equipment, no two people have precisely the same understanding of an idea. Each sees the angle he is equipped to see.

If an article in a newspaper seems bread and meat to one mind, it must inevitably seem tripe to another.

The teacher should not be discouraged by lack of understanding. His task is merely to set the table. Each of the diners will select the morsel he is equipped to digest.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE PRESIDENTIAL CRUISE.

I.

Oh, a trip to sea is the life for me
As I'm swept by breezes spanking
From the R. F. C., the "emergency,"
And the probes of banks and banking!
On the Amberjack I can give the sack
To the crisis deep and pressing,
For on any tack there's a total lack

II.

As I glide along to a sailor's song
In my schooner swift and sturdy
And no Borah, loud and wordy.
Like the sea gulls' flight o'er the breakers bright
Goes the Amberjack quite gayly,
And no Senate fight keeps me up all night
And I hear no House scrap daily.

III.

As I walk the deck I forget the wreck
Of our economic order;
And no double check must I make, by heck!
In the hunt to catch the hoarder.
In the salt sea's spray I can put away
Mighty plans to save the Nation;
I can even say that in fact I may
Quite forget reforestation!

IV.

As we cruise the deep, I can get some sleep,
Far from all the farmers' moanings;
And no problems steep on my desk they'll heap—
(I'll be free from telephoning!)
As we swiftly sail with a wet lee rail
Through the summer days so sunny
I will get no wail in my daily mail
About what's been done to money.

V.

When the breeze is fair, and there's a sail to spare,
And there's neither squall nor showers,
In my underwear, very free from care,
I forget about my powers;
As for measures to see the country through,
I'll dismiss 'em with a giggle,
As I sail the blue with a laughing crew,
Watching fishes leap and wriggle.

VI.

Oh, it's great to be on the open sea,
Without hard-boiled shirt and collar,
Where complacently I can wholly be,
Though we have a falling dollar.
Tariff problems hot I'll consider not
As a topic most compelling,
And the railroad lot I'll let go to pot
While I watch the mainsail swelling.

VII.

Oh, it's great to be on the open sea!
When the port is made in the evening shade
And the harbor marks are noted;
I can, unafraid, call a spade a spade
Without fear of being quoted.
There's no howling mob to demand a job
And no list of names from Farley;
For the Economic Parley.

OKAY, AMERICA!

Mount Wilson Observatory reports that there is no life on Mars. It is, in other words, just a community of chess players.

King George opened the conference by radio. He seemed very confident and at ease, but we'll wager he immediately phoned the palace and asked, "How did I sound, Mary?"

BACK TO THE GOLF GAME!

Johnny Goodman, the new national open golf champion, dresses carelessly and likes to travel in cattle cars. This department greets him with three cheers and a tiger. Our golf stars have been overdressing for years and it will be swell to see a champion who looks more like a man dressed to play golf and less like a musical comedy hero about to go into a dance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Tuberculosis Cases Mainly Involved in Reduction of "Presumptive" Compensation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: For the past several days editorials have appeared in The Post regarding veterans' compensation and have referred to those veterans who now are receiving presumptive service-connected compensation as the class which is not justly entitled to it.

Are you aware that the majority of veterans to whom you refer are men who are suffering from tuberculosis? Tuberculosis is a disease most difficult to diagnose in its incipient stage or even within one year from the date the infection first becomes apparent. On this account the present law provides that when this disease is discovered within five years from the time of discharge from the military service that it shall be considered as being service-connected, while the new legislation provides that such discovery and diagnosis must have been made within one year after discharge in order to entitle the veteran to compensation.

Happenings of Interest in Washington Society Circles

Roosevelts Attend Commencement at Catholic U.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT attended the commencement exercises at the Catholic University yesterday morning, following which an honorary degree was conferred on the President.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Roosevelt attended the tea given by Mrs. Henry Wilder Keyes, wife of Senator Keyes, at her home in Alexandria, Va. The guests were members of the Senate Ladies Luncheon Club. Later they attended the opening of the Gadsby's Tavern exhibition of seventeenth and eighteenth century furniture. Still later Mrs. Roosevelt attended the tea given at the Sulgrave Club for the school children's luncheon fund committee headed by Mrs. John Boyle, and all the volunteer workers who helped serve lunches through the winter for Washington's undernourished children.

Mrs. Frederick Sterling, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. John R. Williams, will leave Washington preparatory to sailing tomorrow for Ireland to join Mr. Sterling, United States Minister to the Irish Free State, at the legation in Phoenix Park on the outskirts of Dublin.

Mrs. Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Ormsby McCammon, will go to Hot Springs late this month for a short stay before opening her cottage on the North Shore of Massachusetts for the summer. Mrs. Joseph Leiter is at her summer home at Beverly Farms, Mass.

Representative and Mrs. S. Otis Bland have taken up their residence at Wardman Park Hotel. Mrs. Bland will remain for a few days before returning to their home in Newport News, Va., and Representative Bland plans to remain for several weeks there before joining her.

Representative Jenckes City Club Speaker.

Representative Virginia E. Jenckes was the guest speaker at the dinner, given by the business and professional section of the Women's City Club, at the clubhouse, 736 Jackson Place, last evening, at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Alma Partridge presided. Among the guests were Mrs. Carolina B. Stephen, Miss Eunice Wright, Miss Elsa Donaldson, Miss S. Pearl Jencks, Mrs. John S. Bennett, Mrs. George Perkins, Miss Florence Bell, Miss Etta Austin, Miss Clora Schuldt, Mrs. A. B. Stewart, Miss Margaret Vail, Miss A. Payne, Miss M. Wheelock, Miss Olive Beatty, Miss Adene Barrington, Miss Josephine Willis, Miss Anna Farrar, Miss Elva McNamara, Mrs. Gladys Ball Middlemiss.

Senora de Irujo, wife of the Minister-Counselor of the Spanish Embassy, and her two daughters are in New York preparatory to sailing this week for Mexico to visit the parents of Senora de Irujo. Senor Irujo sailed several weeks ago to spend the summer in Spain.

Mr. John H. McEvers, special assistant to the Attorney General, is at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City for a few days this week.

Mr. Walter J. Cummings, special assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, had a few friends lunching with him yesterday at the Carlton.

The Prince and Princess Vladimir Koudacheff have leased Head-o-Pond, Water Mill, at Southampton, Long Island, for the season, where they will be joined later in the summer by the latter's son, Mr. Noel Leggett, who has been in Washington during the past winter.

Mr. Dwight F. Davis, former Secretary of War, has leased the home of Mrs. Henry Rea at Southampton, Long Island, for the season, and with his children will take possession next week. Miss Alice Davis, who made her debut in Washington while her father was in the Cabinet of President Coolidge, was in the Capital last week for a brief visit.

Miss Elizabeth Pillsbury will accompany her parents, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George B. Pillsbury, when they go to their summer home at Martha's Vineyard tomorrow, and will remain with them until the end of June.

With her aunt, Mrs. Philip Lansdale, of San Francisco, Miss Pillsbury, will sail July 1 aboard the Statendam for Europe. They will spend the summer traveling on the continent, returning to this country in September.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coakley, of Cleveland, Ohio, and their children, Miss Mary Virginia, Miss Agnes, Miss Anne, Miss Margaret and Mr. Henry, were in Washington at the Shoreham for the graduation of their son, John A. Coakley, jr., from Georgetown. They entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham terrace Tuesday evening.

Kathleen Carmichael Wed At Church Bridal.

A wedding of great interest in Army circles which took place yesterday afternoon was that of Miss Kathleen Carmichael, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Roderick L. Carmichael, and Lieut. George Robinson Mather, U. S. A., son of Mrs. James E. Mather. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock in the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church by Chaplain Ralph C. Deibert, of Fort Myer, in the presence of a large company of guests.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father, and wore a princess model of ivory satin, made with a V-yoke embroidered in seed pearls and crystals, with long, tight-fitting sleeves. The skirt formed the fan-shaped train, and the veil, of eggshell tulle, fell from a cap of rose point lace, held with a chaplet of real orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John E. Stephens, jr., of Huntington, W. Va., was matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Laura Barkley, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Alben W. Barkley, was maid of honor. They wore frocks of peach-colored chiffon with fitted bodices and long skirts, which flared widely at the hemline. The brief jackets of the same material were finished with short puffed sleeves. The hats were of peach-colored wool, lace trimmed, with wreaths of garden flowers tied at the back with narrow velvet ribbons.

The bridesmaids, who included Miss Mary Henry, Miss Isobel Smith, Miss Bobby Jewell and Mrs. Harry Fowler, wore frocks like those of the other attendants in citron green chiffon, with hats to match. They all carried old-fashioned bouquets of garden flowers.

Mr. Thomas Mather, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Lieut. Alexander Graham, Lieut. Andrew Hero, Lieut. George R. Grunert and Lieut. Franklin Smith, all of the United States Army.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where a decoration of garden flowers had been arranged. The bridal couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Carmichael, who wore a gown of gray lace with a hat of hydrangea blue and a corsage of orchids; Mrs. Mather, mother of the bridegroom, who wore a gown of aquamarine mousseline de soie with a hat of natural straw and a corsage of gardenias, and Mrs. Samuel Robinson, grandmother of the bridegroom, who was in a gown of black lace with a hat to match and a corsage of gardenias.

Lieut. Mather and his bride left later for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a two-piece suit of Penny brown crepe trimmed with white grosgrain ribbon and a hat to match. They will be at home after July at Fort Myer, where Lieut. Mather is stationed.

Miss Mabel Boardman has gone to Murray Bay, Canada, where she has a summer home. Mrs. Frederic A. Keep, sister of Miss Boardman, will sail tomorrow on the Europa for Europe.

Commander and Mrs. William D. Thomas have been in New York for several days, where Tuesday evening they attended the dinner given by Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt at the Central Park Casino for the Marquis of Milford Haven, who is visiting in this country.

Mrs. Vanderbilt will spend the weekend with Commander and Mrs. Thomas, who will entertain at dinner Sunday evening at their home, Graystone, in Rock Creek Park.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Berryman returned to Washington yesterday, making the trip down from New York by plane. Mr. and Mrs. Berryman arrived in New York Tuesday aboard the Ile de France from a trip of several weeks in Europe. They were met on their arrival by Mrs. Clifford K. Berryman, mother of Mr. Berryman, and Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Rhees, parents of Mrs. Berryman, who remained with them in New York at the Hotel Edison, accompanying them to Washington yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Berryman visited in Paris, Switzerland, Austria and Belgium. They made the trip down the Rhine from Mains to Cologne, later going to England and Scotland. The trip was a reward to Mrs. Berryman for winning the contest for her interpretation of the ending of "One Way Passage," a motion picture.

Representative and Mrs. Henry W. Watson and Miss Jeanette Ball will leave Washington tomorrow for Beachwood, their home in Langhorne, Pa.

Catherine Ann Barrett Bride of A. A. McGarraghy.

St. Aloysius' Church was the scene of an interesting wedding yesterday morning at 9 o'clock when Miss Catherine Ann Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frances Barrett, became the bride of Mr. Alfred Aloysius McGarraghy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. McGarraghy. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's cousin, Rev. Father Remigis, O. F. S., of St. Bonaventure's College, Olean, New York.

The bride, who was escorted by her brother, Mr. Robert Joseph Barrett, wore a gown of eggshell satin, made on simple lines with long tight sleeves, and her veil of tulle was held with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lillies.

Miss Margaret Mary Barrett, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the other attendants were Miss Eleanor Marie Hurley and Mrs. Paul Frances Griffen. Their gowns, made similarly, were of white net with large ruffled sleeves and they wore sashes of green satin with larg bows in the back. Their picture hats were of white horsehair trimmed with green organdie, and they carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Mr. Francis McGarraghy was best man for his brother and the ushers included Mr. Andrew McGarraghy, Mr. Joseph C. McGarraghy, Mr. C. Thomas duPief and Mr. John A. Reilly.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Henry C. Cryer, where the drawing rooms were decorated with palms and spring flowers. Mrs. Barrett, mother of the bride, received with the young couple, wearing a gray printed chiffon gown trimmed with black lace. She wore a large black lace hat and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. McGarraghy left later on a wedding trip, the latter wearing a modish traveling dress of gray crepe, trimmed with a darker shade of the same material, and accessories to match. Upon their return, they will make their home in the Capital.

Mrs. Warner K. Thompson entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Shoreham Tuesday. Her guests were Mrs. R. B. Adams and her sister, Mrs. Davis; Mrs. J. S. Baylis, Mrs. Frederick C. Billard, Mrs. L. Toulman Chalker, Mrs. R. O. Crisp, Mrs. Burton Glenn, Mrs. Harry G. Hamlet, Mrs. Harvey Johnson, Mrs. Gustavus O'Connor, Mrs. Charles J. Odenthal, Mrs. C. C. Owens, Mrs. James Pine, Mrs. Frank Rebell, jr., Mrs. Agnes K. Salter, Mrs. Henry Schoenborn, Mrs. T. A. Shanley, Mrs. Joseph E. Stika, Mrs. George E. Trister, Mrs. R. R. Waesche and her sister, Miss Rizzutti.

Mrs. Effingham Townsend and her daughter, Miss Margaret Townsend, are the guests of Mrs. Townsend's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Randolph Graham, at their home on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Trist Burke, of Omaha, Nebr., with their small son, Nicholas, have arrived for a visit of several weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Randolph Burke, at their home at Rosemont, Va.

Mrs. G. Eriebacher, Mr. Al Sigmund, Mrs. Alex Wolf, Mr. Mel Behrends and Mr. Max Fischer motored from Washington to Atlantic City for the week-end, stopping at the Shelburne.

Mrs. Sally Cary Parrish, who makes her home at Wardman Park Hotel, has had as her guest for a few days her brother, Mr. Shirley Carter. Mr. Carter will make his home at Wardman with Mrs. Parrish during the summer months.

Miss Marian T. Rhine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Rhine, and Mr. John H. Mattingly will be married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Calvary Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest.

Mr. Paul Porter, of La Grange, Ga., who has been appointed by President Roosevelt as an Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, with Mrs. Porter, has taken the charming old Colonial house at 220 North Royal street, Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Porter is a cousin of Gen. and Mrs. Clinton Goodloe Edgar, and has often visited them in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Davis and Miss Emiscah Gale Davis have left Washington and gone to their summer home on Squirrel Island, Maine.

The Rev. Dr. Donald Grey Barnhouse, of Philadelphia, is a visitor to Washington, arriving here a day or two ago for a stay of several days, and is at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. J. Upshur Moorhead has left her K street home and taken an apartment at the Hay-Adams House, where she plans to remain until she leaves for Spring Lake, N. J., to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Gifford, for the summer. Mrs. Moorhead's K street residence will be occupied by the American Forestry Association.

Married Yesterday

Underwood & Underwood.

The wedding yesterday of Miss Lois Roxanna Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Barrett, of New York, and Mr. William Edgar Edmonston 2d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis Edmonston, of Baltimore, and grandson of Mrs. David Stewart Henrick, of Washington, is of much interest here. The ceremony took place at Smith Ridge, the summer home of the bride's parents at New Canaan, Conn.

Miss Katherine Edmonston Riegel, of New York, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Patti Edmonston, of Baltimore, sister of the bridegroom and a debutante in Washington a few years ago, and Miss Helen Kuper, of New York.

Mr. Charles Henrick Edmonston was best man for his brother, and the ushers included Mr. German H. H. Emory, of Baltimore, and Mr. John E. Barrett, brother of the bride.

After the informal reception which followed the ceremony, Mr. Edmonston and his bride left for a wedding trip and will later make their home in Baltimore.

An engagement of interest to Washington is that of Miss Marie Homer, daughter of Mrs. Charles LeB. Homer, of Fairfield, Conn., to Mr. Thomas B. Gilchrist, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gilchrist, of Bronxville, N. Y.

Miss Homer is the daughter of the late Charles LeB. Homer and a niece of Mr. Justice Owen J. Roberts, of the United States Supreme Court, and Mrs. Roberts.

She was graduated from St. Mary's School at Peekskill, N. Y., and was introduced to society in Philadelphia several seasons ago. Miss Homer is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Gilchrist attended the Loomis School, Windsor, Conn., and is a member of the graduating class at Yale. He belongs to the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Miss Mary Isabel Dwight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Dwight, who has recently returned from Europe, will be presented to Washington society at a ball at the Mayflower Hotel on the evening of December 23. Miss Dwight was very popular as a subdeb.

Helen Louise Duckett Announces Wedding Plans.

Miss Helen Louise Duckett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Howard Duckett, whose marriage to Lieut. Raymond Randolph Waller, U. S. N., son of Mrs. Margaret Waller, of Memphis, Tenn., will take place Saturday, has chosen as her matron of honor Mrs. John T. Kent, of Hyattsville, Md.

Miss Josephine Duckett will be maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids will include Miss Mae Harris Clarke and Miss Virginia Sturgis, of Hyattsville; Miss Dorothy Stuart, of Douglaston, Long Island, and Miss Josephine Symons, of Washington.

Lieut. Comdr. Thomas P. Jeter, U. S. N., will be best man, but the ushers have not yet been named.

The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock at Pinkney Memorial Church in Hyattsville, the Rev. Clyde Brown officiating, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents in Hyattsville.

The young couple will leave later to motor to Coronado Beach, Calif., where Lieut. Waller will be stationed aboard the U. S. S. Lexington. Mr. and Mrs. Duckett will entertain at the dinner dance at the Shoreham this evening for the members of the wedding party.

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Estelle Thomas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William J. G. Thomas, to Mr. Thomas Girard Lee, son of Mrs. Walter Howell Lee, took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Westchester Apartment in the presence of a small group of relatives and close friends. Bishop William F. McDowell, retired bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned on princess lines and trimmed with duchesse lace. A Juliet cap of the same lace, embroidered in pearls, held the long tulle veil. The bride carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Alden Bradford, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a frock of yellow organdie with a brief jacket of the same. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Mr. Charles B. Bishop was best man.

The ceremony was followed by a bridal supper for those who had attended the wedding, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lee left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing an ensemble of red and white. After July 1 they will be at home at the Westchester.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. John Miller, jr., Miss Betty Bergmann, Mrs. Edward McPherson, Miss Roberta Wright, Miss Dorothea Lewis, Miss Arline Spencer, Mrs. W. Raymond Thomas, Mrs. Walter Long, Mrs. Alden Bradford, Miss Eleanor Lee, Mrs. George Campbell and Miss Betty Goodrich.

Countess Raoul D'Adhemar, formerly a resident of the Capital, arrived here yesterday for a few days' stay, and is at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. M. de Clare Berry will introduce the speakers at the Magna Charta dinner this evening and Gen. William E. Horton will act as host. Senator William H. King will make the principal address unless detained on official business, and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman will speak for the Colonial Dames, of which she is the president of Chapter No. 3 in Washington.

Miss Elva McNamara is chairman of arrangements for the buffet supper and garden party benefit sale to be given at the Women's City Club, 736 Jackson place, tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. Assisting will be Mrs. A. B. Allen, Mrs. Lawrence Fortune, Miss Mary Gott, Mrs. Gladys B. Middlemiss, Miss S. Pearl Jencks, Mrs. Paulina Sabin, Mrs. Lena Lane Ellis, Miss Jessie Lane, Miss Nell Price, Miss Clara A. Saunders, Miss Thelma Schmitt, Mrs. A. B. Kinney and Miss Patricia Ellis.

Proving the Untruth of an Old Adage . . .

Realization has been GREATER than Anticipation

Public approval and use of our Quality Dry Cleaning Service has been so much greater than we anticipated that we have found it necessary to add—

Additional Equipment and Operating Space to our Dry Cleaning Plant

We had no doubt that many of our customers wanted a high-grade cleaning service, but the response has far exceeded our anticipations—so we have enlarged our activities to such an extent that we can now extend the same high quality service to many new patrons.

For the benefit of those not familiar with the details, let us say that our prices are slightly higher than those of the cleaner who competes on price alone, but our extra service qualities include the following:

—FRESHLY FILTERED and distilled clear fluid.
—NO ODOR.
—DOUBLY INSPECTED to insure satisfaction.
—ALL SPOTS REMOVED that can be removed without damaging the fabric.
—NO WET CLEANING without the owners consent.
—CUFFS AND INSEAMS of coats and trousers thoroughly vacuumed to remove lint, dust and dirt.
—MEN'S SUITS PRESSED and shaped exactly as the manufacturer intended them to be.
—LININGS FINISHED by hand.
—ALL MINOR REPAIRS made.
—COLLECTION AND DELIVERY by our modern, well-equipped delivery service.

The Meanderer

Begins to Remind Readers of Father's Day—With Luxuries or Utility Gifts to Please the Head of the Family.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Cocktail shakers of sturdy, square-shaped glass, a glass especially made to withstand breakage, are the kind many men prefer, a saleswoman in a china and glass shop told the Meanderer. This shop sells so many cocktail shakers that its advice is worth taking. If father has a cocktail shaker, he may like the cocktail roulette or the home ice bar with its amusing brass rail, which the Meanderer saw in a shop where there are many unusual suggestions.

A roomy, zipper-closing brief case, quite large enough for an overnight bag, is another idea for father's remembrance which may interest mothers and children shoping for father's day. There is much variety in quality and price in such bags in one shop the Meanderer visited.

If wearables are to be the choice for the Father's Day gifts, there are summer robes of Terry cloth, of Shantung or ponges, and some of Turkish toweling in the men's wear section of a big department store that may fit the desires of some fathers for summer comfort. Such robes are useful for beach wear, also.

Not for Father's Day, but for the festive home wedding occasions, or for parties for the graduates, a package of four shades of face powder in matching packages—four little round blue boxes topped with peach bows—are ready to fit into the guest room's needs. If this assortment of powder is offered, each guest may find her particular complexion color in powder.

A pretty blonde girl in the basement store of a flourishing dry goods emporium is modeling a rubber bathing suit while she sells them. The rubber bathing suit costs only $1, and the Turkish robes she wears over the suit cost $1 up. The suits, which the pretty model is helping to sell so rapidly, are not cold, she declares, when wet, and are comfortable. The colors of the rubber are brightly attractive. Most of the suits are made with sun-backs.

Linen sandals so well liked for vacation wear sell for less than $1 in the shoe shop of the store where the Meanderer found the rubber bathing suits. And pique shoes—the waffle pique only—are $4 a pair, harmonizing smartly with the many pique garments fashion has sponsored.

Dogs or cats may be given the luxury of a special dog box to provide for their best comfort in the master's absence. The dog boxes, built in rectangles with three low sides, have flea proof mattresses. The mattresses may be bought separately.

The popular daytime dresses of men's wear tailoring—or the shirtwaist dresses as they are sometimes known—are bargains at $2 in one department store. Three types—a tuck-in blouse, a Peter Pan collar with tucked front, or a double breasted V-necked blouse,—in tan, brown, green, blue and red striped with white are shown in these manish dresses that are such good values.

Bold raspberry colored flowers on white matelasse chiffon give striking effect to a midsummer party gown. The gown is of jacket type so suitable for informal summer wear. This is among the most interesting of the gay clothes just arrived. Its price is $15.

THE PLAY OF THE HAND BY THE DECLARER.

WHEN the auction is completed, the Opening lead made, and the Dummy spread upon the table, the fulfillment of the contract is the Declarer's only object. Overtricks are not to be sought at the expense of the possible defeat of the contract. Of course, assured of the main objective—the fulfillment of the contract—overtrick points should, when possible, be obtained. In any case in which it appears that it is impossible to fulfill the contract, the Declarer's main objective in play should be to make as many tricks as possible so that the resultant loss may be reduced to a minimum.

If, to attain the desired objective—the fulfillment of the contract that has been undertaken—it seems advisable to take a risk, the Declarer must carefully and accurately compute the points that may be gained and those that may be lost, and he must weigh the chances for and against success. It naturally follows that a thorough knowledge of game and penalty equivalents is necessary. These include not only the possible score, jotted down at the end of the play of the hand, but the invisible values, which are just as real, of a game contract fulfilled or a part-score contract successfully played.

Having the contract in mind, after the Opening lead has been made and the Dummy is spread on the table, it is a wise plan for the Declarer to pause and take stock of the situation. After he has carefully appraised his strength and his weakness, he should formulate a plan of campaign. This he should do by scrutinizing the combined hands, noting their winners and losers, ascertaining the fit in different suits and marking especially established or establishable suits, together with the possibilities of discards of losers on winners, ruffs of losing cards with trumps in the Dummy, finesses and other means by which tricks not apparently certain may be gained. He should mark not only the strong points in the holding of Dummy and Declarer, but as well any situations which may prove dangerous.

1. Count tricks.

In order to determine the probable trick possibilities of the combined hands and thus discover whether or not any special effort is necessary to attain the objective, the Declarer must count the tricks, either established or establishable, in the combined hands. The best way to do this at trump contracts is to count the losing cards; at notrump contracts, to count the winning cards. By following this method, the Declarer focuses his attention on the points most likely to help in playing the hand correctly.

2. Strategy.

When it develops as it usually does—that the contract is not assured by winning cards already established, the Declarer must think out, if possible, a plan of campaign that will develop the tricks necessary to fulfill his contract. Methods of play vary, of course, with the great variety of situations which occur at the Contract table, but in any given situation there is a method of play which, in that situation, probably will give the best results. To be a good Contract player, a person must be able to recognize the playing situations which develop and apply to each the tactics which in the situation actually confronting him will succeed. The player who quickly applies in each situation the most effective tactics to cope with it has mastered the strategy of play.

Strategy in the play is the formulation of a plan. Tactics is the execution of the plan. With good players, after constant practice, it becomes almost a mechanical process.

(a) The strategy of notrump play.

In the absence of trumps and the consequent absens of complications caused by ruffing, play resolves itself broadly into the development of long suits. The honors play an important part, first, by stopping the run of an adverse suit, and, second, by permitting entry to the hand in order that established low cards may become trick winners. An established adverse suit is harmless to the Declarer if he can shut out the opponent holding it and thus prevent it from being brought in. Herein is the first value of the honor-trick in notrump play. Having this in mind, the Declarer first tries to prevent the opposing long suit from being established, but if it is, he tries to prevent it from being brought in—in other words, to prevent an adversary having established low cards from obtaining the lead. At the same time he endeavors to establish and bring in his own long suit or suits. Thus at notrump the play of the hand becomes, in its last analysis, a race to establish suits between the Declarer on the one hand and his adversaries on the other.

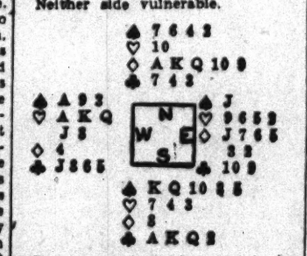
(b) Strategy of trump play.

At suit contracts, cards of a plain suit may be won by ruffs as well as by honors and by established low cards, as at notrump. Due to this fact, there is an important difference between the tactics of play at a suit declaration and the tactics used at notrump. Trumps in the Dummy hand may be used to ruff otherwise losing cards in the Declarer's hand, and trumps either in the Declarer's or Dummy's hand become effectual stoppers of the run of an adverse long suit. Thus when a contract is played at a suit declaration, the correct handling of trumps is vital to the play, the object of trump play being briefly to use the trumps in the Dummy and closed hands to the best advantage and generally to prevent the adversaries from making any use of theirs.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If South is playing a contract of five spades, can East make any play that will help in defeating the contract?

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

"GEMINI."

IF June 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:30 p. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The child born on this June 15 will probably have many moments of unhappiness. He will lack initiative and even in the matter of amusement he will not be sufficient unto himself. He will cling closely to one or the other of his parents. Not quick to learn, but will show an ability to master some trade.

If June 15 is the date of your birth, you are quite possibly a person who will develop to the fullest extent only under the constant guidance of tutelage of some other person. This person may be your husband or wife, who would naturally have a deep interest in your welfare and advancement or else some person who would manage or promote you and would be tied to you for purposes of financial gain. You are lacking in a few qualities that keep you from "riding the crest of the wave" by yourself.

Born on June 15, you have the ability to see the funny side of any situation; coupled with that is the equipment to reproduce that quality so as to make others see it. You will bring many laughs to the world, either by your writings or your acting. To those who know you, your amiable disposition and your kindly wit stand out most forcibly. You will make a good husband or wife and will be able to pull harmoniously through many trials.

Program Tonight At Sylvan Theater

For the second festival program of the summer at the Sylvan Theater tonight at 8 o'clock, the U. S. Marine Band, conducted by Capt. Taylor Branson, will offer a series of numbers in keeping with the program chosen by the Evelyn Davis Dance Group.

The band will accompany the dance, called "The Sea," which opens the program of the dancers, and will include Sara Bergling, Eleanora Bergling, Elizabeth Jenkins, Elsa Moody, Bell Ward, Cora Lancaster, Margaret Reed Kincannon, Betty DuPre, and Ruth Hartung. Two other ensemble numbers of special interest will be the Prokofieff "Marche," and "East Indian Nautch," by Scott.

"Chair privileges" for tonight, if bought in advance, will be good tomorrow night, in case inclement weather causes a postponement of the festival program until tomorrow. Chair tickets are on sale at the A. A. A., the Willard, the Washington Hotel, and the Community Center Department, Franklin School Building, Thirteenth and K.

Anniversary Set By Salvation Army

An elaborate program has been arranged by Maj. James Asher, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, for the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of Maj. James Roberts and Mrs. Roberts as commanding officers of Corps No. 2.

The program will include services at the army chapel at Seventh and P streets northwest at 8 o'clock Saturday night; a holiness meeting at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the same place and preaching by Salvation Army officers at four different churches on Sunday.

The big anniversary service in honor of Maj. and Mrs. Roberts will be held Monday evening at the Third Baptist Church, Fifth and Q streets northwest, with Prof. Kelly Miller as chairman.

Ruling on Scholarships At St. Albans Announced

A list of Washington boys eligible for free scholarships in St. Albans School will be compiled from applicants for an examination to be held June 24, it was announced yesterday. The tests will be for boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years, it was declared, and those passing also will sing in the choir of the Washington Cathedral.

Application should be made in writing to Edgar Priest, organist of the Cathedral. Only boys of excellent character and voice will be accepted, Mr. Priest said.

Vermont University To Honor R. E. Healy

Robert E. Healy, of 3031 Sedgewick street northwest, chief counsel of the Federal Trade Commission, will be awarded an honorary degree of doctor of law at the commencement exercises of the University of Vermont, which will be held in Burlington Monday.

An associate justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont for several years, Mr. Healy has been conducting an investigation of power utilities for the Federal Trade Commission for the last five years.

Visayans Will Debate Freedom for Filipinos

A debate on "That the Philippine Independence Act Should Be Accepted by the Filipino People," will be held 8:30 p. m. Sunday at the Y. M. C. A. hall under the auspices of the Visayan Circle.

WALLACE DECIDED ON PROCESSING TAX

Secretary to Levy Maximum on Cotton and Wheat; President Agrees.

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press.)

A decision to levy the maximum processing taxes of around 4 cents a pound for cotton and 30 to 30 cents a bushel for wheat in order to bring smaller acreages for those crops has been reached by the Roosevelt administration.

This was disclosed authoritatively yesterday as Secretary Wallace completed his program for applying the farm adjustment act to the Nation's two biggest crops. He was reported to have won the approval of President Roosevelt, and will announce his policy tomorrow.

Wallace and his administrators of the farm act made every effort to keep secret the details of their program. It was said that some features will be left undecided until the last minute.

However, as the program rested upon his desk yesterday, it called for the highest possible processing taxes to refinance retirement of acreage of both crops which long have suffered from surplus production.

South Opposes Tax.

Even as the plans were drawn Agricultural commissioners of Southern States forwarded to the President a proposal that at least 10,000,000 acres, or better still, 12,500,000 acres, be taken out of production in the cotton belt this year. They opposed, however, the levying of the processing tax. Wallace's announcement tomorrow will specify the time the taxes are intended to go into effect. The act authorizes him to employ them at the start of a marketing year for a commodity.

August 1 is by tradition considered the start of the cotton marketing year, and July 1 for wheat. It was understood, however, that he will propose that the taxes on both commodities go into effect at the same time, August 1 being contemplated.

If maximum taxes are levied, the act provides that no public hearing is necessary before ordering them into effect. If less than the maximum is levied a hearing is necessary. Wallace, it was reported, is of the opinion that hearings requiring ten days' notice would produce delays, which he is anxious to avoid.

Plan Must Support Self.

Earlier in the week it was decided to postpone announcement of the plans until Congress adjourned. This resulted in objection from many members, particularly a group from the South. The latter expressed opposition to a processing tax, which they believe was made unnecessary by the Bankhead amendment to the industrial control-public works bill, which set aside $100,000,000 for paying rentals to farmers, retiring lands from the production of basic crops. Another $100,000,000 was provided in the act itself, making $200,000,000 available for getting the plans under way.

Wallace's determination to use a processing tax is based, it was reported, on statements made by President Roosevelt and himself throughout the past year in which they said any plan of adjustment must be self-supporting and not financed from the public Treasury.

He has expressed the opinion that financing cotton acreage reduction from the Treasury without provision for repayment would bring demands from the producers of other basic commodities—wheat, corn, hogs, tobacco, rice and dairy products—for similar treatment.

The plan by agriculture commissioners of Southern States which was forwarded to the President was drawn up by Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, and a group of southern cotton millers.

Large Acreage Suggested.

In suggesting that 12,500,000 acres or at least 10,000,000 acres of cotton be taken out of production this year, they proposed two alternative plans. Under one the planter would be reimbursed at the flat rate of $10 for each acre of growing cotton he put to the plow.

Under the other the planters would be paid $6 for each acre taken out of production and would have in addition the right to obtain options on 2,500,000 bales of Government cotton at 5 cents a pound, each planter to be limited to an amount equal to one bale for each three acres of land taken out of production.

In the case of wheat more details will be left for later determination than in the case of cotton because there will be more time before administration will get under way.

The wheat program contemplates the payment in advance of bonuses to farmers who agree to reduce their output next year. The voluntary domestic allotment plan will be the basis of the wheat program. It will also call for organization on a county basis with other administrative activities to be decentralized as far as possible.

Tax Based on Prices.

Maximum processing taxes will represent the difference between the average current farm prices of a given commodity and the "parity" price based on prewar averages. Thus, the average farm price of cotton in May was 8.2 cents a pound and the parity price or the average from 1909 to 1914 was 12.4 cents. Cotton has since increased, the margin today beign estimated at slightly less than 4 cents.

For wheat, the May average farm price was 59 cents a bushel compared with the prewar average of 88.4 cents. Wheat also has increased somewhat in value since.

Health Walk

Results Disastrously for Doctor's Patient, Now Auto Victim.

While taking her daily walk for her health as advised by her physician, Mrs. Louise Turpin, 57, of 1264 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was struck by an automobile at Twenty-second and Q streets northwest yesterday afternoon. At Emergency Hospital it was found she had suffered a fracture of the skull. Her condition is regarded as serious.

Text of President's Note On British Debt Payment

The text of the President's statement regarding the payment of the British debt installment:

The British government has today announced a payment to the United States of $10,000,000, with a note indicating that this payment is to be considered "as an acknowledgment of the debt pending a final settlement." It has in its accompanying note pointed out circumstances that have induced it to take this action.

Such payment does not, of course, in any sense prejudice the freedom of either government in any subsequent discussion of the entire debt question, which will take account of this and other debt payments. I announced in November, 1932, a policy to the effect that a debtor may at any time approach a creditor with representations concerning the debt and to ask for readjustment of the debt or its terms of payment. Under such circumstances the debtor government makes such representations as it deems of importance with respect to the desirability of any readjustment in the terms already agreed upon.

The British government availed itself of this principle following the payment of the December 15 payment and I had informal discussions concerning the debt with the British Ambassador even before my inauguration. On the occasion of the visit of the prime minister of Great Britain in April further exploration of the subject was made by us and additional discussions were held by the experts of the two governments. Time and circumstances would not permit any definite conclusions in these discussions because at the moment both governments were vitally concerned in making preparation for the World Monetary and Economic Conference in London.

It seems the part of fairness and wisdom to postpone formal representations on the debt subject until later. Meanwhile the World Economic Conference is beginning under favorable auspices and it is vitally necessary that during the opening days of the conference difficult and possibly protracted discussion of the debt be avoided.

In a spirit of cooperation I have as Executive noted the representations of the British government with respect to the payment of the June 15 installment inasmuch as the payment made is accompanied by a clear acknowledgment of the debt itself. In view of those representations and of the payment I have no personal hesitation in saying that I do not characterize the resultant situation as a default.

Beyond this the law and the Constitution do not permit me to go. The American public understands clearly that the settlement under which these debts are now being paid was made under the authority of Congress and that Congress alone has the right to alter the amount and method of payment of this debt. Further than this, the Congress in December, 1931, in approving the moratorium in June of that year, specifically set forth that the debt should not be canceled or reduced.

Under my constitutional power, and in accordance with the terms of the policy which I have set forth, I can entertain representations of the British government concerning the entire debt settlement and the British government has requested that such opportunity be afforded. I have, therefore, suggested to them that such representations be made in Washington as soon as convenient.

As a matter of information to the American public, I want to make it clear that the Economic Conference now being held in London does not include in its program any consideration of the debts owed by various governments to the United States. The American delegates have been instructed not to discuss debts with the representatives of any of the debtor governments. This is in accordance with the further principle that I have felt important, that the debts be considered on their merits and separate from other international economic questions.

I have further informed the British government that such representations and suggestions as may be made to me by the British representatives when they discuss the problem in Washington will be submitted to the Congress for information and consideration when the Congress next meets.

COMMONS AND U. S. DELEGATES CHEER NEWS OF ARRANGEMENT

Labor spokesman, for "the realism with which he has faced the situation."

Only $7,000,000 to Be Paid.

Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal leader, expressed his "deep appreciation of President Roosevelt's action in acceding to the agreement, which was a profound relief to all."

It was indicated in the House of Commons tonight that Great Britain's $10,000,000 debt installment actually cost her around $7,000,000, inasmuch as it was tendered in silver at the rate of 50 cents an ounce, under which debt remittances were permitted under recent Congress authorization up to $200,000,000.

Mr. Chamberlain announced that the silver had been acquired from the government of India, but did not indicate the price paid. Recent prices of the metal, however, have been about two-thirds of that.

Hull Ignores Debts.

(At Washington today President Roosevelt made it clear that he "by no means concedes" some of the contentions which the British advanced as argument for debt relief.

(Some time ago the British note asked for postponement of the June 15 payment, but this was not granted, it was disclosed.

(Mr. Roosevelt informed Great Britain that he had no power to reduce the British debt and that he would submit the results of the negotiations to Congress for its information and action).

The war debt question was completely ignored today by Cordell Hull, American Secretary of State, in delivering his first address to the assembly of economic and monetary leaders.

Mr. Hull, launching the American program, announced economic nationalism and urged that the nations begin their work at London by adhering to the renewed tariff truce, to which 19 states have already announced adhesion.

Wins Much Applause.

"Has not the time come," Secretary Hull asked the conference, "for governments to cease erecting trade barriers with their excesses, rank discriminations and hate-breeding reprisals and retaliation?

"Honest intelligence now compels the admission that nations are substantially interrelated and interdependent in an economic sense.

"This conference should proclaim that economic nationalism as imposed upon the various nations is a discredited policy."

Mr. Hull was enthusiastically applauded by the congress both at the beginning and at the conclusion of his address.

Twice Mr. Hull deviated from the prepared text of his speech, first in insisting that the conference develop a will for success, and again in urging permanent stabilization of currencies.

MacDonald Follows Closely.

As Secretary Hull spoke, Prime Minister MacDonald sitting in the presidential chair near him, followed closely from the manuscript every word of the American exposition.

Adherence of 19 countries to the armistice on new import duties, renewed with the beginning of the London parley, was announced by Chairman MacDonald.

All-around observance of the tariff truce, Mr. Hull declared, would be a useful expedient as a preliminary to the later reduction of excessive tariffs which he heartily invoked.

The removal of restrictions on foreign exchanges in various countries was advocated by Secretary Hull. He also described stabilization of currencies as one of the pressing problems before the conference.

Delegations to the conference were cited by a report, issuing from French quarters, that President Roosevelt would soon seek from each debtor in turn proposals for a new settlement of war-time obligations.

Meeting With Il Duce.

Another interesting report which the statesmen at the conference heard was that Prime Minister MacDonald, Premier Daladier of France and Chancellor Hitler of Germany, would soon go to Rome to meet with Premier Mussolini in an effort to complete and put into effect the four-power peace pact.

Chances for the early de facto stabilization of the dollar and the pound, insisted upon by the French delegation as the first essential for conference success, distinctly improved today as representatives of central banks and governments concerned continued their private talks on this subject.

The British program for the conference was presented at the morning session by Chancellor Chamberlain whose pronouncements for the most part found favor in American eyes.

The economic and monetary problems must be tackled together and immediately, the British chancellor asserted.

The policy of cheap and plentiful money, supported by the American Government, was advocated by the British spokesman who urged that central banks cooperate in expanding credit and that business leaders take steps to see that available credit was used.

Stabilization Is Urgent.

Withdrawal of gold from internal circulation was described by Mr. Chamberlain as one of the prerequisites for a return to the gold standard.

Stabilization of currencies, he said, is necessary for economic recovery and should be sought at once.

He agreed with the American thesis, later expounded by Mr. Hull, that it was highly desirable to reduce excessive tariff barriers. A mere stabilization of existing obstacles to international trade, he said, is not enough.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, presented a plan for an economic nonaggression pact to the gathering, declaring that nations should recognize that the socialistic and the capitalistic systems might peacefully coexist in the world.

Russia, her spokesman asserted, is ready to go into the world markets and purchase large quantities of raw materials, railway equipment, metals, machines, textiles and other commodities. His country needs goods valued approximately at $1,000,000,000, he said.

Belgium Is Happy.

Premier Daladier of France returned to Paris today, leaving before Secretary Hull's address. Before his departure, however, he held an earnest conversation with Mr. Hull.

Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria told the conference that "every country must put its own house in order."

The diminutive Austrian spokesman joined some previous speakers in urging early settlement of the war debt problem. This question can not be solved by repeated devaluation and inflation, he said.

Herr Dollfuss, whose government is engaged in sharp conflict with Nazi groups, both at home and in Germany, closed by quoting this German proverb:

"The bravest man can not live in peace if a disagreeable neighbor will not permit him."

Foreign Minister Paul Hymans of Belgium, who was elected vice president of the conference, asserted that his country was happy to see the United States take the lead in the move for reduction of tariffs.

Dr. Edouard Benes, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, speaking on behalf of the little entente—Roumania, Jugoslavia, and his own country—called for early settlement of the war debts.

Settlement of the debt question and lowering of trade barriers were urged by the Hungarian spokesmen, Dr. Bela de Imredy, minister of finance.

Hendryk Colijn, Premier of Holland, was applauded as he took the platform. He thought that stabilization of currencies was the immediate task which the conference should attack.

BILLION-DOLLAR DAY IN TREASURY TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Another day of billion dollar business faces the Treasury today when the Government perfects its June financing, pays interest on the public debt, pays off maturing securities and collects its quarterly income tax payments.

The Treasury will sell today $500,000,000 or more in five years 2½ per cent Treasury notes and probably more than $400,000,000 in nine month ¾ per cent certificates of indebtedness. The total is expected to reach the billion-dollar mark.

At the same time, it will collect the quarterly income tax payments which are expected to amount to more than $100,000,000 and will pay off $374,000,000 of Treasury certificates of indebtedness and $104,000,000 in interest on the public debt.

The one billion dollars financing, although permitting the paying off of the maturing certificates and the interest on the public debt, will leave little more than $500,000,000 for the Treasury to use in inaugurating President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program.

The usual June 15 receipts from payments on war debts owed the United States also will be due, but Treasury officials have declined to hazard a guess on how much of the $144,179,874 will be received.

Secretary Woodin yesterday invited tenders for $100,000,000 of 91-day Treasury bills to be sold to the highest bidder next Monday. The bills will be dated June 21 and mature September 20. The money will be used to retire an equal amount of maturing bills.

Capital Students Guests of Rotary

Paying their annual tribute to the District high schools, the Washington Rotary Club yesterday was host to five outstanding high school students and a number of school officers. George M. Whitewell, past president of the club, and a member of the Board of Education, presided and introduced 26 visiting Rotarians from other States.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, introduced the following: Stephen E. Kramer, first assistant superintendent; E. N. C. Barnes, director of music; Charles Hart, principal of Eastern; Harvey A. Smith, principal of Central; F. C. Daniel, principal of McKinley; Allan Davis, principal of Roosevelt, and Elmer S. Newton, principal of Western.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

This week Friday the Ford Motor Company completes 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit——which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share——everyone must get it for himself——and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive——their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

A. Gary Carter Here To Plead Bimetalism

A. Gary Carter, one of the pioneers of the automobile industry in this city, who has been living in Miami, Fla., for a number of years, arrived in Washington yesterday to seek an audience with President Roosevelt.

Representing the Inalienable Rights Association, of which he is grand marshal, Mr. Carter will plead the cause of bimetalism and of needy war veterans. He was president of the Pioneer Motor Car Co., which manufactured the Washington automobile in 1910.

BIGGER FIREWORKS ON FOURTH PLANNED

Committee Cuts Seat Cost as First Step in Colorful Monument Fete.

The city-wide celebration of Independence Day is being planned by a committee of citizens appointed by the District Commissioners to cooperate with the Community Center department for a more colorful display of fireworks than in previous years.

A reduction in the price of seats at the Monument Grounds to 25 cents was decided at a meeting of the committee chairmen at the Franklin School Building yesterday.

S. Perry Thompson, finance committee chairman, is arranging plans for underwriting expenses of the fete. The return on the sale of seating privilege is expected to cover the major portion of the costs.

The costs of the display will have to be reduced this year as there will be no funds available, but the committee claimed that nevertheless a more brilliant show will be provided and that it would be self-supporting.

The committee will meet early next week to complete plans for the celebration. Those present at yesterday's meeting included in addition to Claude W. Owen, chairman; Mrs. Elisabeth K. Peeples, secretary, and Melvin Hazen, treasurer, the following subchairmen: Winfree E. Johnson, contests and carnivals; Harry H. R. Kelwig, fireworks; Charles W. Pimper, decoration and illumination; Albert Clyde-Burton, grounds; E. C. Snyder, invitations; Col. Peyton G. Nevitt, military, patriotic and veteran participation; Maj. Ernest Brown and Capt. Doyle O. Hickey, traffic and public safety, and A. K. Shipe, E. J. Murphy, Miss Bess Schrainer and Harold Snyder of the Community Center Department.

A. T. & T. Assails Accounting Change

Officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., yesterday opened their attack on the changes in classified accounting proposed by the Public Utilities Commission along with a group of State commissions at a resumption of a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The hearing will be continued today.

Harvey Hoshour and Edward W. Beattie, counsel, and C. A. Heiss, controller, and one of his assistants, A. B. Crunden, asked that the revised system of accounts inaugurated by the I. C. C. last January be continued and explained their objections to the State commissions' proposals in general and in detail.

Chairman Eastman, who presided, reiterated his previous ruling that the moot issue of depreciation was not a topic at the session. Dr. Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the New York Public Service Commission, spoke briefly for the commissions.

FOUR MILLION JOBS SEEN IN TRADE BILL

The bill will be signed by President Roosevelt after Congress adjourns and the posts created by it will necessarily be filled by interim appointments.

Gen. Johnson, with the aid of a corps of economists, labor students, and industrialists, is devoting himself particularly to bringing industry together soon in the trade agreements from which higher wages and shorter hours for millions of men are expected to emerge.

In another corridor Col. George R. Spalding, one of the Army Engineering Corps experts, who is to be administrator of public works under Gen. Johnson, was whipping together tentative plans.

The administration was understood to be hoping to start work on 1,000 or more projects by the latter part of July. Delegation after delegation trooped through the offices proposing construction projects, but publicity was barred until the organization has been created officially.

Secretary Perkins, in making public the employment figures, said they should not be interpreted as meaning the course out of the industrial crisis of the past years was clear.

Precipitate Decline Cited.

"A portion of the advance in May should, as was the case in April, be regarded as recovery from the precipitate decline in employment pay rolls following the bank holiday in early March.

"Purchasing power is still considerably below that needed to take care of cumulative increase in production and therefore points to the essence of the problem which has characterized the whole course of the depression.

"It is significant that the increase in wages paid exceeded substantially the increase in the number of persons employed. This means that the rise in the volume of business experienced during the month of May, 1933, has resulted in an increase in earnings of those workers already on the pay rolls of manufacturing industries."

A few hours before the issuance of the labor statistics, Harvey Firestone, jr., announced in New York that all employes of the Firestone Rubber Co. over the country would receive a 10 per cent wage increase effective today.

Equipment Industries Better.

Miss Perkins pointed out that the "striking increases during the month of May were not, as heretofore, largely limited to consumption industries, such as textiles and the like, but at this time spread also to the leading equipment industries of the country."

Employes in these, she said suffered the severest wage decline during the whole of the depression.

Of the 72 industries reporting increases in May, the most pronounced gain was 26.2 per cent in the plumbers' supplies industry.

Meanwhile the industrial recovery bill drew praise from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who said it gave "coal operators and mine workers alike, the opportunity to agree upon a uniform production cost and thus put an end to the destructive competition that found its opportunity in the spoliation of labor."

Need for World Cooperation Stressed In Text of Hull's Speech to Conference

It is appropriate that the nations should meet in this great capital to deal with the crisis which besets them all. The compelling necessity for the present meeting of chosen representatives from 66 nations has been demonstrated by disastrous experience. The whole panic-ridden world is looking to this conference for leadership with a program of basic relief and every participant here must realize at the outset that distressed peoples in every land expect concord, cooperation and constructive results from these proceedings. The success or failure of this conference will mean the success or failure of statesmanship everywhere and a failure at this crucial time would long be conspicuous in history.

It is universally agreed that economic calamity with attendant losses, sufferings and hardships unparalleled in our time have for three and a half years afflicted each nation and the world in common. Depleted treasuries, collapsed price levels, a destroyed international finance and commerce, greatly diminished domestic production and consumption, 30,000,000 of unemployed wage earners, a prostrate agriculture, universal monetary and exchange instability, mountainous debt and tax burdens constitute some of the awful panic experiences of recent years. The people of all nations now realize that despite unbounded opportunities they are actually worse off and more insecure than they were twelve years ago and that the necessity for new policies and new leadership is obvious and urgent.

Ability of Conference To Aid World Stressed.

This is a conference of representatives of sovereign governments; I have absolute faith in its complete ability, power and disposition to move the world, and this it will accomplish if it promulgates a program which, in conjunction with suitable domestic programs everywhere, will restore confidence, employment and full and stable prosperity alike in every country. We would be false to the trust reposed in us by the anxious audience of humanity everywhere if this great tribunal were complacently to adjourn with the humiliating implication that we are incapable of providing new policies at all, and that the same nation-destroying, world-wrecking economic policies that have been in operation since the war must continue.

If we are to succeed, narrow and self-defeating selfishness must be banished from every human heart within this council chamber. If, which God forbid, any nation should obstruct and wreck this great conference with the short-sighted notion that some of its favored interests might temporarily profit while thus indefinitely delaying aid for the distressed in every country, that nation will merit the execration of mankind.

Ignoring all realities, all nations have strenuously pursued the policy of economic isolation, each futilely and foolishly striving to live a hermit's life.

The cherished idea of the extreme type of isolationist that each nation singly can, by bootstrap methods, lift itself out of the troubles that surround it has proven fruitless. Each nation, by itself, can to a moderate extent restore conditions by suitable fiscal, financial and economic steps. Thus the administration of President Roosevelt has within three months adopted an effective domestic program to promote business improvement in the fullest possible measure. The equal necessity for an equally important international economic program of remedies is clear. A brief examination of existing problems and conditions and the underlying influences chiefly responsible for their creation sustains this conclusion.

National Isolationists' Viewpoint Is Deplored.

When every nation is visited by disastrous panic it is for the isolationist a mere coincidence. For him no panic has an international character, cause or cure. He credulously believes that the present depression just happened to come upon all countries at the same time and that, despite demonstrated failure to do so since 1929, each by its own local program can at will restore full prosperity.

Economic nationalism as practiced since the war comprises every known method of obstructing international capital and trade, such as high tariffs, quotas, embargoes, exchange restrictions and depreciated currencies. Many governments, by manifesto, are constantly changing their tariff and other obstructions so that their utter lack of stability is seriously destructive of business. These trade barriers inevitably caused a disastrous reaction upon production, employment, prices and distribution within the confines of every nation. Under the ravages of these combined methods of extremism uncounted millions of people are starving in some parts of the world, while other parts are glutted with vast surpluses. Raw materials are fenced off from factories, factories from consumers and consumers from foodstuffs.

How many nations can get along without world trade? The indispensable nature of international commerce is better understood when we recall that most Latin-American countries ordinarily sell abroad from 30 to 85 per cent of their total production of movable goods; England must sell 25 per cent; Germany, 30 per cent; Canada, 30 per cent; Australia, 30 per cent; New Zealand, 40 per cent, and Japan, 45 to 60 per cent. A serious decline of the international market can cause a severe impairment of the economic and financial life of these large exporting countries, and this, in turn, dislocates all foreign trade and, as has been demonstrated during this panic, cuts deeply into all production and throws tens of millions of wage earners out of employment.

The strangulation of international trade from more than $50,000,000,000, the amount it should be, according to the prewar rate of annual increase, down to a rate less than $15,000,000,000 reveals a most tragic phase of this short-sighted and ruthless policy. An international transaction has become an exception rather than rule. Each country proposes to sell but not to buy, to export but not to import, and to get rich at the expense of the other.

The inevitable effect of these contradictory practices has been to reduce to the lowest level all prices of primary commodities bought and sold in world markets, with similar effects upon commodity prices back in each country. The inability of peoples in different countries to transfer goods in payment of balances strains all domestic financial structures. Currencies and exchanges become unstable. These practices, offensive and defensive, have forced business in every nation to an artificial basis and plunged the world into economic war.

The most extreme proponents of these disastrous policies in operation during the postwar period, in a spirit of mistaken selfishness or unreasoning fear, have insisted strenuously upon the very minimum of economic contacts with other nations. Their slogan has been the talismanic word "prosperity," and each nation, living by itself, was to grow rich, and the people everywhere were to wax fat and be clothed in purple and fine linen. In their eyes, it was unpatriotic not to buy homemade goods, regardless of cost.

In the making of tariffs thought was given only to the safeguarding of the home market, even to the extent of protecting the more inefficient individual businesses, inefficient industries and industries clearly not justifiable economically. No serious thought was given the disposition of surplus production through exchanges. The home market was to be kept separate from the world market, and prices bearing no relation to those of other countries would be fixed arbitrarily within each nation.

Has not the time come for governments to cease erecting trade barriers, with their excesses, rank discriminations and hate-breeding reprisals and retaliations?

Honest intelligence now compels the admission that nations are substantially interrelated and interdependent in an economic sense, with the result that international cooperation today is a fundamental necessity. The opposing policy of self-containment has demonstrated its inability either to avoid or arrest or cure the most destroying depression in all the annals of business.

This conference should proclaim that economic nationalism as imposed upon the various nations is a discredited policy; and from those who insist that the world should continue in this discredited policy the conference must turn aside. Many measures indispensable to full and satisfactory business recovery are beyond the powers of individual states. The extreme difficulty is manifest of one nation by itself undertaking largely to reduce its tariffs or to remove exchange restrictions or to stabilize its exchange and currency or to restore the international financial credit and trade structure.

It is equally true that mutually profitable markets could only be obtained by the liberalization of the commercial policies of other countries and this is only possible by the simultaneous action of all governments stabilizing exchange and currencies and reducing to a reasonable extent trade barriers and other impediments to commerce between nations.

International Commerce Expansion Need Is Urged.

This conference must formulate plans to deal effectively with these difficulties. Satisfactory conditions of peace and prosperity and human progress itself require the maintenance of a growing international commerce. The conference must make clear whether civilized countries can ignore this economic fact and shirk the duties which such fact imposes.

Let me here reassert the principle that trade between nations does not mean the displacement of established home production and trade of one country by that of another. International trade is chiefly barter of a mutually profitable exchange of surpluses by different countries either directly or in a triangular manner. It specially contemplates too that an enterprising nation goes out into the world and locates and develops new markets for the goods it effectively produces. The gradual and careful readjustment of the excesses of tariff and other trade barriers to a moderate level would not contemplate either unreasonable or excessive competitive imports against efficient domestic industry operated under normal conditions on the one hand nor monopolistic price advantages at home on the other. This policy, if practiced generally among the nations, would insure healthier and more prosperous conditions in all industries at all efficient in every country. This broad program while disclaiming extreme economic internationalism on the one hand would challenge extreme economic nationalism on the other and launch every nation upon a sane, practical middle course. It would reciprocally supplement efficient home markets with capacious foreign markets. In no other ways half so feasible can the present thirty millions of unemployed wage earners be returned to work nor bankrupt agriculture be restored to solvency nor famished industry be brought back to normal.

The world can not go on as it is going at present. A successful meeting of this conference in my judgment is the key to widespread business recovery. While it is true that at the present time there does not exist a sufficiently informed public opinion in support of a necessary program of international economic cooperation, it is my firm conviction that the losses and sufferings of peoples in every country have been so great that they can soon be aroused into aggressive support of such a program.

The first and greatest task at the present juncture is the development here in this hall of a will and a determination on the part of nations vigorously to advocate this course. Thereafter plans and methods will readily take form. My firm prayer, therefore, is for a spirit of cooperation necessary to create a unified leadership and program in this conference that will carry hope to the unnumbered millions in distress throughout the world. A preliminary step indicative of sincere purpose would be the immediate general adherence by all the participating governments to the tariff truce already agreed to by at least a dozen countries to continue to the end of this conference. The full program should comprise a succession of methods and plans of international cooperation.

Trade Barrier Excesses "Should Be Abandoned."

All excesses in the structure of trade barriers should be removed, all unfair trade methods and practices should be abandoned, the nations should attack these conditions and problems simultaneously and by as many effective methods as we can devise. In the monetary field suitable measures must be taken to provide for an immediate policy which will give the greatest possible measure of stability for the period during which the groundwork will be laid for enduring reform. Simultaneously all the nations must stimulate the natural sources of employment, restart the wheels of industry and commerce and so build up consumer power that a rise of the price level will of necessity follow.

Then the conference must face the vexing problem of a permanent international monetary standard and lay down the proper function of the metals, gold and silver, in the operation of such a standard in the future.

Coincident with the immediate and ultimate monetary problems there is the necessity of taking measures for the removal of restrictions upon foreign exchange dealings. This may involve a balance sheet reorganization of certain countries. The American delegation is prepared to offer concrete suggestions in regard to all these questions.

The nations which sent us here are interested above all else in peace and prosperity and the prerequisites of either is a wise readjustment of economic policies. Economic conflicts, with some exceptions, are the most serious and the most permanent of all the dangers which are likely to threaten the peace of the world. Let this great conference, therefore, proceed to the herculean task of promoting and establishing economic peace which is the fundamental basis of all peace.

K. Buck Wins Point In Kidnaping Case

Barnstable, Mass., June 14 (A.P.).—Kenneth Buck, on trial charged with the kidnaping of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, left the Barnstable Superior Court smiling tonight, having won his first legal brush by the exclusion today as evidence of an alleged confession.

The alleged confession was read yesterday at a preliminary hearing, called by Judge Edward F. Hanify to decide whether it would be admitted over the objections of defense counsel.

It was brought out in the hearing yesterday and today that after Kenneth had made a series of statements to the police, State Detective Michael Barrett told Kenneth his brother, Cyril, who is on trial with him, "had told on him," and that in doing so was acting for Kenneth's own good. The detective also was quoted as saying to Kenneth he could do himself "no harm" by telling the whole story. It was after this that the disputed alleged confession was made.

Surprises Hinted In College Killing

San Jose, Calif., June 14 (A.P.).—Sheriff William J. Emig today promised "at least two surprises" at tomorrow's preliminary hearing of David Lamson, Stanford University Press sales manager, charged with the murder of his wife, Aliene Thorpe Lamson. The sheriff refused to disclose the nature of the unexpected moves.

Lamson is not expected to testify. But Edwin M. Rae, acting chief defense counsel, said today the Press executive should be his own "best witness" when he comes to trial.

Rae also discussed the possibility there may be a controversy over custody of Lamson's infant daughter, Aliene Genevieve, now in care of members of the Lamson family. Mrs. Lamson's brother, Frank C. Thorpe, jr., who arrived in Oakland today from his home at Lamar, Mo., indicated the Thorpe family was discussing plans for her custody.

Fort Hoyle Man's Death Laid to Auto Gas Fumes

Fort Hoyle, Md., June 14 (A.P.).—Fred R. Miller, 36, of the Quartermaster Corps at Fort Hoyle, was found unconscious in his garage today, apparently overcome by fumes from his automobile, and died a short time later in the station hospital.

Miller, who is survived by his wife and a child, was transferred to Fort Hoyle a month ago from the Quartermaster School in Philadelphia.

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB CAMP OPENS TODAY

The seventh National 4-H Club encampment will open at 8:30 a. m. today when Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace formally raises the camp flag, and delivers a brief address of welcome.

Club members from throughout the country will gather for the opening session. Assisting Secretary Wallace at the flag raising ceremonies will be Miss Charlotte Marshall, of Dutchess County, N. Y., and Donald B. Van Evera, of Scott County, Iowa.

Throughout the seven-day encampment the tented village of farm youngsters will arise at the sound of reveille promptly at 6 a. m. A daily assembly, club conferences and program of amusements will feature the camp routine.

Scheduled tours into nearby Maryland and Virginia, combined with sightseeing trips about the city, will hold the interest of members. Among trips planned are ones to the Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm at Beltsville, Md.; public buildings in Washington and historic sites, including Mount Vernon.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and members of the 4-H Clubs in convention here will be serenaded tonight by the Elks Boys Band in a concert to be staged at Seventh street and Constitution avenue northwest. The band will be directed by Lawrence Leer, assistant conductor.

Roper Announces 21 Offices Closed

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Roper yesterday announced the closing of 21 of the 53 foreign offices of the Department of Commerce.

Under the economy plan the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce will recall 100 members of its present staff of 168. The offices will be closed, effective June 30. Personnel separations will be effective July 31, with transportation charges back to this country being paid by the department.

The offices to be closed are as follows: Belgrade, Berne, Bucharest, Budapest, Helsingora, Lisbon, Oslo and Riga, in Europe; Caracas, Guatemala, Montevideo, San Juan and San Paulo, in Latin America; Bangkok, Hongkong, Mukden, and Wellington in the Far East; Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver in Canada, and Accra in Africa.

Purcellville Mayoralty Race Is Won by Adams

Purcellville, Va., May 14.—A. N. Adams defeated the incumbent, A. C. Norman, by a plurality of 90 votes in the mayoralty race in the annual town election here yesterday.

A. C. Bell was elected town sergeant and T. N. Carruthers, recorder. Councilmen elected were J. B. Nichols, G. J. Smith, E. E. Nichols, R. C. Steel, J. Bradley Kilgour and Dr. C. T. Herbert.

Hiker, 83, En Route to Coast.

Salt Lake City, June 14 (A.P.).—Frank Anspaugh, 83, arrived here today from Flint, Mich., from where he had hitch-hiked in the last three weeks. He is en route to the home of a daughter in Modesto, Calif. Fearing the Western deserts might prove too much for the aged hiker, police were planning to raise a fund to pay his fare to his destination.

PAYMENT TODAY BY BRITAIN IS ACCEPTED BY ROOSEVELT

some evident misunderstanding, however, in the medium of debt payment, as it was made known at the White House that the British payment would be made in currency or in United States bonds, but that in no event would a silver payment be made.

Silver Payment Promised.

However, in the House of Commons, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, explained to the members that the British government would make the remittance in silver. This would automatically assure a discount of 30 per cent in the principal value of the debt, as silver will be received here as being worth 50 cents an ounce, while in the open market the price of silver futures is approximately about 36 cents.

Payment of today's indebtedness will be a necessary prerequisite before any revision of the integral debt amount of any country can be undertaken here, it was learned inferentially at the White House. The British government is expected to begin the necessary negotiations anticipatory to the final debt settlement as soon as the President has returned from his New England holidays. This will be about August 1 or shortly before. Only those countries can be admitted to the debt revision conversations which have satisfied their debt obligations to this country today. This will probably provoke a rush among those chancelleries who have deliberately overlooked the June 15 payment, as being part of a dead understanding that was already without force or effect.

The President feels that out of deference to the spirit of the World Economic Conference going on in London all discussion of the debts should be now avoided.

Answer to MacDonald.

In his statement the President also took occasion to remark pointedly to the American people, but still more so to the attention of the British government, that "the economic conference now being held in London does not include in its program any consideration of the debts owed by various governments to the United States." Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had committed the diplomatic indiscretion of bringing into the atmosphere of the conference a mention of debts and their solution, which undoubtedly provoked the President's observation yesterday.

The British note reveals the general trend of the negotiations that have been going on here for the last month. The initial objective of the British demarche was a general debt-paying holiday, similar to the tariff truce and the armament truce offered by the American delegations to London and Geneva. This was rejected, and the next best proposal was made by the British government and was finally accepted by the President after several eleventh-hour alterations. The proposal of the foreign office was similar in its reservations to the December 15 payment, with regard to its inclusion in the general war debt account. No acceptance of this view was, however, indicated in the President's note.

Action of Roumania

Senator Johnson, jealous protector of the rights of Congress and the nature of the bond in the entire war debts transaction, outlined a vigorous protest to the debt settlement, however. The senator from California who had supported President Roosevelt against his own party's nominee last autumn, said:

"I yield to no man in respect, admiration and affection for the occupant of the White House. But this thing has gone beyond dollars and cents." The California senator described the action of Prime Minister MacDonald at London as presenting a picture of "the debtor denouncing his creditor in a world forum."

The other payments that are to be made today were at a late hour last night still in doubt. What had happened to the Roumanian debt payment may very well occur to others. The Roumanian Minister, Charles A. Davila had called at the Department of State two days ago to forecast the payment by his government of the Roumanian increment of $1,000,000. Corroboratory cables confirmed this statement from Bucharest and London. This in itself was a notable achievement because it marked the schism that had split the Gallic bloc in Central Europe and the Balkans. Other French countries in southeastern Europe were not paying, but Roumania was.

Repudiation of Debts.

Evidently responding to pressure from the Quai d'Orsay, the Roumanian finance minister yesterday announced that Roumania would not pay, that this had been decided upon in the agrarian conference of wheat producing countries in Bucharest June 4 and that the Roumanian delegate to the economic conference had been selected to bear the tidings to the conference. The import of the Roumanian message to the London conference was a renunciation of the present capacity to pay, and a repudiation of all war debts.

In this fashion France, Belgium, Jugoslavia, Roumania and probably Poland will not pay today. The Italian payment will be made in a reduced percentage of the British payment and will in no event be more than 10 per cent. This will amount to approximately $1,384,000 and will confirm, in fact, the ratio existing as a result of the Lausanne conference between the allied countries and Germany last year.

Miss Catherine Gosnell, 'Queen's' Maid, Married

Miss Catherine Gosnell, maid of honor of the Piedmont Dairy Festival at Manassas, Va., last year, and a member of this year's graduating class at Washington-Lee High School, at Ballston, Va., was secretly married to Frank Bradley, of Cherrydale, Va., in Baltimore, on June 2, it was learned by their friends yesterday.

Mrs. Bradley is the daughter of Fred A. Gosnell, Arlington County Commissioner and prominent realtor at Clarendon. She received her diploma at the graduating exercises Tuesday.

Mr. Bradley is associated with Mr. Gosnell in his real estate business. He is 19 years old and his wife is 18.

MILITIAMEN GUARD GEORGIA TREASURY

Atlanta, June 14 (A.P.).—Militiamen guarded Georgia's treasury tonight to prevent the highway board from getting money to pay its debts until it meets demands of Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

The executive's demands are that five highway engineers be fired. The board refused to fire them, so the governor tied up all highway funds and no employe of that department has been paid since last April.

The secret of the guard—soldiers serving as civilian sentries to protect more than $2,000,000 in highway funds—was revealed today after Gov. Talmadge arrived in New York to make a speech under auspices of the Sons of the Revolution. The posting of the sentries at the treasury was a mystery until a high authority said the governor had ordered withdrawal of the funds from banks and their deposit in the State treasury.

He and his advisers considered it possible that the board might seek the funds by Federal injunction, so Georgia's military was instructed to keep the money in the treasury until the governor said otherwise.

Work Starts Soon On 32 New Ships

(Associated Press.)

The Navy's plans for 32 new ships—including at least one of a class never before launched—are ready for a quick start on construction. With the industrial public works bill passed, the Navy will soon have $46,000,000 as the first installment of a three-year $230,000,000 building program authorized by that measure.

Officials expect designs to be in shape for awarding contracts on many of the 32 ships within two to three months. These will include 20 destroyers, four submarines, two aircraft carriers of 13,500 tons, and, most important of all, say naval designers, four 6-inch gun, 10,000-ton cruisers. One or more of the 6-inch cruisers will be what Navy officers call "hybrid"—half cruiser, half airplane carrier.

Armed with about half as many offensive guns as the ordinary cruiser, the hybrid will carry a dozen or more airplanes. Its primary use will be for scouting. It will be nearly as fast as an ordinary airplane carrier—almost 35 knots—and so much smaller that it can dart about the sea with less danger of being spotted by bigger vessels.

Bank Official Is Dead.

Tulsa, Okla., June 14 (A.P.).—Robert Payne Brewer, 56, former president of the First National Bank of Tulsa and more recently senior vice president of the Manufacturers' Trust Co. of New York, died here today of a bronchial infection. He left Tulsa for New York three years ago, but returned recently because of illness.

POLLARD PRESENTS MEDAL TO PERSHING

Precedent Set as Award Is Made to One Never a Virginia Governor.

The Distinguished Service Medal of Virginia yesterday was awarded to Gen. John J. Pershing by Gov. Pollard in a ceremony at the War Department.

It was the first time that the medal has ever been conferred upon any one other than a governor of the State of Virginia.

Secretary of War Dern, Assistant Secretary Woodring and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, attended the ceremony. The medal was given by the military board of Virginia "in recognition of Gen. Pershing's leadership, ability and forcefulness—under whom Virginia's troops were proud to serve in France and to contribute to the victory of the allied armies."

Gen. Pershing in accepting the medal stated that: "Virginia always has been a martial State. It not only has been the mother of Presidents, but the mother of our greatest generals."

Retired Army officers in command of divisions in which Virginia soldiers fought in the war will likewise receive the Distinguished Service Medal of the State. They are Maj. Gen. Charles G. Morton and Maj. Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite, of the Twenty-ninth Division and the Eightieth Division, respectively. Marshal Petain, of France, under whom Virginia soldiers also served, also will receive the decoration.

Germans Expel Austrian Priest

Berlin, June 14 (A.P.).—Dr. Erwin Wasserbaeck, a Catholic priest who headed the Austrian legation's press department, was expelled today from Germany.

The priest had been aroused from his sleep during the night and placed under arrest by orders of Prussian Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering in retaliation for the arrest in Vienna yesterday of Theodore Habicht, press attache at the German legation in Austria.

It was learned later that Dr. Wasserbaeck has been appointed by his government as counsellor and head of the press department by the Austrian legation at London and probably will leave for the British capital tomorrow. Habicht's arrest resulted from a series of raids on Nazi quarters in Austria. He was adviser to the Austrian Nazi party.

Former Cherrydale Man Held in Shortage

San Francisco, June 14 (A.P.).—Harmon B. Green, San Francisco insurance man and former Cherrydale, (Va.) banker, waived preliminary examination on a grand theft charge and was ordered held for trial here today.

He was arrested yesterday on the complaint of an insurance company which alleged he was $4,000 short in his accounts.

CAPITAL MAN HEADS U. S. TRADE BOARD

C. W. Hunt Honored at 1933 Meeting; D. A. DeVane Is Named Treasurer.

Charles W. Hunt, of Washington, former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, yesterday was elected president of the United States Board of Trade at the annual meeting of that organization here. Dozier A. DeVane, local attorney, was named treasurer.

Sessions were held all through yesterday in the auditorium of the Brookings Institution. Other officers elected included Rudolph Spreckels, of California, chairman of the executive committee; former Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa, general counsel; Clark C. Hardeman, Missouri, executive vice president; former Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia, New York, vice president; Burnet R. Maybank, South Carolina, vice president, and C. A. Cargill, Oklahoma, vice president.

Speakers included Messrs. Brookhart, Spreckels and Maybank. Mr. Brookhart declared speculation was the cause of the economic difficulties of the nation and urged strong legislative measures to curb business gambling in the future. Mr. Spreckels discussed the part business will play in the economic recovery.

The organization went on record as being "diametrically opposed to the idea of special privileges or the centralized control of our national resources and finances in the hands of a few. . . ."

The organization adopted a constitutional declaration which declared that "there is no hope for normal prosperity or National happiness until the seat of government is transferred from "Wall Street" back to Washington, D. C.

Cottonseed Crush Is 4,286,077 Tons

(Associated Press.)

Cottonseed crushed in the 10-month period, August 1 to May 31, was reported yesterday by the Census Bureau to have aggregated 4,286,077 tons, compared with 5,124,180 tons for the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills May 31 was 647,894 tons, compared with 400,375 tons a year ago.

Cottonseed products manufactured in the 10-month period and on hand May 31 were:

Crude oil produced, 1,357,271,231 pounds, compared with 1,624,387,547, and on hand, 81,279,178 pounds, compared with 86,134,000.

Refined oil produced, 1,144,818,411 pounds, compared with 1,396,832,766, and on hand, 779,446,874 pounds, compared with 707,438,903.

Cake and meal produced, 1,938,871 tons, compared with 2,307,690, and on hand, 207,179 tons, compared with 149,548.

Society to Disseminate Truth Regarding India

Stevers M. Wright, chairman of the Friends of India Society, recently formed in this city, announced yesterday that the purpose of the organization was to disseminate truthful information about India and to fight all untruthful propaganda about that country.

Mr. Wright stated that there were scoffers who would judge India by tribal practices that are almost, if not completely, in discard.

NAVAL CUSTOM HIT IN AKRON TRAGEDY

bers of the committee and introduced simultaneously in both houses late yesterday.

Neither Senator King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the committee, nor Senator Johnson (Republican), California, signed the report.

Mr. King said he intended to enter a minority report to show the "folly" of several of the majority recommendations as soon as he had reviewed the testimony.

"After hastily reading the conclusions," he said, "I find I do not agree with most of them. I shall, as soon as Congress adjourns, prepare my own report and not rely on the report made by Col. Henry Breckinridge, the committee counsel."

Saying that experienced men were available, the general committee called attention to the need of such personnel in managing "the experimental and highly specialized airship."

"The Navy Department has not operated its air service in compliance with the spirit * * * of the act entitled 'An act to authorize the construction and procurement of aircraft and aircraft equipment in the Navy and Marine Corps, and to adjust and define the status of the operating personnel in connection therewith,' * * * and this fact contributed to the loss of the Akron."

In the main report, made public last week, the committee took occasion to cite evidence criticizing the Naval policy requiring alternate sea and air duty for advancement of officers.

It was to this portion of the evidence that the committee referred in stating the Navy had not operated in accordance with the spirit of the act of 1926 providing for the Navy Air Division.

Commander Herbert V. Wiley, who spent weeks in describing before various investigatory groups his experiences in the Akron crash and his beliefs as to its causes, has been transferred to sea duty. The Navy announced the shift almost simultaneous with the publication of the committee's first report.

In its supplementary report, the committee set forth four points recommended for "energetic study" by the Navy:

1. Equipment of training ships with duplicate controls to add to training of air officers.
2. The use of stabilizers on airships.
3. Means to determine the draft of airships under adverse weather conditions.
4. Means to determine more accurately the altitude of airships.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY.

SURVEY of budgets of families of Federal employes in 1928 shows that the Federal employe's family spends the annual income in different manner from what is accepted as the standard and the official index of cost of living reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The report on expenditures of Federal employes also was prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It was done at the request of the Personnel Classification Board as part of the Welch act of 1928. The Personnel Classification Board made a survey of the field services as a basis for classifying those positions similar to the departmental services in Washington. The survey included data on incomes and expenses of the families of 800 Federal employes in the lower-salaried groups in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, New York and New Orleans. The families studied were those of which the salary of the husband was under $2,500 a year. The average family income was $2,498, of which $1,800 represented Government salary of the husband.

Striking differences are found in a comparison of the two types of budgets. Compared with the official index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Federal employes were found to be spending a smaller percentage for food and clothing but a larger percentage for housing and miscellaneous.

The Federal employes spent 30 per cent of their budgets for housing while the official index allows only 13.4 per cent for that purpose. The families living in rented homes range from 41 per cent in Baltimore to 95 per cent in New York. The families who had bought their homes attempted a higher standard of housing than those who rented. The report states that "in some instances the living quarters were crowded and were undesirable places in which to rear families, but necessity compelled the family to live in such surroundings because the rents were low and car fares could be saved."

OUTSTANDING facts concerning the conditions among these Federal employes were summarized by the Bureau of Labor Statistics as follows:

"The Government salary constitutes 78 per cent of the total family income in New Orleans. In other cities it was still lower, being only 68 per cent in Chicago."

"In the several cities from 18 to 33 per cent of the husbands in the Federal families do outside work to add to the family income."

"From 18 to 32 per cent of these Government employes' wives go out from the home to work elsewhere for money."

"Only from 2 to 10 per cent of the families live within the Government salary of the husband."

"Only from 10 to 20 per cent of all families had a Government salary after July 1, 1928 (Welch act), sufficient to meet expenses equal to those of the year just ending."

"Some families are helped by relatives and friends, by gifts of food, clothing and other things."

VICE PRESIDENT JOHN NANCE GARNER has set a commendable example. He has refused, while holding Government office, to make contracts with commercial concerns and thus capitalize his position. With no disposition to detract from his originality of self-determination, Swarmi Fedd, while law-book searching lately, has detected in the Revised Statutes a relegated provision of law—the act of March 3, 1917. It provides, in essence, that "no employe to receive other than Government salary for services."

Further, it is "provided that on and after July 1, 1919, no Government official or employe shall receive any salary in connection with his services as such an official or employe from any source other than the Government of the United States, except as may be contributed out of the treasury of any State, county or municipality, and no person, association or corporation shall make any contribution to, or in any way supplement the salary of, any Government official or employe for the services performed by him for the Government of the United States. Any person violating any of the terms of this proviso shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000 or imprisonment for not less than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment as the court may determine."

I am writing you a few lines to inform you of a pleasant surprise accorded to two of the yard's electrical experts last Saturday.

Roscoe Cameron and Thomas Crane had just completed a large order of re-electrifying the Broadside Mount Shop when they were met by a committee of the men in the shop who appreciated the fine work which they had just completed and presented them with a hand-made, painted and decorated receiver.

The presentation speech was made by Barney Puckett, and in reply Mr. Cameron thanked the men on behalf of Mr. Crane and himself. Mr. Crane was too overcome to reply.

The Sirovich resolution creating a liaison officer is dead.

The resolution met its doom when the Senate conferees failed to include it as part of the industrial recovery act, passed by both houses. With no other major legislation left on which to tag the resolution, the measure automatically dies, although Representative Sirovich announced he intended to offer the resolutiln as an independent measure.

Representative Connery, Massachusetts, asking why the Sirovich resolution was not included in the conference report on the industrial recovery act, Representative Treadway explained the Senate conferees did not insist upon its inclusion.

Yesterday Senator La Follette said he had often suspected that conferees failed to "stand by" their instructions, and that this was "the first time" he had evidence of that fact. Senator Harrison offered the observation that La Follette's view was at variance with the facts, whereupon the Wisconsin lawmaker said Treadway's statement must be in error if Harrison's statement was correct.

The upshot of it all is that Federal workers will not have a liaison officer.

Federal Trade Commission's Petrascom dinner-dance and swimming party will be the high spot of the evening at the Shoreham the evening of June 22. Miss Alta Smith, social chairman, will have the aid of Misses Jane Herrity, Margaret Herrity, Genevieve Smith, Emma Greer, Rex Ott and President S. D. Mayers in perfecting details of the party. Petrascom always arranged a delightful party for its members.

What to Do?

Something should be done about this:

Albert Gamse, Regional Information, Commerce, had an auto. "Had" is just the word. First, someone stole the wheels and that means tires, too. Second, some other someone sneaked two suitcases of clothing from the car.

And least, but not last, we're afraid, Albert's lights went out while the car was parked in front of a cafe. At least, someone grabbed the bulbs from the headlights.

If Congress were not so busy getting ready to enjoy a vacation, we'd suggest some sort of a law on this. But, on second thought, we are mindful that Al is a Government employe, so, of course, the bill would be ignored or vetoed.

CHASE C. GOVE, Deputy Second Assistant Postmaster General, has been replaced by Jesse M. Donaldson, postoffice inspector in charge, Chattanooga. Mr. Gove has been Deputy Second Assistant Postmaster General since July, 1924. He becomes assistant general superintendent, railway mail service.

Also Stephen A. Cisler becomes superintendent, air mail service, replacing Earl B. Wadsworth, who becomes assistant superintendent, railway mail service. Mr. Cisler comes from Fort Worth, where he has been assistant superintendent, air mail. He has had 38 years 6 months continuous postoffice service. He was postal agent for the United States in Siberia during the war.

It will be pretty nice for a Government clerk who has suffered a drastic pay cut to learn to forget all about pay and material things and just warble to his wife and kids, "Let's all sing like the birdies sing! Tweet, tweet, tweet!"

And now, if the boys and girls in the service don't care for the birdie song, they can burst forth into a Tin-pan Alley crescendo and sing my couplet:

Let's strum our ukeleles and let the saxophones play,
For sweet Orpheus will sing our pay-cuts away.

MR. AND MRS. DON GATLING.

"DOT" DAY and "Don" Gatling surprised the Federal Trade Commission by taking the plunge at Biloxi, Miss.—not in the Gulf however, but into the Sea of Matrimony—on Sunday afternoon.

"Dot" was supposed to be on a vacation for a few days, visiting at her home in Bethlehem, Pa. Don is on a field trip for the commission.

Apparently "Don" found the trip rather lonely, so he called "Dot" by telephone from Biloxi, whereupon "Dot" slipped away very quietly on Friday night. She informed no one but her sisters of her whereabouts, or of the true purpose of her trip, until after the knot was tied.

The couple are very popular at the commission. Dot is secretary of the Petracom and Don is a member of the champion bowling team (the Eagles), which team won the silver cup for the F. T. C. League during the past season. Don had the highest single score for the season.

LEAGUERS IN ACTION.

Federal Unionists have signed Johnny Manners (*), Naval Hospital, lefthander, for the second-half series of the Departmental League.

Lem Owen, star pitcher with G. P. O., has asked his release unconditionally from the Departmental leaders, the Federal News says. Owen's complaint is that he doesn't see enough action—the old sandlot story. Should G. P. O. cut the veteran loose, he probably will go to Agriculture or Federal Unionists.

Rush Buckley and E. K. Baldwin, G. A. O., are latest entries to the Federal Duplicate Contract Pair tournament slated for the Federal clubhouse June 20 under Federal Bridge League and Federal News auspices.

Maybe you didn't hear about that hole-in-one made by Ernest Campbell (), Internal Revenue, on the Indian Spring golf course Saturday. Others playing are A. L. Duncan (), Internal Revenue; W. B. Murray, Justice, and J. L. Acuff, Justice.

Miss Emily Towles, Personnel Office, F. and D. C., Commerce, has been nominated as one of the busiest workers in the building, what with receiving applications for work in the Industry Recovery Board. And she'd have been even busier had she not had the help at intervals of Mrs. Mary Hunt.

BRAZIL PLANS SALE OF BIG COFFEE CROP

Rio de Janeiro, June 14 (A.P.).—Brazil, with a bumper coffee crop coming up, hopes to sell 18,000,000 stacks abroad in the crop year from July, 1933, to June, 1934.

If this can be accomplished it will place its long-burdened coffee industry in better shape than it has been in in several years.

The new crop is estimated at 26,000,000 bags, which means that if 18,000,000 can be exported, only 8,000,000 will be left over.

Handling Is Possible.

The 8,000,000, although not far short of the total production outside Brazil, could be handled without too much trouble. The government in two years has destroyed more than 16,000,000 sacks of previous surpluses.

Exports in 1932, slack because the Sao Paulo rebellion closed up Santos for three months, were only 12,000,000.

The Government coffee department has adopted a program whereby 30 per cent of the new crop, especially higher grades, will be given free access to the markets. Thirty per cent will be retained temporarily in interior and 40 per cent will be bought up by the coffee department at relatively low prices.

Coffee in Interior.

The retained coffee in the interior will be freed as transportation and market conditions warrant and the 40 per cent purchased by the Government, which some newspapers are calling the "quota of sacrifice," will be disposed of as the department sees fit.

The department now is purchasing surpluses left over from the present and previous crops, to leave the way clear for the new crop in July. The Sao Paulo Coffee Institute has urged that the Government speed its destruction program to get the hangover not only off the market, but out of the way.

The institute pointed out that on April 30 nearly 16,000,000 surplus sacks remained in warehouses. Even accounting for May and June exports, the remainder is considerable.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY NOW OWES $528,642

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic national committee reported to Congress yesterday that on May 31 it had a balance of $44,051 in its treasury, but unpaid obligations amounting to $528,642.

From March 1 to the end of May, the committee reported, expenditures were $301,143, while receipts were $345,195.

Among the listed contributors of the bigger sums were Thomas L. Chadbourne, of New York, $10,000; Irenee Dupont, Wilmington, Del., $5,000; the late Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, $15,000.

The report also showed that President Roosevelt's trip to Miami, Fla., cost $2,814, and that toward the expenses of that trip the President personally paid $963.70.

Among those from whom the committee reported it had borrowed money not yet repaid on May 31 were: John J. Raskob, $80,250; Joseph P. Kennedy, New York, $45,000; Henry Morgenthau, $10,000; R. W. Morrison, San Antonio, $25,000; De Lancey Kountze, New York, $5,000; Breckinridge Long, Washington, $10,000; M. L. Benedum, Pittsburgh, $17,500; W. K. Vanderbilt, $10,000; Vincent Astor, $10,000; R. H. Gore, Chicago, $10,000; Howard Bruce, Baltimore, $10,000, and Robert B. Meyer, New York, $10,000.

Power Production Largest in Years

New York, June 14 (A.P.)—Electric power output last week rose 7.4 per cent over the same period last year, the largest gain since 1929. The report also marked the sixth consecutive week of gain over last year.

The week's production, according to the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,541,713,000 kilowatt hours against 1,461,488,000 in the previous week and 1,435,471,000 in the like 1932 period. In exceeding by a considerable margin the output of the previous week and the corresponding week last year, production was carried to the highest level since the week before Christmas last year.

The most striking gains in production were in the central industrial region, which was 10 per cent above the 1932 week as against the previous week's increase of 7.3 per cent, and New England with an improvement of 14.5 per cent compared with a 12.1 per cent rise in the preceding week. Other geographical regions showed as follows: Middle Atlantic, up 7.2 per cent against a rise of 7.1 per cent in the previous week; Southern states, 10.9 per cent increase against 12.9 per cent increase; Pacific Coast 5.3 per cent decrease against a 2.3 per cent decrease.

TRADE TRENDS.
(Associated Press.)

Tin plate—Reports from leading manufacturing centers indicate a high rate of output, and suggest the likelihood of an upward revision in prices at termination of present contracts in line with higher prices for pig tin.

Cotton yarns—Carded knitting yarns have attracted heavy buying in the last month and spinners are said to be in a highly favorable position as regards orders in hand.

Upholstery fabrics—Leading manufacturers are reported to have advanced prices an average of 10 per cent effective immediately. Mill bookings are said to be the largest for any period so far this year.

Canned foods—The market is quieter, although the price structure remains firm. Both buyers and sellers are reluctant to make important contracts pending the outcome of Washington developments.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Universal Leaf Tobacco Co. today declared an extra dividend of $1 on the common stock. A statement by the company said that indicated earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30 would be "in excess of $6 a share." A regular quarterly disbursement of 50 cents was also voted. Both dividends are payable August 1 to holdings of record July 19.

The oil trade is expecting an advance in the price of both east Texas and midcontinent crude by a major company.

The New York Cocoa Exchange today rescinded its order for Saturday closing during the summer, deciding to remain open on Saturdays during July and the remainder of June.

General Motors Corporation had 348,224 holders of common stock and 17,860 owners of its preferred shares for the second quarter of this year. These totals compare with 354,516 and 17,768, respectively, for the first quarter.

Atlas Corporation, an investment trust, has made tenders to stockholders of several of its subsidiaries for their holdings in those companies in exchange for common stock or option warrants of Atlas. The companies concerned are: American, British & Continental Corporation, Aviation Securities Corporation, Chain Store Stocks, Inc., Federated Capital Corporation, National Securities Investment Co., and Securities-Allied Corporation.

'Demon' Frogs on Exhibit

The first specimens of Puerto Rico's "demon" frog—the mere sight of which, many of the natives believe, is fatal to a human being—have just been brought to the Smithsonian Institution.

The tiny creature was first discovered last year by Maj. Chapman Grant, grandson of Gen. U. S. Grant. Before he obtained a living specimen, the frog was known only as a weird voice issuing from wild mountain gullies.

"One can hear from the surface of a mountain gully," he says, "a most melodious note coming from the depths. A sweet liquid sound comes from the gloomy caves, echoes, re-echoes and is repeated. The guajone is only a voice, the natives say. One might as well try to bribe a mountaineer to catch a ghost as a guajone."

Gerrit S. Miller, of the Smithsonian, declares of the creatures: "To the natives they are objects of dread. One man said they were about a foot long and armed with frightful teeth. Another assured me that anyone who saw one would die afterward."

This fear, Mr. Miller found, extended even to the dead animals in the collector's bottle, but the largest of them was less than 2 inches long.

REND TELLS COURT OF STOCK DEALINGS

Mrs. Mitchell's Brother Is Defense Witness at Tax Trial.

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Joseph P. Rend, of Chicago, testifying in defense of his brother-in-law, Charles E. Mitchell, told a Federal court jury today he had offered to finance his sister, the former banker's wife, in the purchase of a block of National City Bank shares.

"I saw Mrs. Mitchell at the Drake Hotel in Chicago November 12 and 13, 1929," he said. "I told her I thought she ought to buy some National City Bank stock. 5,000 or 10,000 shares. And I offered to finance her."

"How much were you worth then, Mr. Rend?" asked Mitchell's attorney, Max D. Steuer.

"About $10,000,000," the witness answered. "I had $1,000,000 lying in the Continental Bank in Chicago and $300,000 in the National Bank of the Republic in Chicago."

Sale by Mitchell to his wife of 18,300 shares of National City Bank stock in December, 1929, is the basis of one of the Government's charges. The Government contends the sale was not bona fide and was made to show a loss in Mitchell's income.

Rend told of urging his sister again in December, 1929, to buy the stock, adding he then had 17,000 shares and planned to buy 3,000 more.

"The next time I talked with her about the National City Bank stock," he said, "was in the fall of 1930. She told me she was deeply worried, that she had purchased a very considerable amount of National City Bank stock and had suffered severe losses.

"I was very much embarrassed because I had suggested that she buy it."

Minister of Finance Studies Bank Projects

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale
now at this LOW price!

TODAY you will find America's fine ginger ale—the only nationally known brand that comes in full pint bottles (16 oz.)—at this attractive low price. The same mellow, sparkling blend...the same rare flavor...the same delightful taste that has been appreciated by millions for so many years.

You may pay slightly more at times when icing, delivery or other extra services are rendered.

A 3-bottle premium in EVERY DOZEN

Remember—there is more in Clicquot's 16-ounce bottles than in the 12-ounce bottles of other nationally advertised ginger ales—much more! The equivalent of 3 extra pint bottles (16 oz.) in every dozen.

Stocks' Rally Reduces Loss On Heavy Realizing Drives

Speculation Slows Up; Lighter Turnover of 5,570,695 Shares.

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Most of the speculative markets were reactionary today. Stocks met heavy realising and, although they found enough strength for an afternoon rally, the close was largely lower.

Share traders were apparently more interested in protecting recent profits than in the day's business news, which reported further gains by basic industries.

The market developed considerable momentum on the downside during the morning when the tape recorded numerous 1 to 3 point declines. Tuesday's late selling seemed to have been taken as a signal for caution, but selling slackened soon after noon and the decline was more than made up.

However, fluctuations became erratic again toward the finish, leaving a moderate net loss as the average change for leading issues. Sales totaled 5,570,695 shares.

Word that the railroad executives were moving for a 12½ per cent wage cut found carrier issues fairly steady and they were little changed on the day. Industrials dipped, especially in the tobacco section; utilities accomplished little either way. Consolidated Gas lost a point, while American Telephone and North American were fractionally higher.

Losses amounting to about half a point were the rule for U. S. Steel, Union Carbide, Bethlehem, General Motors, Harvester and Allied Chemical. American Tobacco "B," Woolworth, American Can, Youngstown Sheet, Continental Can, Westinghouse, United Aircraft, Corn Products and Owens-Illinois lost a point or slightly more. Johns-Manville was sturdy, up 5 at one time and holding most of the rise. National Distillers and Chrysler also ran counter to the trend. Case and General Electric finished unchanged.

Markets eyed both Washington and London for light on debt and currency developments, but learned nothing definite on either subject before it was time to go home, although it was reported in London that a Washington conference on the debts was likely. Meanwhile, the dollar wobbled.

Stocks are now rounding out the second month of the spring "bull market" without having encountered a reaction worth noticing. Recent signs of wavering have been regarded by some observers as evidence that a correction was brewing and brokers report a rather sizable volume of "stop-loss" orders, many of which were touched off today.

Stocks.

Realizing drives forced stocks down, but rallies trimmed losses to an average of nine-tenths of a point. The sales turnover was 5,570,695 shares.

Bonds.

Secondary issues declined under profit taking. The market sagged five-tenths of a point. Sales decreased to $15,075,000.

Curb.

Wheat.

Pessimism on the outcome of the Economic Conference caused active selling and a drop in wheat. Other grains followed the decline. July wheat sold at 75¾ to 78⅞ cents.

Cotton.

A steady tone followed fluctuations and early losses were trimmed by a rally. The market closed 1 point up to 2 points down. October sold at 9.23. Liverpool prices were lower.

Bond Prices Yield Under Profit Sales

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Secondary issues, subjected to considerable profit-taking, gave the bond market a rather heavy appearance today.

The trading volume was somewhat under that of yesterday, sales totaling $15,075,000, par value. The average for 70 domestic corporate loans declined half a point.

The more speculative bonds apparently followed the erratic movement of stocks, reflecting uncertainties surrounding the London economic conference, war debt payments and the prolonging of the congressional session.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Owing to favorable war debt developments, gilt-edged and British securities improved generally in a quiet and cheerful session of the Stock Exchange today. Kaffirs and foreign stocks, especially German shares, were steadily supported. Transatlantic issues were inclined toward irregularity, while rubber shares were depressed on liquidation. The market closed steady.

Paris—The bourse was generally steady today, being supported by firmness in Rio tintos, the strength in rentes and the buying of traders of gilt-edged securities. However, after some profit taking on the eve of midmonth liquidation, the market closed irregular.

Berlin—Prices on the bourse were practically unchanged today.

Freight Loadings of Nation Continue Steady Increase

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—New York Central System's car loadings last week totaled 92,238, an increase of 17.9 per cent over a year ago. In the previous week the percentage of gain was 20.8.

Traffic handled by all reporting carriers for the week ended June 10 was above the figures for the previous week, which covered Memorial Day, and generally maintained the improvement over 1932.

Loadings of other roads, with comparisons for a year ago, included Missouri Pacific, 20,010 against 17,917; International-Great Northern, 6,290 against 3,343; Gulf Coast Lines, 2,409 against 3,370; Missouri-Kansas-Texas, 6,717 against 6,852; St. Louis-San Francisco, 12,341 against 11,385; St. Louis Terminal Car Interchanges, 33,570 against 30,428. The Pennsylvania System's loadings for the week totaled 80,899 cars compared with 79,596 in the previous week and 79,445 in the like 1932 period.

Steel Prices Unchanged

Curb Drifts Lower In Spite of Upturn

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—The curb market fluctuated erratically today and prices closed generally lower. Uncertainty was indicated at the start of trading, but prices firmed later in the morning only to droop rather sharply in the afternoon. An upturn in the final hour, however, canceled or reduced numerous losses.

Oils were heavy in spots. Mining shares were fractionally lower. Turnover approximated 1,080,000 shares.

THE METAL MARKETS.

WHEAT VALUES DROP ON LONDON OUTLOOK

Fears of Economic Outcome Cause Selling; Other Grains Lower.

Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—Active selling based largely on pessimism as to the outcome of the World Economic Conference led to about 2 cents break in wheat prices today.

Argentine Senate approval of opposition to world conference moves toward wheat acreage curtailment had a pronounced bearish effect, together with sharp downturns of British exchange. Cool temperatures over domestic winter wheat territory and less favorable crop reports from various important sections, tended also to drag values down.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 to 1½ cents under yesterday's finish; corn, ½ to 1⅝ off; oats, showing ⅜ to ⅝ decline, and provisions lower, 12 to 20 cents.

Economic Parley Effects.

From the outset, uncertainties of the London Economic Conference tended to put the wheat market under heavy selling pressure and gave emphasis to 6 points fall in sterling. At times also, weakness of the New York Stock Market had an evident unsettling influence on wheat and other grains. Lowest prices of the day in wheat were reached in the final hour, and at no time was there evidence of any great power to rally.

Canadian advices that wheat in large areas of Saskatchewan Province was suffering from root rot had only a transient stimulating effect.

In some quarters a fractional recovery of the wheat market during the final quarter of an hour was associated with announcement by the chancellor of the British exchequer that England was prepared to cooperate in regulating wheat supplies.

Corn and oats closely followed wheat action. Corn belt weather conditions were favorable and primary receipts both of corn and oats were liberal.

LATE COTTON RALLY CUTS EARLY LOSSES

October Sells at 9.53 With General Market Mixed at Closing.

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—While fluctuations were somewhat irregular, the cotton market showed a fairly steady undertone today, with early declines followed by rallies on trade buying and covering.

After selling off to 9.48 at the start, October firmed up again, closing at 9.53. The general market closed steady, unchanged to 1 point higher to 2 points lower.

Initial prices were 5 to 8 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, followed by liquidation and scattered selling, coming partly from the South.

Offerings increased after the publication of the weekly weather report, which evidently made a favorable impression on sentiment, and the market eased off to 9.16 for July and 9.37 for December, or about 7 to 13 points net lower.

Steady on Closing.

However, the market was steady during the afternoon on covering or rebuying by some of the earlier sellers. July closed at 9.27 and December at 9.37, or about 8 to 12 points up from the lows.

Business was comparatively quiet, with the market sensitive to moderate orders either way. The report of the Census Bureau placing domestic consumption for May at 630,909 bales was slightly below the forecast, but without appreciable effect on the market.

Liverpool cables were lower than due on the New York close of yesterday with allowances for sterling, but a steady market was reported there with traders apathetic and inclined to await further incentives. Exports today 19,336, making 7,486,623 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,536. U. S. port stocks, 5,731,412.

Exports of Grain Up 53,000 Bushels

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States were 232,000 bushels against 179,000 the previous week and 2,541,000 bushels during the corresponding week of last year.

The Commerce Department yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those for the week before. Wheat, 4,000 bushels against 5,000; barley, 152,000 against 54,000; corn, 40,000 against 112,000; oats, 33,000 against 8,000; rye, 3,000 against none.

Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports amounted to 395,000 bushels against 880,000 the previous week while exports of North American wheat flour were 89,000 barrels against 89,000 barrels.

SCHREINER AWARDED $200 ORATORY PRIZE

Alexandria Bank Aid Wins Third Place in Finals of Giannini Test.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

E. Wallace Schreiner, an employe of the First National Bank of Alexandria, Va., and a member of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, won third place in the oratory contest finals for the A. P. Giannini Educational Endowment Prizes held in connection with the national convention of the institute Tuesday, at Chicago, according to news received here yesterday by chapter headquarters.

First prize in the contest was won by Erwin V. Holton, of California, and second prize by Hays E. Bassett, of Texas. As third prize winner, Mr. Schreiner receives $200 of the prize money, his trip to and from the national convention and $100 expense money incidental to the latter.

Mr. Schreiner, who was the first representative of the local chapter to compete in the finals of this contest, won the chapter's contest in public speaking on April 24, receiving the Bank Presidents Trophy for this accomplishment and the post of chapter entry into the District semifinals held here May 6, in which representatives of chapters in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, North Carolina, P

FIRST LADY IS GUEST AT GADSBY'S TAVERN

Mrs. Roosevelt and Senate Wives View Furniture in Collection.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited the exhibition of early American furniture in Gadsby's Tavern, Alexandria, yesterday afternoon, arriving shortly after 4 o'clock, driving a blue roadster, and accompanied by her secretary, Miss Malvinia Thompson Schuyler. After an interested tour of the buildings and courtyard, she went to the home of Senator and Mrs. Henry Wilder Keyes, 111 North Alfred street, to a tea.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who has visited the famous Michie Tavern, near Charlottesville, where this collection has heretofore been on exhibition, stated she was familiar with the majority of the pieces, but engaged in a spirited discussion of early American tap room furnishings and herb closets with Milton Grigg, a young Alexandrian, who specialized in Colonial architecture at the University of Virginia, and has been assisting in the restoration of Williamsburg. He has purchased Michie Tavern from Mrs. Mark M. Henderson, the owner of this wonderful collection of antiques, and will make his home there.

Preview of Furniture Held.

The Gadsby's Tavern Committee yesterday held a preview of the Henderson collection, to which the ladies of the United States Senate were invited and, with Mrs. Roosevelt, were guests of honor. A Flag Day program was arranged by John E. Gordon, chairman of the publicity committee, with former Senator A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, as the speaker, and music by the United States Army Band Orchestra.

Among those who attended were Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan; Mrs. Wallace H. White, Maine; Mrs. Daniel O. Hastings, Delaware; Mrs. James H. Davis and Mrs. David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, who were accompanied by two of the Davis girls; Mrs. Guy Goff, West Virginia; Mrs. Hamilton F. Kean, New Jersey; Mrs. Warren R. Austin, Vermont; Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Virginia; Mrs. Ollie James, Kentucky; Mrs. Harry B. Hawes, Missouri; Mrs. James F. Byrnes, South Carolina; Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mississippi; Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, Colorado; Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana; Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Illinois; Mrs. Hallie Erminie Rives Wheeler, Paraguay.

Legion Officers Attend.

The officers of Alexandria Post, No. 94, American Legion, and their wives; the officers of the American Legion Auxiliary, the officers of Mount Vernon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; the officers of the Alexandria committee of the Colonial Dames; the officers of the Washington Society of Alexandria, the members of the Gadby's Tavern Committee.

One of the most interesting guests was Mrs. Eleanor Selden Washington Howard, the last child of the Washington family born at Mount Vernon while the estate was still owned by the Washington family.

The Henderson collection of furniture and household effects will be on display in Gadsby's Tavern for some time, for the benefit of the purchase fund of this historic building as a home for the local American Legion post, and a permanent memorial to the Alexandria World War dead.

30 Years Spent Collecting.

Mrs. Henderson, the owner, has been over 30 years collecting these articles, and while she has had many offers from buyers, she desires to keep the collection intact, and have it shown in a building suited in age and historical interest to the furniture. No more fitting background than Gadsby's Tavern, replete with association with Washington, Lafayette, Baron DeKalb, John Paul Jones, George Mason and hosts of Alexandrians who established the city in the early 1700's, could have been selected. Michie Tavern, where this collection has been housed, was built in 1735, and several of the pieces of furniture in the collection, were original furnishings of that hostelry.

Following the showing in the Tavern yesterday Mrs. Henry Wilder Keyes, the wife of the Senator from New Hampshire, known in the literary world as Frances Parkinson Keyes, entertained at a tea at her home, 111 North Alfred street, Alexandria, in honor of Mrs. Roosevelt and the ladies of the Senate. She was assisted by Mrs. William Jackson Morton, the wife of the rector of historic Christ Episcopal Church; Mrs. Frank Mason Dillard, Mrs. Joseph P. Crockett, Mrs. Carroll Pierce, Miss Clarence Brent Snowden and Miss Mary Lindsey, of Alexandria.

Auto Hurts Child; Woman Charged

While his playmate looked on, too horrified to give warning, Ernest Maier, 3, of Edmonston, Md., was critically injured yesterday when struck by an automobile near his home.

According to Prince Georges County Policeman Claude Reese, Ernest was playing with Tommy Fletcher, 10, near Edmondston road and Oaks street.

Suddenly Ernest, darting across the street, dashed into the side of a car operated, police said, by Mrs. Grace Fillmore, 25, of Lanham, Md. At Providence Hospital, where he was taken by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, he was said to be suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. Mrs. Fillmore was charged with having no registration card. She was released on $300 bond.

Garfield Citizens Request Teacher

The Garfield Citizens Association last night requested that another teacher be added to the staff at the Garfield School, and also asked for the installation of a drinking fountain on the second floor. The fountains at the school are all located in the basement, it was explained.

Alleging that several motormen on the Anacostia car line are captious and cranky with the school children, the association decided to communicate with the street car company protesting against their "ungentlemanly" conduct.

The meeting, the final one of the season, was held at the home of the president, W. H. Lewis.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

CIRCUMSTANCES which now probably would seem unimportant, if they could be recalled, having prevented my viewing the film version of Rachel Crothers' "When Ladies Meet" until Tuesday evening of this week, it is belatedly that the comparisons which are reputed always to be odious are taking form in this space.

Ann Harding.

It may not be too late, however, to recall that currently on the Palace screen—and huge crowds have been sitting before it in raptures since last Friday—Myrna Loy is appearing in the role in which Frieda Inescort was seen at the National the first week in April; Robert Montgomery in Walter Abel's part; Alice Brady in Spring Byington's; Martin Burton as the complacent young "boy friend" of Bridgie's, originally portrayed by Robert Lowes; Frank Morgan in the Herbert Rawlinson part; Luis Alberni in Auguste Arimini's servile character, and Ann Harding in the role of the wife, played on the stage by Selena Royle.

This recital of casts is purely for the purpose of putting many minds at rest. Numerous inquiries, since this department expressed the opinion that the stage personnel seemed to it eminently superior to the film, have come in concerning our sanity—always, I may say, a lively topic of conjecture.

The fact remains, nevertheless, that the stage personnel still seems to this observer to be two up on the shadows cast by the M-G-M celluloid. The only close voting might be in the cases of Miss Loy vs. Miss Inescort and Miss Harding vs. Miss Royle.

In the Loy-Inescort controversy the issue would have to be determined on a sheer and unsupported basis of personal inclination; in the Harding-Royle debate in favor of Miss Royle, by reason of an introductory golf-links sequence which was not in the original play and which permits Miss Harding to be utterly unnatural and wholly unconvincing in a brief interval of forced comedy. In all of the scenes to which she and Miss Royle can lay joint claim, the score, I should say, is about even.

It is surprising how much more effectively "When Ladies Meet" has been picturized than could possibly be the case with "As Husbands Go." Yet, these two plays of Miss Crothers' are predicated upon an identical idea—"As Husbands Go" dealt with the manner in which a clever spouse coped with the adventurous inclinations of an errant wife; "When Ladies Meet" depicts what happens when a wife becomes a bit irked by a philandering husband. Rachel Crothers is a resourceful woman!

Since Alice Brady is coming in for perhaps more than her share of caustic criticism for a particularly irritating performance in the role of Mrs. Bridget Drake, the scatterbrained widow of "When Ladies Meet," it might be well to recall that Miss Brady's career can not be seriously jeopardized by this unfortunate piece of miscasting. She is an artiste of versatile endowment and brilliant achievement, whether her present assignment would seem to belie the fact or not.

Miss Brady has done so many notable things on the stage in late years, including a fine impersonation of Lavania Mannon, with Mme. Alla Nazimova, in the New York company of Eugene O'Neill's tragic trilogy of "Mourning Becomes Electra," that night has quite been lost of the fact that she was first schooled for grand opera at the Conservatory of Music in Boston under the tutelage of Theodore Irvine.

It likewise has largely escaped current notice that Alice Brady made her debut upon the stage under the name of Mary Rose in New Haven, Conn., in 1911, as Olga in "The Balkan Princess," and that the ensuing year was devoted almost exclusively to appearances in the leading roles of the Savoyard operas.

Her film career had its inception back in 1914 and embraces creditable performances in a long list of feature pictures, including "Bought and Paid For," "Her Great Chance," "The Whirlpool," "The Fear Market," and many others that were deemed distinguished in their day.

Mlle. Jacqueline Doret, the blonde Parisienne, who won a recent "Jean Harlow Contest," conducted by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the French capital—and thereby a trip to the United States—will arrive at Hoover Airport this morning at 9:50, proceed at once to the Willard and thence will make flying trips to the Capitol, Arlington and other points of interest.

At 11:30 a. m. she will be received at the White House and at 1:15 p. m., she will make a single appearance on the stage of Loew's Fox Theater.

Although this young French beauty's name sounds misleadingly like the first two notes of the vocal scale, it is not announced that she will sing. She speaks no English. It might be all right to take your opera glasses.

When "College Humor" is accorded its presumptively gala premiere in the Palace Theater tomorrow night, Washington will be one of five key cities in the entire United States to see this pretentious musical campus comedy—comical mupus camedy—comepus mucedy camical—pusical caledy——

Well, anyhow, Washington will be one of five cities to see it prior to its June 30 national release date. The other four are San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cincinnati and Boston.

The complete roster—hardly that, either, since they have not as yet made known the identity of the mysterious attraction to be revealed at the Metropolitan, come Friday—of the impending offerings in the downtown, first-run area, all opening tomorrow but the Columbia, will be as follows: Palace, Richard Arlen, Bing Crosby, Burns and Allen, Jack Oakie and Mary Carlisle in "College Humor;" Earle, Nancy Carroll and Edmund Lowe in "I Love That Man," and Frank Mitchell and Jack Durant headlining the vaudeville; RKO-Keith's, "India Speaks," with Richard Halliburton; Loew's Fox, Elissa Landi, Warner Baxter and Victor Jory in "I Loved You Wednesday," and University of Notre Dame Glee Club and Varsity Quartet headlining the vaudeville; Columbia, opening Monday, Randolph Scott, Tom Kenne, Harry Carey, Noah Beery and Kathleen Burke, the "panther girl," in Zane Grey's 'Sunset Pass."

On next Monday night, June 19, at 8:30 o'clock, the first swim meet of the season will be held in the Crystal Pool at Glen Echo Park. This competitive aquatic carnival, with events ranging from 60 to 120 yards, for both men and women, and high-board diving events, with five compulsory and five optional dives for both sexes, has the sanction of the District of Columbia A. A. U., and is open to registered athletes.

Entries for these events will close tomorrow at the director's office, Crystal Pool, Glen Echo Park, Glen Echo, Md. Full regulation swimming suits must be worn. The management reserves the right to reject any entry. A registration fee of 25 cents, but no entry fee, will be assessed. Gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third places in each event will be awarded.

Wallace Beery has been selected for the role of Pancho Villa in a screen version of Edgcumb Pinchon's biography of the late Mexican scourge, "Viva Villa," which Jack Conway will direct.

In this particular instance, I should say that they have picked the wrong Beery. From past experience in roles of a similar nature, it would seem that Noah Beery's equipment for the part ought to be a trifle more complete and possibly a little more "in character" than his brother's.

It is, at best, a tough assignment, this attempt to make a Robin Hood out of the elusive raider who led "Blackjack" Pershing and his punitive expedition far across the border to no good or successful purpose.

However, either one will do, the idea evidently being that for so strong a part no actor available could possibly get near Beery!

Danger in Drinking Creek Water Cited

Following the receipt of a report of a new case of typhoid fever in the suburban section of Montgomery County, Md., Dr. V. L. Ellicott, county health officer, yesterday issued a warning to parents against permitting children to drink from streams.

The present case is the fourth within a year in which the probable source was drinking from a stream or unprotected spring. The fact that the water of the stream is cold, clear and of good taste is no proof that it is not heavily infected, Dr. Ellicott, well known epidemiologist, said. A small stream collects surface water from a large area and this causes pollution.

Two Escape

Pair Believed to Be Short-Change Artists Flee From Bank.

Believed to be the short-change artists who have been victimizing Washington merchants, two young men yesterday ran from the Silver Spring National Bank, Silver Spring, Md., and escaped when a teller became suspicious and called the cashier.

The teller, Neal Holmead, became suspicious when the two men, apparently Spanish, displayed several $50 bills to be changed into smaller denominations. He called Fred H. Lutes, the cashier, to inspect the bills and the men ran from the bank.

Holmead followed them and took the number of the Michigan license tags on the large sedan in which they were traveling.

FAIRFAX CHAMBER DISCUSSES ZONING

Complete Undertaking at Present Time Is Held Too Costly.

A complete zoning of Fairfax County, Va., under present conditions would be too costly an undertaking it was stated at the monthly meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce, but it was believed that the future development of the county depended on at least a part zoning in the near future.

The need of zoning ordinances was expressed by many speakers and the special committee on zoning was ordered to continue its investigation and make reports to the chamber so that intelligent action can be taken as soon as authority to enact zoning ordinances is granted the local board of supervisors by the State assembly next session. The chamber plans to make a determined drive for at least part zoning of the county, especially in the residential section of the metropolitan area near Washington.

President John W. Brookfield appointed a nomination committee consisting of J. A. Deuterman, J. W. Gaines, Mrs. J. E. Staub, Mrs. Mary Cullen and Thomas Waggaman to select candidates for the vacancies in the trade body's board of directors. The directors are to be elected at the meeting next month at Fairfax.

A committee consisting of Guy N. Church, William Cleveland, H. B. Derr, Sargent White, Mrs. G. Ashley Money, State Senator John W. Rust and Wells A. Sherman was appointed to confer with a similar committee from the Lions Club of Alexandria relative to an all-day barbecue later in the summer, with the proceeds to be given to charity.

A committee from Manassas appeared asking support for the Piedmont Dairy Festival, which will be held in the latter part of September. A committee to cooperate with the festival committee of Manassas was appointed, consisting of C. H. Powell, Mrs. H. A. Sager, Robert W. Buckley, Mrs. Mary Cullen, Joseph Berry and Herbert Williams.

A county development committee consisting of Herbert Blunt, Sargeant White, J. A. Deuterman, George C. Smith, Wells A. Sherman, C. H. Powell and Herbert Haar also was appointed.

RED SOX CUT YANKS' LEAD TO 2 GAMES BY 13-5 WIN

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

JACK SHARKEY will step into the Long Island Bowl of Punch two weeks from this evening and attempt his second ascent of Primo Carnera, the Ambling Alp, whom he climbed successfully in the summer of 1931 and found a fifteen-round decision at the summit.

It's for the world title that Sharkey and the judges took from Max Schmeling last June on one of the foulest decisions ever rendered within the concept of the Marquis of Queensberry rules. The large Italian, who arrived in this country as a side-show exhibit, seems to have developed into a title contender.

Sharkey was not the titleholder at the time of his first clash with Carnera. He had dissipated his chances of inheriting the crown when he fouled Schmeling in the third round a few months before. The German thus became the first champion on record to win the title sitting down.

Venetian Floored For First Time.

The Sharkey-Carnera bout of 1931 saw the vast Venetian floored for the first time in his career. Sharkey knocked him down for a count of nine and then galloped to the finish to earn a clear-cut decision. Primo had been defying gravity in his tours among the tank towns and there was beginning to grow a serious doubt that any of our modern-day heavies could spill him.

But Sharkey spilled the Italian giant by laying a large right hand on his whiskers and watching him crumble like a foundry smokestack. He couldn't put him out for keeps, but he proved that Primo was no more than human when the right kind of a punch lands in the right kind of a spot. He was no longer invulnerable.

Carnera Has Come Along.

But two years have passed since that occasion. And Carnera has come along. His big, plodding left beat Ernie Schaaf into an insensibility from which he never recovered. He has left the bungling hands of his old-country manager and placed himself under the direction of capable American trainers. Billy Devoe, his chief trainer, was one of the best of the lightweights and fought for twelve years without ever being hurt in the ring.

Primo is remarkably fast and shifty for a man of his bulk and his left-hand maneuvers would do credit to a welterweight. It is his best defensive as well as offensive weapon, for he holds his opponents off with his superior reach and his jab with his left, while not the sharpest, is the heaviest in the ring today.

Sharkey Surprised Fighter.

Primo has come along, undeniably, and, undeniably, Sharkey has slipped. The Sharkey who won a lucky decision over Schmeling was a washed-up fighter who was the most surprised man among the 70,000 in the stadium when the verdict was announced. He was congratulating the German in the latter's corner when Referee Gunboat Smith walked over and raised Sharkey can slip considerably and still beat the Carnera of 1931. Sharkey's amusement of Sharkey himself.

The battle on June 29 holds the answer to the question of how far Sharkey has slipped and how far Carnera has come along. The Ambling Alp still has considerable ground to make up when his last Sharkey bout is recalled, and Sharkey is still the master boxer among the heavies.

Schmeling paid the price of a year's inactivity in his bout with Max Baer last week. It was a slow, loggy, chuffling Schmeling in there that night. Sharkey has not fought in a year. How far his semiretirement and Primo's improvement will go toward bringing them closer together will be the question before the house, which is expected to gross around $300,000.

Dempsey Link With Garden Is Seen

Rumor Revived After Mauler's Visit to Sharkey Camp.

Talk Is That Ouster of Jimmy Johnston Is Being Sought.

By STUART CAMERON.

ORANGEBURGH, N. Y., June 14 (U.P.).—Jack Dempsey paid a social call today at Gus Wilson's training camp, where Jack Sharkey is training for his defense of the heavyweight boxing championship against Primo Carnera on June 29.

That's all it was, apparently—just a social call.

So the visit revived rumors of a shake-up in the New York boxing situation. Reports that Dempsey and the Garden would get together have been current for some time.

Dempsey refused to commit himself on the reason for his visit.

"Just a visit," he said. "That's all. I just wanted to see Sharkey in action again."

"Did you talk with Sharkey about defending his title for you in September?"

Carey's Resignation Is Rumored.

"Oh, we talked about that a long time ago. But September is a good piece off."

Here are some of the rumors heard where boxing men gather:

1. William Francis Carey has resigned as president of Madison Square Garden to take effect after the Sharkey-Carnera fight.

2. The Garden is trying to shelve Jimmy Johnston, its boxing manager.

3. Dempsey and the Garden will join forces on a percentage basis in promoting the Sharkey-Carnera show, June 29.

4. Johnston has broken with his once stanch friend and supporter, James A. Farley, former boxing commission chairman, now Postmaster General.

5. The Garden will give up boxing entirely.

6. Dempsey will become president of Madison Square Garden.

Dempsey as President Hard to Believe.

The last rumor is the most difficult one to believe. It would be reasonable to suppose that the Garden would "cut" Dempsey into a show because of the drawing power of his name. But the presidency of the Garden Corporation is a job for a hard-headed business man.

Nor does it seem likely that the Garden would be able to get rid of Johnston. James Jor is supposed to have a contract even a Houdini couldn't crack. He knew, when the Garden hired him, that he was being taken into the fold solely to remove the competition he was offering.

Whatever is in the cards it's plain that there's some sort of a deal brewing between hte Garden and Dempsey. He paid a visit to Carnera at Pompton Lakes on Monday. Garden publicity material is jammed with references to the great William Harrison Dempsey.

Primo Gets a Tip From Jack

Chisox Are Beaten By Browns, 14 to 1

Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns, losers in ten of their previous twelve games with the White Sox this season, arose in wrath today and clouted out a 14-to-1 victory that gave them the series, two games to one.

Whereas the Browns were held to one single by Whitlow Wyatt yesterday, they mauled four Chicago pitchers today for 15 hits for a total of 22 bases. Aiding them to victory were five infield errors by the Sox.

Earnshaw, Reinstated, Pitches Saturday Game

After a conference with the hurler, Manager Connie Mack said Earnshaw's transgressions were forgiven and forgotten.

"I am sure that George is in condition now, and will give us the brand of pitching of which he is capable," Mack added.

"He is going to pitch the first game in Boston on Saturday."

Earnshaw was suspended ten days ago, and fined $500 for breaking training.

Crowd Roars Welcome to Goodman

Mile-Long Parade Is Held in Omaha for Returning Hero.

OMAHA, Nebr., June 14 (A.P.).—Weary, after an enthusiastic home town welcome day full of handshaking, speeches and noisy parading, Johnny Goodman, modest little open golf champion, tonight had eyes for but one thing—the national amateur crown.

Before the clamor of a civic "Johnny Goodman Day" had died down, the 23-year-old former caddy's hands itched to wrap around a club and start practice for the amateur tourney.

"I'm starting training immediately for what I consider the hardest tournament to win," he said, in speaking of his aspirations in the amateur meet. "I'm looking forward to those hand-to-hand match play combats and having the pleasure of playing with such splendid golfers as competed in the amateur tourney last year."

Omaha Crowd Roars Welcome.

A few hours before making this statement, Goodman had returned home from Chicago to a roaring, cheering, tempestuous greeting at Union Station, and later at the city auditorium and the Chamber of Commerce.

"It's awfully nice of you folk to come out to welcome me home," he told the station crowd. "All I can say is—am I happy?" It was his longest formal speech of the day.

A trifle embarrassed at first, Johnny blushed rosily, nodded a bit stiffly to the mob and waved gaily to old friends, but later becoming used to the acclaim he finished up by having a "swell time."

From the station to the auditorium, golf's youthful "giant killer" was conducted by a mile-long automobile parade in which rode civic leaders and officials. Happiest of all the cheering thousands along the route were news kids and caddies, who, afoot and on bikes, followed the car bearing their idol throughout the line of March, laughing at police attempts to drive them back.

Among the first to greet the new open champion was attractive Josephine Kersigo, who boarded his train at Council Bluffs, Iowa, to ride into Omaha with the new golf king. She had previously followed his every stroke at Glenview, Ill., where he won the title, and had returned home ahead of him. They have been friends since childhood.

Paralytic Stroke Fells Humphries

Fairhaven, N. J., June 14 (U.P.).—The voice that has bellowed names, weights and results at countless ring bouts was reduced to a whisper tonight as Joe Humphries, dean of America's boxing announcers, lay at Fairhaven Inn, victim of a paralytic stroke.

His right arm and side were paralyzed and doubts were expressed that he could ever again announce "the winnah and new champeen."

Dr. Martin Quirk was in constant attendance after having been called by Mrs. Lelia Chadwick, proprietress of the inn. Humphries, who lived alone across the street from the inn, apparently had lain prostrate in his home for some hours after he was stricken.

Dan O'Leary's Estate Is Valued at $13,000

Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—The will of Dan O'Leary, famous long-distance walker, who died May 29 at the age of 93, was admitted to probate today. It disposes of an estate of $13,000, left to relatives.

O'Leary should be well remembered here by baseball fans. For the past few years, it has been his custom to tour the major and high-class minor leagues and give walking exhibitions around the bases before games. He has made several appearances in Griffith Stadium during the past few seasons.

PRINCETON POLOISTS WIN.

Rye, N. Y., June 14 (A.P.).—Princeton's Polo Team defeated Pennsylvania Military College, 11 to 8, today with a brisk fifth-period rally in the semifinals of the intercollegiate championship tournament. The Tigers conceded five goals by handicap.

Shires Among 4 Players Barred

Columbus Club Loses Quartet and Draws $500 Fine.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14 (A.P.).—Four star players of the Columbus American Association Baseball Team were ordered barred and the club was fined $500 today for alleged violation of the association's salary agreement.

T. J. Hickey, president of the circuit, and directors decided to inflict the penalty after holding a three-hour session here.

One of the four players barred is Art Shires. "The Great" Shires has been reported recently as declaring that while playing with Columbus he was receiving a major league salary.

Shires has been playing first base. The others barred are Charley Wilson, second baseman; Gordon Slade, shortstop, and Pitcher Jim Lindsey. They will be permitted, however, to play until Saturday night.

It was the most drastic action taken in the association in many years and virtually wrecked the Columbus infield. The Red Birds have been leading the association pennant race much of the season.

The club was found guilty of having exceeded the $6,500 maximum monthly pay-roll agreement, made by association members last winter. Since the team is a farm for the St. Louis Cardinals, disposition of the barred players will be up to that organization.

Although no announcement was made after today's meeting, it was reported tonight some of the directors contended the four players involved had been given a bonus by the St. Louis club before reporting at Columbus, or else had been promised a bonus after being recalled by the Cardinals at the close of the season.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Club, and general manager of the organization's farms, denied that Columbus had violated the salary agreement. He said, however, no fight would be made against the ruling.

Games Already Played To Stand.

In announcing the decision, President Hickey said it will have no effect on games already played.

George Trautman, who represented Columbus at today's meeting, would not comment on the action. He left Indianapolis shortly after the decision was announced.

Don Beech, secretary of the Columbus Team, asserted that "There will be plenty of fun within the next day or two." He contended that President Hickey had no authority under the association constitution to take players away from Columbus.

Slade has been batting .334; Wilson .336 and Shires .324 and their powerful bats have had a lot to do with keeping Columbus at the top of the league. Lindsey has won six games and lost two. Columbus was two and one-half games ahead of the second-place Indianapolis team when tonight's game began. The teams open a four-game series here Friday.

President Hickey said the directors considered no other subject today. It had been reported that they were concerned over poor attendance in some of the cities, and worried over the financial condition of the Louisville and Kansas City clubs.

Attending today's meeting, in addition to President Hickey were L. M. Nahin, president of the Milwaukee club; Robert J. Connery, president of St. Paul; Waldo Shank, president of Toledo; W. F. Knebelkamp and William Neal, president and vice president, respectively, of the Louisville club, and Norman A. Perry, owner of the Indianapolis franchise.

Nats Triumph In Wheeling Game, 3-1

Washington, Held to 4 Safeties, Clowns Way to Victory.

Manush Slams Homer as 2,000 Witness Exhibition Game.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 14 (A.P.).—Two thousand customers swathed in winter garb saw the Washington Nationals defeat the Wheeling Stogies of the Middle Atlantic League, 3 to 1, in exhibition game at Stogie Park today.

Stogies, Class C Yankee farm, outhit their major league opponents, but contributed to their own downfall with a wild pitch and liberal donations of bases on balls.

A home run by Heinie Manush over the right field wall with one out and none on in the opening frame started the Nats off to victory.

Two other runs came in the fifth and eighth, each developing from bases on balls. One registered on wild pitch by Vitelli and the other after the catch of a long outfield fly.

Whitehill in Good Form On Hill.

Earl Whitehill, starting for the Nats, retired the first eight men to face him and allowed only two hits in the four innings he occupied the box. Bill McAfee took up the twirling in the fifth when Manager Cronin sent an entirely new team, with the exception of the catcher.

The Stogies nibbled at his delivery rather freely, but Washington's chain-lightning defense nipped Wheeling scoring bids except in the sixth. Dickey, Stogie catcher, stretched a wallop to two bases when the ball got through Harris and scored on Curry's drive to left.

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht kept the crowd convulsed with their antics, but it was Manager Joe Cronin who really caught the fancy of the Wheeling fans. He got a big hand every time he came to the bat.

Cronin and his charges were in high glee in the seventh when informed that the Boston Red Sox had knocked the Yankees for another loop.

"We'll catch them (Yankees) before we leave St. Louis," said Cronin to some acquaintances in a box.

Dodgers Beat Phils, 6-3; Klein, Hurst Get Homers

Philadelphia, June 14 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers ended their slump today, defeating the Phillies, 6 to 3, behind Ray Benge.

Benge held the Phils to eight hits and kept them away from the plate except in the sixth inning, when Chuck Klein hit his eleventh home run of the season and Don Hurst connected with a circuit blow. Klein also had a double and single.

Londos Faces Zaharias Tonight

Dusek Meets Speers in Semifinal at Stadium.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

JIMMY LONDOS, boss man both at the headquarters of his rassling circuit and in the ring, makes his umpteenth appearance in the Capital tonight when he takes on George Zaharias in the feature of Joe Turner's weekly show at Griffith Stadium. Just why Londos, even conceding that he is the bell-cow of his herd, is not beaten must be an office secret, for it stands to reason that a fellow meeting the best four or five times a week is bound to be somewhat stiffened up and weakened, or to get careless some time or other.

But, be that as it may, Londos is back again tonight and stacking up against a rough, tough hombre, who boasts a 28-pound pull in the weights, 6 full inches in height, and 3 meaningless falls against the title claimant. Twice Zaharias has thrown the Greek god for a down, but these unusual occurences poped up in two-out-of-three-fall matches, with Londos both times registering the other two downs and thus gaining the decision.

Can Take It as Well As Give It.

Zaharias is the type of wrestler who can take punishment as well as dole it out. He has an edge on Londos in everything but experience. He is telling the world that he plans to wear the so-called champ down to Abie Coleman's size and then gently roll him on his back. He may wear Jimmy down, but whether he gains the verdict over the boss man is a horse of another color. In any event, there should be plenty of mat action, with none of the grunts, groans, floor-pounding and facial expressions missing—and, after all, that's what the cash customers crave.

Ladies to Be Admitted For Half Price.

Ladies, with paying escorts, will be admitted for half price, while youngsters under 16 get in for two bits.

While the Londos-Zaharias melee alone should be worth the price of admission, four other bouts round out the card, with the game's most prominent villains figuring in all. In the 45-minute semifinal, Ernie Dusek meets a toughy in Frank Speers, the former Georgia Tech grid ace. Both are doted for throwing thor-hammers, fists, elbows and knees, and for doing as little rassling as is absolutely necessary. Chesty Dick Raines meets Pat O'Shocker, Abe Coleman tackles Andy Brown, and Paul Jones clashes with George Kotsonares in the other riots listed.

Marberry Wins 9th In Beating Indians

Detroit, June 14 (A.P.).—Fred Marberry ran his string of victories to nine by pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 13 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the second game of their series here today.

Clint Brown, who started for Cleveland, has beaten Detroit three times this year, never allowing them more than one run. But today the Tigers collected four runs during the two and a third innings he worked. Hudlin and Bean finished the game.

The Tigers gathered 14 hits from the three Cleveland pitchers, the longest a home run by Stone in the seventh inning, with White and Gehringer on base. Averill, who had a perfect day at bat, also came through with a home run in the eighth inning, scoring Boss ahead of him, and averting a shutout for the Indians.

The defeat today was the Indians' first in three games since Walter Johnson took the helm.

Mid-Atlantic Field Led by Caldwell

Special to The Washington Post.

Belshe, with a 38—39 for the stiff layout, was the only District entry in today's medal play who kept a few shots behind the champion. Frank Weller and Franklin Parks, Congressional Country Club entries—the latter a participant in the 1932 National Amateur at Five Farms—scored to 42—43—85 and 43—46—89, respectively. Harry Kidder, of Kenwood, shot 47—46—93, while Oscar Blanton, of Kenwood, and Hank O'Donnell, of Congressional, failed to turn in scores.

Pitt Among District Entrants.

With such crack District players as Harry Pitt, of Manor; Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring; Maury Nee and Miller B. Stevinson, of Columbia, and John Shorey, of Kenwood, slated to open their attack on Old Man Par in the resumption of qualifying play tomorrow, indications are that Caldwell's low score will be eclipsed either by one of the invading golfers or by one of the home stars who did not compete today.

Some 25 Washington amateurs will be among those vying for the medal prize tomorrow.

Spencer Overton, of Hillendale, with 78, and Harris Jones, of Baltimore, with 79, were the only other players able to crack 80 in today's qualifying. With the course fast and gusty cross winds prevailing, the experts were inclined to believe that 79 would qualify for the first flight. There will be four flights of golfers in the match play rounds Friday and Saturday.

Eight teams are entered in the special medal play competition for five-man groups. Rolling Road has two, Hillendale, Washington Golf and Country Club, Kenwood, Baltimore C. C., Maryland C. C. and Indian Spring, defending champion, one each.

Chattanooga Manager Suspended After Row

Memphis, Tenn., June 14 (A.P.).—Manager Bert Niehoff, of the Chattanooga Team of the Southern Association, was indefinitely suspended today for a dispute with Umpire Polly McLarry over a decision in yesterday's game at Chattanooga.

3d Straight Loss Dealt Champions

Gomez Hammered for 5-Run Lead in Early Innings.

Yankees Tie Score in 7th, but Succumb to Counterattack.

BOSTON, June 14 (A.P.).—The American League pennant race tightened another notch today when the lowly Red Sox took their third straight game from the Yankees, 13 to 5, and won the series, 3 games to 1.

Gomez Yields Early Lead.

The Sox got away to a 5-run lead against Lefty Gomez in the early innings as Rick Ferrell and Dale Alexander hit home runs and appeared well on their way to an easy victory with George Pipgras shutting out his former mates for six innings.

In the seventh, however, the Yanks got to Pipgras and his successor, Bob Kline, for 5 runs, enough to tie the score. Then Walter Brown walked the first three Boston men to face him in the last half of the inning, and with Pennock unable to stop the Sox the victors scored 3 runs. They climbed aboard Cy Moore for 5 more in the eighth, when Combs, Lazzeri and Ruth made errors on ground balls.

Lou Gehrig and Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Yankees, were banished from the game by Umpire Summers in the seventh inning when they disputed the umpire's decision on a play at second base too long and vociferously.

GOLD BASIS EASILY TAKES FEATURE RACE AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Winner Races Fast Mile to Pay $4.40

Snapback Springs Big Surprise, Triumphs at Belmont.

LINCOLN FIELDS RACETRACK: Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—Gold Basis, from the stable of M. L. Schwartz, of New York, breezed to victory in the top race at Lincoln Fields today. Ridden by Jockey Charley Corbett, Gold Basis ran the mile in 1:36 2-5 without being extended.

Fair Rochester was second, two lengths back of the victor. Sweep Rush nosed out at top for the show. Northgalls led the field for three quarters closely pursued by Gold Basis. At the stretch turn Northgalls gave up the chase after Gold Basis took command and won as the rider pleased. Gold Basis paid $4.40 straight in the $2 mutuels.

Snapback Surprises In Victory.

Belmont Park Race Track, New York, June 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. 'Dodge Sloan's Snapback, with the recently suspended "Duke" Bellizzi in the saddle, sprang a big surprise here today when he came home on the front end in the Ballot Purse of one mile. The gelded son of Dunlin was quoted at 10 to 1, but he ran the eight furlongs in 1:37 4-5 to register by a length and a half over J. J. Robinson's Eva B. Mrs. M. Segal's Don Pedro was beaten a like margin for the place.

Scout Master, which closed favorite, proved a big disappointment, the colt never being able to match strides with the leaders. He wound up a fagged out last in the field of six.

Evening looked all over a winner until she reached the stretch. The C. D. Widener miss held a commanding lead to that point, but she cried quits after straightening out for home. Glidella, which had been forcing the pace did likewise and it remained for Snapback, third to the stretch, to come on and take the swag. Eva B closed a great gap to beat out Don Pedro for the place.

Herald Cup Golf Play Will Start Tomorrow

A field of 45 women will compete tomorrow morning at Army and Navy Country Club in the 18-hole handicap tournament for the Herald Cup championship.

Mrs. Ora Enge, of Beaver Dam, and Mrs. Leo Walper, of Kenwood, will be the first to tee off at 7:45.

Mrs. L. O. Cameron, of Chevy Chase, the defending champion, who beat Mrs. Jerome Meyer in the play-off last year, is paired with Mrs. Katherine May and Miss Louise Claytor at 9:10.

Equipoise, Gallant Sir May Run Match Race

Church already has agreed to post $10,000 as has the Lincoln Fields Jockey Club, through Col. Matt J. Winn, executive director. Church also has stipulated that the day of the proposed race be made a charity day, with all receipts going to the needy. Whitney has not yet replied to the invitation.

LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 14.

DEAR AL:

Well, friend, Mrs. Bennings' lovely son and the favorite players took a beating together today. Night Ship was my only winner and I am deeply grateful to the apprentice, Westrope, for riding that one home. However, I was well represented in the money in virtually every race. For tomorrow, I have selected a few that look promising at other tracks. Take them or leave them. Here they are: Strolling Time, Sublevado, Doris B, Watch Her, Kulaman, Sue Jones.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—BLACK COMET is a far too-consistent racer to be picked anywhere except the top in a race like this sort. PREDICT is the most likely of field to show improvement. That last held a lot of promise. MORSUN is fit and may be the third one.

SECOND RACE—DING BIN ran a bangup race the other day and came within a nose of copping a decision. Has to be beaten before this purse goes to another. MY BOSS made a money appearance recently and seems second best. HIGH CLOVER for the show end.

THIRD RACE—SMEAR is a possible surprise winner in this sprint. Gets in with only a steadying 105 pounds. SIS AGNES is sharp now and will be ready if the top one passes up the opportunity. ESKIMO is down on the list but may see action and show.

FOURTH RACE—PANCOAST has been shocking the clockers of late and appears to be ready for a race of this sort. MARCH KING is racing in good form and seems to have the edge on AIR PILOT.

FIFTH RACE—SLAPSTICK turned in a victory in this sector and then came back to run a game race. I'm giving him an excellent chance to get home in this at a fair price. GAY WORLD seems better suited than FLYING CADET for the place.

SIXTH RACE—POLYDORUS is fit and ready and is backed by that last effort which was a beaut. CATHOP is the sleeper. Has worked well and is most likely to give the top one a battle. SUN DOT, the Westerner, for the show.

SEVENTH RACE — ENGLEWOOD showed in that last outing that a victory is not far away. This may be the spot. TRYANDAGAIN is going well these days and will be close. KUVERA to take care of the others.

EIGHTH RACE—FINNIC won the other day and I'm sending him right back after another purse. LONGUS and SULTRY to fight it out for the second money.

Cubs Beat Reds, 7-0; Root Grants 2 Hits

Cincinnati, June 14 (A.P.).—Charlie Root held Cincinnati to two scattered hits today, refused to let a Red Leg get past second and took the final game of the series for the Cubs by a 7-to-0 score.

Only three Reds got on base, and the Cubs, hitting almost at will, pounded three Cincinnati hurlers for eleven safe blows, two of them for three bases each.

In the third, English singled and took second on a wild pitch. W. Herman walked and F. Herman sacrificed. On Stephenson's grounder, English broke for the plate, and as Hemsley chased him back to third, W. Herman ran to third and Hemsley tagged both men at the bag. Umpire Rigler ruled W. Herman out. English and Stephenson came home on Hendrick's triple.

Nats Play Exhibition At Indianapolis Today

While marking time awaiting the resumption of league championship play at St. Louis Saturday afternoon, Manager Joe Cronin and his Nats will stage another exhibition game today, meeting the Indianapolis Club at Indianapolis.

Cronin plans to use his regular line-up, at the start of the game, at least. He is doing this for two reasons: Firstly, because he wants to keep his men in a competitive mood and, secondly, because he wants to give the minor league fans a run for their money.

Schmeling to Return To Beat Baer, He Says

New York, June 14 (U.P.).—Before sailing for Germany tonight aboard the liner New York, Max Schmeling said he was confident he would beat Maxie Baer when he returns to the United States this autumn.

The former heavyweight champion emphasized that he was not discouraged by the tenth round technical knockout which Baer scored over him last Thursday night at Yankee Stadium.

"That's part of the game," he said "I've got no alibis. Baer is a better fighter than I thought. I guess I got careless and left my chin open. One shouldn't do that. I won't do it next time."

Cardinals Down Pirates by 3 to 2

St. Louis, June 14 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals squared the four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates by taking the final game, 3 to 2. The Cards thus tightened their hold on second place and lengthened their lead over the third-place Pirates in 2½ games.

Bill Hallahan pitched shutout ball except in the first inning, when the Pirates scored two runs on three doubles.

The Cards scored in the third inning on three singles, tied the count in the fourth on Watkins' homer and scored the winning run in the sixth on a single, sacrifice and double.

Airways' Slabman Fans 19 to Win, 7-5

The smoke of Battle was the outstanding feature of Airways' 7-to-5 victory over Public Documents in the hard-fought Federal League game yesterday, the winning pitcher fanning no less than 19 enemy swatsmiths. As far as stuff was concerned, Battle had everything except that one important item—control. He issued eight passes and some of the seven hits he granted resulted from his being in the hole and being forced to groove "fat" ones down the middle.

Airways started like the game would be a one-sided affair, registering three runs in the third and four in the fourth, but then its batters suddenly lost their power and were blanked over the remainder of the route. Meanwhile the Document team had a three-run splurge in the fifth and scored again in the sixth. It threatened in the last three frames, but Battle was able to tighten in the pinches.

Giants Rally to Beat Braves Behind Luque

New York, June 14 (A.P.).—With Adolfo Luque, veteran relief hurler, pitching no-run, two-hit ball for seven innings, the New York Giants came from behind to defeat the Boston Braves, 8 to 5, today.

Luque took over the hurling duties in the third inning after the Braves had scored five runs in the first frame as the result of five bases on balls, issued by Roy Parmelee, and "Rabbit" Maranville's single off Herman Bell.

After staking the Braves to a five-run lead, the Giants recovered all their lost ground and went out in front with a five-run attack off Fred Frankhouse in the second inning.

Has Been Supplanted By Knight.

Nichols was rated at the top of the 175-pound division by the National Boxing Association a year ago, but has since been supplanted by Joe Knight, who outpointed him after he had met and beaten such fighters as Charley Belanger, Billy Jones, Lou Scozza and Dave Maier. Goodwin is favored to win, but Nichols possesses enough class to give him a battle—and a beating, too, if the Georgian is not at his best when he climbs between the ropes next Monday.

Four other bouts complete the card and all should be good ones. Ray Bowen and George Harmon draw the semifinal spot, with the others calling for Harry Kersey to meet Cary Wright in a return bout, Doug Swetnam to take on Sammy Lucas and Bill Bullock to exchange blows with Tad Lewis. The last-named bout is a four-rounder, with the others scheduled for six.

Since last year the arena has been practically rebuilt. There are more and better ringside seats and the cheaper ones are closer to the ring. The ticket sale is in progress at Goldie Ahearn's and indications are that a good crowd will be on hand.

Godwin-Nichols Fight Monday Expected to Be Thriller.

BOB GODWIN, Adel (Ga.) fighter, and George Nichols, Sandusky, Ohio's, leading fistician, mingle at Twin City Monday night as the popular arena near Laurel opens its outdoor season, in a bout which may mean another clash with light-heavy champion Maxie Rosenbloom to the winner. This pair meets over the 10-round route and a worthwhile battle appears in the offing.

Godwin holds one decision over Rosenbloom, but this was nullified when he lost to the champion via the technical knockout route in New York a few months ago. Godwin claimed he had injured an eye while training for the bout and that Rosenbloom beat him by continually pecking away at it and blinding him. If he beats Nichols Monday, he should be in line for another crack at the champ. And, by the same token, should Nichols earn a decisive verdict, Rosenbloom can hardly pass up his claims for a title shot.

COLLEGE TRACKMEN EYE NEW MARKS AT WORLD'S FAIR

Soldier Field Events Open Tomorrow

Vault and High Jump Records May Be Shattered.

Heated Battles for Honors Expected to Result.

CHICAGO, June 14 (U.P.).—Competition will be so keen when the world's greatest vaulters and high jumpers perform in the world's fair national collegiate track and field championships at Soldier Field Friday and Saturday that two of the best indoor records in the book may totter.

Walter Marty, of Fresno State, who recently set a new world's high jump record of 6 feet 8 5-8 inches in the West Coast relays, will have plenty of competitors who promise to push him another such leap if he is to win.

There are half a dozen men entered who have consistently bettered 6 feet 6 inches. H. R. Spencer, Geneva College, jumped 6 feet 7¼ inches in the National A. A. U. indoor meet. L. G. Richy, Auburn, has a mark of 6 feet, 6½ inches to his credit. Bob Van Osdel, Southern California, has bettered 6 feet 6 inches several times. He tied for first place at 6 feet, 6½ inches in the Olympics but lost the jump-up to Duncan McNaughton, a Southern California teammate, who was a member of the Canadian Olympic team. Willis Ward, Michigan Negro, hasn't attempted to reach his best height this year because of competition in other events, but he leaped 6 feet 7½ inches in the national collegiate meet a year ago.

Vaulting Duel Will Continue.

The vaulting duel between Bill Graber, Southern California, and Bill Miller, Stanford, will continue in the national collegiate meet. Graber is the present national champion and American record holder with a mark of 14 feet 4⅜ inches, a record now awaiting adoption as a world mark by the international federation. Miller, the Olympic champion, has vaulted 14 feet 1⅜ inches.

Among the other vaulters who have flirted with 14 feet are Don Zimmerman, Tulane's All-American half back; Ike Lennington and Irving Seeley, Illinois; John Wonsowitz, Ohio State; Mat Gordy, Louisiana State, and Bernard Feacon, Stanford.

The two events won't produce all the thrills in the national collegiate meet. The first event on the program, the mile run, is quite likely to produce the fastest and most spectacular race of its kind in this country.

The world's record for the mile is 4 minutes, 9 2-10 seconds, made by Jules Ladoumegue, of France, a couple of years ago. The fastest mile ever run outdoors by an American is 4:11.1, accomplished by Glenn Cunningham, Kansas, in the N. C. A. A. last year.

Cunningham is back to defend his laurels, but he will face the fastest field he has ever encountered. There are at least eight contestants credited with better than 4:20 in the mile this year. Ray Sears, Butler, who stepped the mile in 4:14.1 in the central intercollegiate meet at Milwaukee recently, is one of Cunningham's most serious rivals. Other prominent milers are Dean Woolsey, Illinois; Bill Howell, Michigan; Charles Popejoy, Purdue; Charlie Hornbostel, Indiana, and Chauncey Stout, U. of Tennessee. All of this group have run the mile under 4:18.

53 Athletes Honored By Mt. Rainier High

Fifty-three athletic insignia were presented Mount Rainier High School boys and girls at the annual class night exercises last night in the school auditorium. Boys' basket ball, baseball and track athletes and girls' basket ball, volley ball and touchdown pass players were honored. E. P. Blunt, principal, made the presentations. Ten members of the baseball nine, which won the Prince Georges County championship, the first county title ever garnered by a Mount Rainier team, received letters.

Special honor awards went to Foster and Bob Mathias, who were given sweaters with three gold stripes in recognition of having won 10 letters during their school careers. Each made their letters three years in soccer, basket ball and baseball and one year in track. To be eligible for honor sweaters, an athlete must have won at least nine letters in major sports.

Gold stars are awarded athletes after letters have once been won. The following presentations were made:

BOYS.

Basket ball (Stars)—Phil Ziegler, Bob Mathias, Foster Mathias, Robert Emery, Gus Chakalakis, Tillie Scott, Charles Callow, Robert Bellman.

Banner Lot of Stars Seek Honors in Meet

From every section of the country, track and field heroes are converging on Chicago for the National Collegiates tomorrow and Saturday at Soldier Field. Hardin, Olympic hurdler and quarter-miler, heads Louisiana State's strong squad. Lyman, who set a new world's shot-put record in the recent N. C. 4-A. games, will toss the iron ball for Stanford. Bonthron, winner of the 800 and 1,500 meter events in the N. C. 4-A, carries Princeton's hopes. Ward is the great all-around star who almost single-handed won the Big Ten title for Michigan.

Glen Echo Entries Close Tomorrow

Washington's first big outdoor meet of the 1933 season will be staged in the Crystal Pool at Glen Echo next Monday night at 8:30 o'clock, with the District of Columbia A. A. U. high board diving championship events featuring. The five compulsory dives for men are plain front (running), backward (standing), half gainer (running), backward jackknife (standing) and front dive with half twist (running), while the women's event calls for plain front dive (running), front jackknife (running), backward (standing), backward jackknife (standing), and front dive with half twist (running). Besides these compulsory dives, each entrant in both classes must perform five optional ones.

In addition to the championship events, six races, three for men and three for women, are carded, as follows: Men—60-yard freestyle, 120-yard freestyle and 120-yard breaststroke. Women—60-yard freestyle, 120-yard freestyle and 60-yard backstroke.

Entries close tomorrow night at the office of the director of the pool, with no fee charged. All contestants must be registered in the A. A. U. and give registration number when listing their names.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the first three finishers in each event.

Mahoney Will Handle Rockingham Park Bets

Salem, N. H., June 14 (A.P.).—The New Hampshire Breeders Association, operators of Rockingham Park, today announced that Mortimer M. Mahoney, of Baltimore, would be given charge of the track's pari-mutuel system for the month's race meeting that opens June 21.

Browning Twice Pins Friberg in Worcester

Worchester, Mass., June 14 (A.P.). Jim Browning, Missouri, recognized by the New York State Athletic Commission as world's heavyweight wrestling champion, threw John Friberg, Worcester, in straight falls tonight.

Browning won the first fall in 22:03 with a turnover scissors and took the second in 8:54 with a body scissors.

Yale-Harvard Regatta Gets Under Way Today

Gales Ferry, Conn., June 14 (A.P.). Short workouts were held today by the four Yale crews on the eve of the start of the two-day regatta with Harvard.

The combination eight, which rows tomorrow night against its Crimson rival, paddled downstream with the freshman crew to practice starts and 1-minute sprints. The varsity and junior varsity boats paddled for about 2 miles and tried some racing starts. Rowing conditions were ideal.

Rowing downstream 2 miles, the varsity and junior varsity crews, under Coach Whiteside, practiced racing starts over a 2-mile course upstream. The crews raced together and also individually.

Pena Wins in Chicago Under New Limit Law

Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—In the first fifteen-round boxing contest fought in Chicago in 39 years, Johnny Pena, rugged little Italian featherweight of New York, won the decision over Varias Millin, Los Angeles Filipino, at Mills Stadium, an outdoor arena, tonight. Pena, won nine of the fifteen rounds, with four going to Milling.

Pena began to bombard the Los Angeles featherweight with a heavy body attack at the start of the fifth round and kept it up until the finish. Milling weighed 125 pounds and Pena, 128. The bout was the initial fifteen-round contest fought in the State under the new law which provides for fifteen-round contests with 15 per cent tax going to the State.

Tech T Club Plans Athletic Features

Plans for an annual Circle T Club football game were promulgated last night at the annual meeting of that organization, membership in which is restricted to graduates of Tech High School who have received the Circle "T" in recognition of athletic endeavor.

Donald (Ham) Adams was appointed chairman of the football committee which has been entrusted with arrangements for the game. It is hoped that the annual meeting with Episcopal High School, which heretofore has been playing at Alexandria, can be transferred to the Tech Stadium. It is scheduled October 6.

The club also will sponsor a gigantic field day for students of the school next spring and will make overtures to have the annual Tech-Eastern faculty game played at Tech.

Henry A. Lepper was elected president of the club. Other officers chosen were Joseph Teehan, vice president; Charles Barber, secretary; C. W. Rippey, treasurer, and Warren Spencer to serve with the above on the executive committee.

Garnett Wins From Hunt In Upset

YELVERTSON GARNETT will cross racquets with Frank Williams, of Episcopal High, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Wardman Park courts to determine the 1933 District junior tennis championship.

Garnett forged into the final round yesterday afternoon by upsetting the favored star, Gilbert Hunt, Middle Atlantic champion and student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, but not without a struggle.

Hunt's defeat furnished the big surprise of the tournament. In the first set Garnett won the first game, only to watch Hunt sweep into a 2-1 lead. Gathering momentum in his play from the back court and at the net, Garnett swung back into stride and won the next two games. The count was 3-all when Garnett displayed a burst of speed and ran out the next three games.

Garnett Takes Lead.

Garnett took command of the situation in the second set, winning the opening game. Hunt rallied and captured the next two. Garnett went ahead by taking the next two, but Hunt balanced the scales by winning the sixth game. Hunt's all-around court play gave him a 4—3 lead, but Garnett finished in the identical fashion he did in the initial set, capturing the remaining three games.

Swept off his feet under a bombardment of deadly placements and volleys by the alert Yoemans, Frank Williams lost a love set but staged a courageous comeback in the next two sets, winning both handily. Yoemans set a dizzy pace in the opening set, but was outgeneraled and outsmarted by his rival from then on.

Moorhead, Adair Finalists.

The contenders for the boys' championship had quite a battle in their semifinals matches. Little Harry Moorhead eliminated Donald Johnson, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4, while Ralph Adair stumped Maurice Robbins, 14—16, 7—5, 6—4. The two finalists will clash at the termination of the Garnett-Williams match.

In taking the first set 16—14, Robbins set a new record in the tournament, since it was the only set to go as high as 20 games.

D. G. S. TRIUMPHS.

The D. G. S. tossers yesterday defeated the Terminal Warehouse nine, 12 to 5. For games with the winners, call Manager Gitelson at Metropolitan 4662.

Wimbledon's Play Draws 27 Nations

Vines and Mrs. Moody Head List of 204 as Title Defenders.

LONDON, June 14 (A.P.).—The entry list for the tennis championship of championships at Wimbledon beginning June 26, today showed the usual all-star field headed by the defending titleholders, Ellsworth Vines, jr., and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody.

The ranking players of 27 nations are among the 204 entries in the various classifications making the entry roll a regular blue book of champions.

Mrs. Moody and Vines head a strong United States delegation, which includes Helen Jacobs, United States singles and doubles champion; Keith Gledhill, holder with Vines of the United States doubles title; Cliff Sutter and Lester Stoefen, all "first ten" players.

Henri Cochet, smarting under the loss of his French title to Jack Crawford, the Australian star, leads a strong French force into action, but with Jean Borotra confining himself to doubles play only.

Crawford Is Among Entrants.

Crawford, semifinalist against Vines last year, is entered along with his Davis Cup teammates—Don Turnbull, Adrian Quist and Vivian McGrath, while other ranking stars include Jiro Satoh and R. Nunoi, of Japan; Ernest Maier, of Spain, and the two English aces, Fred Perry and Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, last year's finalist.

Mrs. Moody, who announced she would confine herself to singles, is expected to find her chief opposition among Miss Jacobs, Hilda Krahwinkel and Cilli Aussem, of Germany, Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France; Margaret Scriven, English holder of the French title; Dorothy Round, first ranking English star, and Jedwiga Jedzreowska, champion of Poland.

Somerville Shoots 67 To Set Course Record

Holyoke, England, June 14 (A.P.).—Ross (Sandy) Somerville, the London (Ontario) golfer, who holds the United States amateur title, turned in a record-breaking round of 67 today in preparation for the British amateur championship next week and followed it up with a fine 72.

At top form, "Sandy" clipped three strokes from the amateur record for the 6,750-yard Hoyiake course, held by Bob Jones, and one from the course record made by Archie Compston. He was over fours on only two holes and had seven threes on his record card. In the afternoon he negotiated the 200-yard seventh hole in two.

The record card:

Four Seeded Netmen Win in Indiana Play

New Albany, Ind., June 1 (A.P.).—The first four seeded players—Lefty Bryan, Chattanooga; John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex.; Doc Barr, Dallas, and Arnold Simons, Louisville—stroked their way into the quarter finals of the Indiana State tennis tournament today.

Bryan defeated Irving Fleischer, New Albany, 6—1, 6—1; McDiarmid eliminated Fred Wrege, New Albany, 6—1 6—0; Barr defeated Creel Brown, Anchorage, Ky., 6—3, 6—2, and Simmons ousted Jack Smith, Fort Worth, Tex., 6—3, 6—3.

Other players who have reached the quarter finals are William Fleming, Cincinnati, and Charles Coleman, Danville, Ky. Two more matches tomorrow will complete the bracket, with Earl Bossong, Cincinnati, and Eddie Weber, Louisville, favored to attain it.

U.S. Team Off To Play for Ryder Cup

Hagen Leads Veteran Group to Compete With British.

NEW YORK, June 14 (A.P.).—Capt. Walter Hagen and his Ryder Cup Team sailed for England tonight determined to break the jinx which has followed the invading team since the international golf series was informally inaugurated in 1926.

The matches have been contested four times, with the score standing at two victories each, the coming play at Southport June 26 and 27 thus being the "rubber" series. The United States won the last series at Columbus, Ohio, in 1931, nine matches to three.

Hagen leads a veteran team against a comparatively inexperienced British side, all but two of the United States squad having played in the international series at least once, while five of the ten British players never have competed for the Ryder Cup.

Players to Compete In Open.

Hagen has been a member of all four United States teams, while Gene Sarazen and Leo Diegel played on the 1927, 1929 and 1931 squads, Horton Smith was on the last two years, Ed Dudley was on the 1929 team, and Densmore Shute, Craig Wood and Bill Burke played at Columbus two years ago. Olin Dutra, National P. G. A. champion, and Paul Runyan are the newcomers.

Arrayed against the Americans will be Capt. J. H. Taylor, English veteran, who will be a nonplaying leader; W. H. Davies, Abe Mitchell, Charles Whitcombe, Syd Easterbrook and the newcomers Arthur Lacey, A. H. Padgham and George Perry.

After the cup matches the players will compete in the British open at St. Andrews, with Sarazen defending the title he won last year with a record score of 283.

Accompanying the team to play in the open were Johnny Farrell, United States open titleholder in 1928 and a member of three previous cup teams, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian-born trick-shot artist.

Princeton to Be Site Of Joint Track Meet

Princeton, N. J., June 14 (A.P.).—The joint track meet next month between combined teams of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, of England, and Cornell and Princeton Universities, of this country, will be held in Palmer Stadium, Princeton, it was announced today.

The meet will take place the afternoon of Saturday, July 15.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

TAKING advantage of the latitude given to them by the Federal Radio Commission, some stations are growing careless in the matter of announcing call letters at regular intervals. As the commission regulation now stands, call letters must be announced by each station every fifteen minutes except where a dramatic or musical program of importance is seriously interrupted. This would be in such a case as a program by the Philadelphia Orchestra or a special event or memorial broadcast.

Heretofore broadcasters, especially the larger stations, were very punctilious in announcing their identity, but recently a listener tuned in at intervals for almost an hour without being able to learn what station he was listening to.

Chief among the new programs scheduled, and one which is something of an innovation in the realm of broadcasting, is the two-hour weekly variety bill under the aegis of Paul Whiteman, now set to begin on June 26, with broadcasting from 9:30 to 11:30 p. m. Al Jolson has been invited to perform on the initial program. The plan calls for different personalities each week, in addition to the mutual harmonies of the orchestra.

The baseball game of the century will be heard all over the country through network stations when it is played at Chicago's Century of Progress, Thursday, July 6.

The contending teams will be composed of the most popular players of the National and American Leagues.

CORDELL HULL, who heads the American delegation to the World Monetary and Economic Conference, is expected to speak from London over WMAL at 8 p. m.

If Secretary Hull faces the microphone he will be introduced by H. V. Kaltenborn.

Jeannie Lang: "What's the difference between this 3.2 and the bootleg brew?"

Mme. Schumann-Heink will step before a microphone on her seventy-second birthday tonight to tell the story of outstanding events in her colorful career. (WMAL, 6:30 p. m.)

Pierre du Pont, chairman of the board of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., will speak under the auspices of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, WRC, at 10:15 p. m.

ETHEL BARRYMORE and Walter O'Keefe appear with Rudy Vallee on the Sunshine Hour over WRC at 7 p. m.

The "Sapphische Ode" ("Sapphic Ode"), one of the Brahms lieder, will be featured by Maude Rooney with Barlow's Symphony Orchestra tonight at 9:45 o'clock over WJSV.

More than 3,000 people are expected to attend the broadcast which has been arranged in New York tonight by the sponsors of Col. Stoopnagle and Budd to fill the numerous requests for personal attendance at the programs. (WJSV, 8:30 o'clock).

A special radio speech for members of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be made by Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, over Station WBAL in Baltimore at 5:30 p. m. on June 27. Radio sets which will receive the speech are expected to be installed in all the 150 work camps in this corps area by that time. He will review the combined work of the Army and local welfare organizations in putting the corps to work, and will also have a special message for the workers on the next phase of their activities.

RUTH ST. DENIS, famous dancer, will speak during the Woman's Radio Review today at 2:30 p. m. over WRC under the auspices of the Camp Fire Girls of America. Miss St. Denis, by the way, is quite a good speaker.

First a best selling novel, then a hit on the stage, Edna Ferber's story of Mississippi River life, "Show Boat," will be brought to the radio audience for the first time tonight. Capt. Henry will bring his Show Boat on a mythical visit to Cincinnati to present the original Ziegfeld "Show Boat" over the air. (WRC, 8 p. m.)

Capt. Henry's Show Boat is an original conception, modeled after the old river show boats of bygone days, reincarnating the old South. Edna Ferber's novel of river life, which was fashioned into the Hammerstein-Kern "Show Boat," has never had any connection with Capt. Henry's mythical radio craft.

THE United Mothers' Chorus, composed of the voices of 1,200 mothers belonging to the Parent-Teacher groups of Chicago and Cook County, will be heard from the court of the Hall of Science at a Century of Progress this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock over WMAL.

Greetings from the King and Queen of the Sixth Annual Rhododendron Festival in Asheville, N. C., will be heard during the Southeastern Revue from the Court of Rhododendrons at 8:30 p. m. over WMAL. The musical program, featuring James W. Scott, tenor; the Spencer Trio and Jolly Leftwich and his Duke University Orchestra, will be made up largely of tunes whose popularity has not been dimmed by years.

The story of "Maisie From Detroit," dramatized from actual records in the files of the Travelers' Aid Society, will be presented over WRC at 1:45 p. m. An introduction to Maisie's story will be given by Virginia Murray, executive of the Travelers' Aid Society in New York.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Ambling through the night:

Strolling in the Sixties one runs into Marion Sapportas, society celebrity and pal of Lilyan Tashman. . . . "I'm so excited," she thrills. "I'm going to Central Park, where we are going to talk on wireless telephone to Amelia Earhart, who is going to be piloting a plane overhead—and I can't think of a single thing to say."

All the boardwalks aren't at Coney Island. . . . A popular one encircles the roof of a midtown hotel. . . . There is an artificial beach, a swimming pool and all the other fixtures of a seaside resort.

Disappointed Actress.

An ambitious young movie actress returns from her day's work at the Long Island movie studios in tears. . . . "Here I've been working for years for this opportunity," she explains, "and what do I get. I spend two hours making up, draw $250 out of the bank for a stunning gown and then all they do is to take a few shots at the back of my head. And my pay is $25."

Life in the cosmopolitan atmosphere of New York is excellent training for travelers. . . . With its Spanish, Syrian, German, Greek and countless other foreign neighborhoods, a New Yorker soon becomes so imbued with international color that he can visit practically any city overseas and feel right at home immediately.

Mulrooney Not So Silent.

The legend that Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, now head of the beer board instead of the police, is a silent man is not entirely true. . . . Rare indeed did he make public utterances. . . . Perhaps that belief of his that actions are more persuasive than words is one of the reasons he made such a praiseworthy record as leader of the metropolitan police.

Nevertheless, you will meet few more interesting conversationalists than Mulrooney when he is at a private gathering with a few friends. . . . I once met him at a small party of celebrities, most of them men and women who had many famous achievements to their credit. . . . But, it was around Mulrooney they were grouped, all listening raptly to his anecdotes and observations.

Fog frequently throws a hitch into these week-end cruises on which transatlantic liners take excursionists on 48-hour voyages out on the ocean and return. The schedule calls for the liners to return to their pier in time for passengers to get to their offices promptly Monday morning. Sometimes heavy blankets of fog hold the ship out at the edge of the harbor for as long as twelve hours overtime. It's embarrassing trying to alibi to the boss.

AFTER PHONING JOE SCARLETTI, BESS HART AND BABE LA BON DISCUSSED THE STRANGE ENTRY TO TOM KNIGHT'S ROOM
I DONT UNDERSTAND, BABE, WHO COULD HAVE SNEAKED INTO TOM'S ROOM LAST NIGHT BUT I DONT THINK WE SHOULD BLAME JOE WITH NO REAL EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM!!
THAT'S TRUE ENOUGH, BESS, BUT IT DOES SEEM AWFULLY STRANGE THAT MY KEY TO THE FRONT DOOR IS GONE AND THAT JOE WAS AWAY FROM THE CLUB AT THE TIME TOM'S ROOM WAS ENTERED!!
JUST THEN TOM KNIGHT CAME TO THE GIRLS' ROOM
EXCUSE ME, BUT COULD I SEE YOU FOR A MOMENT, EMMY? YOU'LL EXCUSE HER, WON'T YOU, BESS?
JERRY LAFLIN THE ROOMING HOUSE PROPRIETOR WAS UP IN TOM'S ROOM AND NOW THEY MAPPED OUT THE WAY THEY WERE GOING TO QUESTION SCARLETTI
WE DON'T WANT TO GET HIM SORE BUT HE'S GOT TO PROVE AN ALIBI TO OUR SATISFACTION!
I'LL DO MOST OF THE QUESTIONING WHEN HE GETS HERE AND I'LL TRY TO BE CAREFUL NOT TO ANTAGONIZE HIM BUT HE MUST ESTABLISH THE FACT THAT HE WASN'T THE ONE WHOM JERRY SAW LEAVING MY ROOM ABOUT TWO THIS MORNING!!
YOU SAID IT!
MEANWHILE ON THE FLOOR BELOW JOE SCARLETTI ARRIVES AS ARRANGED AT THE GIRLS' ROOM
HELLO BESS! WHERE'S YOUR LITTLE PLAYMATE?

GRADUATIONS BEGIN IN PRINCE GEORGES

Five of County High Schools Award Diplomas and Various Prizes.

A three-day period of high school graduation exercises in Prince Georges County opened last night with the awarding of the diplomas in five of the institutions.

At Laurel, Md., the ceremonies were opened with a selection by the high school band and the academic procession. After the invocation by Rev. Homer Welch and the singing of "Lauds Domine" by a chorus of 126 students, the opening remarks were given by L. B. Howard, principal of the school.

This was followed by an address by the Rev. W. Harold Rodney of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Hagerstown, Md., and the awarding of the diplomas by Kent R. Mullikin.

Graduation at Bowie

Among the awards presented were the Alumni Medal for scholarship, given to John Barker; the Industrial Arts Medal, Merrie Mroop; the American Legion Medal, which also went to John Barker, and the faculty attendance award, presented to Anna Rapp. The Bicentennial Essay Contest Medals, delayed from last year, were awarded to Eleanor Bounds, first place, and Nancy Lankford, second place, in the State contest.

At Bowie, Md., Dr. Walter M. H. Jaeger, of the University of Maryland, addressed the high school graduating class. The diplomas were awarded by J. Albert Miller. The R. Harris & Co. honor award for scholarship was presented to Betty Straining.

Tying for the Scholastic Achievement Medal for work during the current year were Mary Kuhl and James Jaeger. Honorable mention was given Betty Straining, Naomi McCauley, Clara Thomas, Sally Quinn, Mary Bastin, Myrtle Schneider, Rose Mary Milton and Margaret Fladung.

At Marlboro High School.

At the Marlboro High School the diplomas were awarded by Nicholas Crem, superintendent of the county schools. The invocation was given by the Rev. Preston L. Peach, Mitchellville, Md.

Priscilla Talbot was awarded the highest honor in the form of the "best all-around student" medal. She received nothing lower than an "A" throughout her four years of high school. The girls' declamation contest medal went to Dolly Nathanson and the boys' to William Marr.

The diplomas were awarded at the Maryland Park High School by Edward Roberson, trustee of the school. The gold medal for first place in the annual oratorical contest went to Margaret Halfpap. Dorothy Clark received the silver medal for second place and Mary Bateman the bronze medal for third place.

Margaret Windle Honored.

The address at the Oxon Hill High School was delivered by Sherwood D. Shankland, secretary to the superintendent's department of the National Education Association. The diplomas were awarded by Arthur J. Lovell.

The Gorgas Memorial medal for the winning essay on "Yellow Fever" went to Dorothy Russell. Bayne Brooks won the honor of being the outstanding schoolboy patrolman. Charles Janes was the valedictorian and Jerome Fletcher the salutatorian.

Alexandria's Charities To Continue Functions

The Alexandria United Charities held a meeting on Tuesday evening and decided to continue work another month, with assistance to be given only the most needy and worthy cases. Elliott F. Hoffman, chairman of the finance committee, stated $445 is available for the work, and this sum was divided into wards for the use of the different ward helpers.

The members of the charity body state that there are many cases where illness prevails in the home and the bread winner is out of work, and contributions are solicited to be able to continue caring for such cases. Contributions may be sent to Thomas Chauncey, treasurer.

Quiz of Riverdale Fatal Beating Set

An inquest of the death of Richard C. Cooley, 55, of Riverdale, Md., who died yesterday at Providence Hospital as the result of a severe beating Monday night, will be held June 22.

Cooley was found unconscious in a second floor bedroom of his rooming house, 308 Lafayette avenue, Riverdale, Mrs. Margaret Nash, 40, proprietor of the house, who was found in an adjoining hallway, admitted striking the man a few blows with a dipper, according to Prince Georges County police.

Mrs. Nash, and Homer Williams, another roomer at the house whom police said they found hiding in the cellar, are being held in Hyattsville jail on a charge of investigation.

"General" Arrives For World's Fair

Its wood-burning fire-box empty, boilers dry, and funnel smokestack cold, this locomotive of the Civil War period went on guard duty at the entrance to "Wings of a Century," panorama of transportation development at Century of Progress Exposition.

It made the trip from Chattanooga, Tenn., a passenger aboard a flat-car, for its days of labor are over.

Chicagoan Returns After Elopement.

TRIO GIVEN 30 DAYS AS RESULT OF SONGS

Noisy Hyattsville "Party" Caused Neighbors to Complain.

Singing may be all right in its place, but taken to the extreme may become obnoxious, it was ruled by Judge J. Chew Sheriff in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday.

As a result, Ulysses Barton, Mesey Campbell and Robert Ross were given 30 days in the Marlboro Jail. Campbell and Ross pleaded guilty to the offense.

The three men were arrested early Monday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct after a complaint had been turned in to Prince Georges County police by neighbors of a Hyattsville residence, where the "party" was being held.

John Wesley Waddleton, of Brentwood, Md., was fined $115 and costs by the court on charges of driving while drunk, carrying a concealed weapon and disorderly conduct. Unable to pay his fine, he was committed to jail for 30 days.

Frank M. Rowley, 3519 Georgia avenue, was given a jail sentence of 60 days in default of a $50 fine. He pleaded guilty to a charge of transportation and possession of whisky. Charles Mercer, 1526 Ninth street northwest, was fined $52 and costs on charges of transportation and possession of whisky, speeding and failing to have an automobile registration card.

E. Gates, cello; Franklin Elmore, drums, and Sara Jane Poole, piano, will play between solo numbers.

City Fire Fighters Will Honor Crosby

Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police and Fire Commissioner of the District, will be honored today at ceremonies in the board room of the District Building, when a gold watch, gift of the City Fire Fighters Association, will be presented to him by J. M. Jamieson, newly elected president of the organization.

The association voted at a meeting last Tuesday in the Hamilton Hotel, to express their appreciation to Gen. Crosby at the conclusion of his long period of service. The exercises will open at 10 a. m., with other District officials and members of the Fire Department in attendance.

It was also voted by the association to express thanks to civic organizations which indorsed the Fire Fighters' campaign to fill all future vacancies in the department from the present personnel.

Oil Men Convene To Study New Act

Oil men from the East, the South and the Southwest met here to study possibilities of the industrial recovery act and to discuss regulations to be set up when the industry is federated under its terms.

The meeting, it was explained by Wirt Franklin, of Oklahoma City, president of the Independent Petroleum Association, was preliminary to a joint session tomorrow of independent producers and delegates from the Petroleum Institute of America. The goal of that meeting, to which each Independent Producers' Association has been invited to send five delegates, is a new government for the industry, he said.

Nurse Sees Need For Mothers' Care

Chicago, June 14 (A.P.).—The community should provide care for mothers just as it furnishes education and police protection to its citizens, Miss Hazel Corbin, of New York, said today at the annual meeting of the National League of Nursing Education.

Miss Corbin, director of the Maternity Center Association of New York, said communities had assumed "very little" responsibility for making adequate care available for maternity patients.

The mortality rate among mothers, she said, was three times as high as it should be, offering a challenge to nurses to educate the public in the matter of proper maternity care.

Driver Cleared in Fatal Mishap Near Beltsville

A coroner's inquest into the death of Hattie Yewer, 30, colored, 1039 Twenty-first street northwest, who received fatal injuries in an auto accident near Beltsville, Md., yesterday, exonerated James Ferry, 39, colored, driver of the striking auto. The verdict was death from an unavoidable accident.

Elizabeth Howard, 32, colored, of Montclair, N. J., is in critical condition as a result of the accident.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

OVERCOMING the handicap of blindness that resulted from an accident when he was 12 years old, David E. Guyton, of Blue Mountain, Miss., has followed his career as an educator and journalist with success accorded few sighted persons. Prof. Guyton is also president of the Bank of Blue Mountain.

He has the distinction of being the first man to be graduated from Blue Mountain College, a school which up to the time he entered it was exclusively for women. He is also the first blind person to be graduated there. After getting his bachelor of arts degree there he continued his education in the University of Mississippi, where he was given a bachelor of science degree—the first to be given to a blind man by that school. At Columbia University he received his master of arts degree—the first man to be thus honored by that school. At present he is head of the School of History and Political Science at Blue Mountain College.

"Blindness," according to Dr. Guyton, "though an inconvenience, is no bar to teaching. Indeed, blindness is mainly a handicap in small features of life, not hindering high thinking, original planning, constructive and creative mental work."

In addition to his duties as banker and educator, Prof. Guyton finds time to write for newspapers, filling assignments for spot news as well as feature writing. He handles his own copy, even to making carbon copies, addressing and posting.

SENATOR SPEAKER AT FLAG DAY RITES IN SYLVAN THEATER

Several Hundred Hear Walsh Pay Tribute to Stars and Stripes in Address.

Braving the chill of an unreasonable June evening, several hundred patriotic Washingtonians gathered in the Sylvan Theater last night to celebrate Flag Day.

They were rewarded for any discomfort they may have experienced by a concert from the United States Marine Band, colorful exercises by local patriotic organizations and an address by Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts.

Senator Walsh observed that to worship the Stars and Stripes is not to pay homage to a piece of cloth, as beautiful as it might be, but to recognize the principles the banner represents.

The most precious of these, made obtainable today by the signers of the Declaration of Independence, he pointed out, are equality, justice and freedom. These possessions are more valuable than wealth and success, he said, and should be cherished by all Americans.

Women Hold Flags Aloft.

The organizations represented were the Women's Relief Corps and the Sons and Daughters of Veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic, Boy and Girl Scouts and color guards of soldiers, sailors and marines. The latter units brought the exercises to a climax.

The ceremony was opened with a brief address by J. H. Sheppard, Department of the Potomac commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Mrs. Anna Horn, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, and Mrs. Cora L. Manoly, patriotic instructor of the Women's Relief Corps, then extended a welcome to the audience. An invocation was given by the Rev. Charles T. Warner, patriotic instructor of the Department of the Potomac of the G. A. R.

Parker Presents Colors.

Presentation of the colors was conducted by Percy Parker, color bearer of the G. A. R. Mrs. Manoly led in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. A march and drill was given by the Daughters of America, led by Drill Master R. G. Lewis.

An original poem, dedicated to Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, entitled "Flag of My Country," was read by former Representative W. E. Ryan, of New York City, a member of the Sons of Veterans. The benediction was given by Chaplain William Dorsey, of the G. A. R.

SHEPHERD SCHOOL PLAYERS

SCHOOL BOARD PLAN TO SHIELD WORKERS ADOPTED IN SAVINGS

Data on Married Teachers Held by Ballou as No Cause for Alarm.

With the avowed determination to keep the school system intact and to avoid dismissal of any regular teacher in good standing, the Board of Education yesterday afternoon approved a program to meet the reduced appropriation for next year.

The economy program includes a number of recommendations to the superintendent. He will, in turn, map out a program and submit it to the board for approval.

An order over which school board members assure teachers they need have no alarm is a recommendation given Superintendent Frank W. Ballou to collect from all school employes information concerning their matrimonial status, with a view to determining how many wives and husbands are both employed in the District government service.

Information Wanted for Reference.

Mrs. Marion Wade Doyle, chairman of the committee of the whole of the board, which submitted the report, made it clear that the sole object of getting this information is for reference and that from the looks of things at present there will be no need for married teachers to become concerned over their positions.

If it is absolutely impossible to operate the school system under the program decided upon, it may become necessary to cut into the married ranks. If this is done those with the lowest efficiency rating will be hit first, Mrs. Doyle said it is very doubtful if this extreme will have to be taken.

Mrs. Doyle described the economy policy as "taking up the slack." The teachers who will leave the service are those who would leave anyway in the most prosperous of years. These are teachers and other school employes who have been found to be unsatisfactory. Their positions will not be refilled. The same applies to vacancies caused by deaths and retirements.

Discontinuances Approved.

The board yesterday approved the discontinuance of eleven teachers, one clerk and fifteen custodians.

The superintendent was authorized to determine what teachers may be transferred to other teaching service so as to "take up the slack." He was instructed to perform the same task in regard to clerks and custodians.

The board offered Dr. Ballou several methods to choose from in reduction of school officers. These include retirement of officers at their request; consolidation of teaching principalships and creation of a lesser number of administrative principalships; by the possible reassignment of officers, and by assigning heads of departments an increased teaching program; by the closing out or reorganization of any positions which may become vacant through resignation, retirement or death up to June 30, 1934.

To meet the reduced appropriation in the department of school attendance and work permits, the superintendent was directed to consider savings from turnovers and lapsed salaries, furlough of employes without pay and other means that may commend themselves.

GIRLS TELL OF EASTERN SHORE'S ATTRACTIONS

Headed by Mayor W. W. McCabe of Ocean City, Md., the Eastern Shore Prosperity Motorcade moved through Washington yesterday, stopping at the White House and then the Mayflower Hotel for luncheon. With a loud speaker blaring the virtues of Eastern Shore resorts, these young women seated on a decorated float extended invitations to the surprised afternoon crowds to visit the shore. FIGHT OVER NAMING D.C. COMMISSIONERS BREAKS IN SENATE

Vandenberg Denounces Plan to Name Outsiders on Washington Board.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

The undercover fight over the job of District Commissioners broke into the open yesterday when Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, took the floor in the Senate and denounced reported intentions to name outsiders.

Senator Vandenberg denounced reported intentions to "carpetbag" the District in response to healthy contributions to the good-sized deficit of the Democratic national committee. The senator's speech was made in the course of a discussion of the President's proposal that some one who is not a resident of the Hawaiian Islands should be appointed governor of the islands.

Opposing the Hawaiian governorship proposal, Senator Vandenberg said, "certainly there hasn't been any great outburst of violence in the National Capital. There has not been any clashing of races in the National Capital to justify carpetbagging here."

Law Change Seen.

Senator Vandenberg said he wondered whether the Hawaiian governorship resolution would not be followed by another changing the law to permit the appointment of an outsider to the jobs of District Commissioners and other places in the voteless District.

The senator read extracts from a news story published in The Washington Post in the course of his address. Reports of the willingness of the administration to give purely local jobs to most any one to pay political debts gained currency several days ago.

Postmaster General James A. Farley expressed that opinion as the course of political wisdom.

Mr. Farley has been regarded as the dispenser of political patronage in the Roosevelt administration. His willingness to name residents of other States to purely municipal jobs has aroused the ire of residents in the District as well as members of the Senate who believe the jobs for which the people of the District pay the salaries should be filled by persons who have sufficient knowledge of the problems and sentiments of the District to approximate their representation.

Farley Allies Fears.

Mr. Farley replied to Senator Vandenberg's speech with a statement that none but genuine residents of the District would be considered for appointment as District Commissioners.

What will come of the District melee remains to be seen. Senator James Byrnes, (Democrat), of South Carolina, told Senator Vandenberg that appointment of any other than an actual resident of the District would be against the law.

Senator Vandenberg said he knew the law but he didn't seem at all certain whether the President would observe it.

The fight for the two jobs of civilian Commissioners of the District has approached the bitter stage. Various candidates are egging their supporters on to throw dirt and inference against the other candidates.

1935 D. C. BUDGET BEHIND SCHEDULE

Maj. Donovan Seeking Data From Douglas Before Making Estimates.

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, yesterday called at the Budget Bureau in an effort to obtain information which will enable him to issue the annual call for departmental estimates in the District government.

Because of the late passage of the District appropriations bill, District officials are far behind schedule in drafting the 1935 fiscal year budget. Since the passage of the measure the auditor has been further delayed by the failure of Budget Director Douglas to instruct the Commissioners regarding the economy policies to be followed during 1935.

It is expected that strict economy will be the watchword again, as last year, in the instructions issued the department heads. Only a minimum of new construction is expected to be provided for in the 1935 budget, and a general maintenance only policy probably will be adopted.

The cut in the tax rate from $1.70 to $1.50 will deplete the District revenue considerably as will the further anticipated reductions in realty assessments. The auditor estimates but a small surplus at the end of 1934, and even this may be absorbed by further requests for unemployment relief appropriations. Should there be any general raise in salaries above the 15 per cent cut, the District might end the year with a deficit.

DIVIDEND AVAILABLE AT SUSPENDED BANK

15 Per Cent Issue to 4,000 Departmental Patrons Is Announced.

Payment of a third dividend of 15 per cent to approximately 4,000 depositors in Departmental Bank, local savings institution at 1726 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, which suspended operations July 14, was announced yesterday by W. B. Allman, receiver of the bank.

Mr. Allman said payment would begin Saturday at 8:30 a. m. and that the bank would remain open that day until 9 p. m. These same banking hours will be adhered to on Monday and Tuesday following for the convenience of Government employes who were depositors in this bank.

This payment will make a total percentage of 65 paid to depositors to date, or approximately $505,000, within eleven month after the bank closed. The third payment will be approximately $120,000. On February 10 the bank's receiver made a first payment of 30 per cent, or approximately $225,000, and on April 28, a second payment of 20 per cent, or approximately $160,000.

Stockholders of the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington will not be subject to double liability as such. The Glass-Steagall banking bill enacted by Congress contains a clause relieving stockholders of all new national banks organized after date of passage of the legislation from double liability. Under the new law, in the case of a new national bank failure, stockholders may lose their investment in shares in it, but they may not be assessed for an equal amount in cash to pay depositors.

Kennedy-Warren's Trustee Files Suits

William C. Sullivan, trustee in bankruptcy for the Kennedy-Warren Corporation, yesterday filed suits against Osbert E. Jones, 4901 Forty-third street northwest, and the Knollman-Spidel Fireproofing Co. because of alleged preferential payments made to them prior to the bankruptcy.

Mr. Jones, the suit asserted, obtained a judgment for $9,000 against the Kennedy-Warren, and then levied upon funds in the District National Bank. The fireproofing company also obtained a judgment and levied upon funds in the Park Savings Bank, amounting to $9,872.24 and $124.50, and also obtained $336 from Kennedy-Warren funds in the District National Bank.

Mr. Sullivan asserted that the payment of these claims constituted preference of one group of creditors over another group, and he asked the court to order the return of all the moneys thus obtained. The judgment obtained by the Knollman-Spidel Company totaled $15,000.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED BY NEW YORKER

Mrs. Ruth Hall Charges Cruelty in Action Against Husband.

Mrs. Ruth Hall, 1 Fifth avenue, New York, yesterday filed suit for divorce against Dr. Fleet Hall, 1 Fifth avenue, New York, in District Supreme Court.

Mrs. Hall charges cruelty. She asks custody of their minor child, Fleet Hall jr., and alimony.

New Yorker Is Charged With Larceny of Auto

A charge of grand larceny was placed against Arthur Graham Freese, of Cairo, N. Y., yesterday when the District grand jury returned an indictment charging him with the theft of an automobile.

Freese is alleged to have driven away in an automobile while the salesman, Sanford Griggs, was standing in the road waiting to take the driver's seat. The machine allegedly was taken to New York, where it was sold.

Express Company Files $3,000 Suit

Suit for $3,000 was filed in District Supreme Court yesterday by Frederick P. Small, president of the American Express Co., 1414 F street northwest, against Emilia O. de Lefevre.

The papers alleged that a $3,000 letter of credit was made out to the defendant at the request of the Commercial National Bank. The letter was cashed at the Paris, France, branch of the National City Bank, of New York, and when the express company sought payment from the commercial bank the bank had been closed.

Through Attorney Arthur P. Drury, the express company charged it had sought payment of the letter from the defendant, but that no payment had been made, though the letter was cashed March 1, 1933.

Bolivian, Former Legation Aid, Weds Mrs. H. W. Morgan

Senor George de la Barra, 39, of the Dupont Circle Apartments, former secretary of the Bolivian Legation here, and Mrs. Helen Woodruff Morgan, 35, of Williamsport, Pa., were married yesterday in Rockville, Md., by the Rev. J. Floyd Black, pastor of the Rockville Christian Church.

The bridal party included Senora Emma C. de Pinot, wife of the Minister from Bolivia; Elenor Don Enrique S. de Lozada, first secretary of the Bolivian Legation; Senhor Joao Ruy Barbosa, second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy; Senhor Edgar Fraga da Castro, second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy; Capt. Van Lennep, former attache of the Dutch legation and now in business here, and Mrs. Cecelia Cliss, of Washington.

Senor de la Barra was secretary of the Bolivian Legation here for several years until a change in administration and ministry caused his removal. His first wife, the Senora Rosita de la Barra, who was sister-in-law of President Daniel Salamanca, deposed by revolutionaries, now is the wife of the charge de affaires of the Spanish Legation in Bolivia. The couple was divorced at Reno, Nevada.

Senor de la Barra graduated from the Columbia University School of Mines, and went to work in the Bolivian tin mines on his graduation. He is said to own extensive mining and oil properties in Bolivia. After having been secretary to the legation, he was appointed secretary general of the Bolivian commission sent to Washington to negotiate the Chaco, but he resigned and is now in business.

SOVIETISM CHARGED TO HOWARD U. HEAD

Alleged Teaching of Radical Beliefs in Schools Here Discussed in House.

Allegations that a translated edition of a Soviet primer was read in a local classroom by a Washington high school teacher were made on the floor of the House yesterday by Representative John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri.

The Missouri representative said he intended to make a private investigation of information to this effect given him by the mother of a local high school student. If he finds the charges true, he will ask a congressional inquiry, he declared.

His statement followed a roundtable discussion of alleged teaching of Communism in local institutions, started by Representative Bulwinkle (Democrat), North Carolina, who introduced into the Record a clipping from a Chicago newspaper stating that President Mordecai Johnson of Howard University favored Communism in an address before the senior class of the university.

Representative De Priest, (Republican), Illinois, immediately came to the defense of Dr. Johnson. The sole colored representative in Congress read a statement by the President of Howard denying he believed in Communism.

Representative De Priest said he would welcome a Congressional investigation to determine whether Communism is being taught at the institution, expressing his personal conviction that Dr. Johnson, who is also a Baptist preacher, made no such expression.

Representative Blanton, (Democrat), Texas, declared that appropriations for any Government institution espousing such a doctrine should be denied.

"I am in favor of cutting off appropriations for any teacher who teaches Communism," he said.

Bible School Gives Certificates to 100

Certificates were presented more than one hundred students of the Columbia Bible Training School, signifying completion of the nine-month course of study, at commencement exercises last night at the Epworth M. E. Church.

Dr. John C. Copenhaver, pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church, delivered the address of welcome, and the Rev. Clifford H. Jope, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian Church, gave the commencement address. Other speakers included Dr. John E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church; Benjamin J. Brooke, chairman of the board of trustees of the school, and Lyman S. McCrary.

Bad Luck

Follows Robbers Who Attempt to Hold Up Caprino's Delicatessen.

Word will undoubtedly get around soon among holdup men to steer clear of Felice D. Caprino's delicatessen. A colored robber who attempted to hold up his delicatessen a few months ago lost an arm when Caprino hurled a meat cleaver at him. His arm was injured so badly that an amputation was found necessary.

Yesterday another colored robber held Caprino up, and took $5. But as he left Caprino took a shot at him. Uninjured, the robber ran down the street and got into a taxicab. When he alighted from the cab on New York avenue, near Ninth street, the driver, Norman Turner, of Rosslyn, Va., notified Park Policeman Walter H. Sconyers, who arrested him.

Caprino's delicatessen is now located at 1256 Ninth street northwest. He formerly was on North Capitol street. That may have had something to do with the second holdup.

'TAMER' OF WILDCAT FACES NEW CHARGE

Dr. Miller and Wife Jailed for Massaging Detectives Without License.

The wildcat "tamer," who paid an unwilling visit to the Tenth Precinct for massaging the life out of a wildcat, was back in the Tenth Precinct last night for massaging a couple of vice squad men—without having a license to do so.

On this visit Dr. Aubrey G. Miller, who spent a busy two hours trying to subdue the wildcat, was accompanied by his wife, Joan, who was similarly charged. Now she is at the House of Detention, and he is back in his old stamping cell in No. 10 Precinct Station.

Two detective sergeants, C. D. Schamp and J. Auffenberg, went to the Miller home at 3406 Thirteenth street northwest, yesterday and were vigorously massaged—but were not given the vigorous treatment that the wildcat received at the hands of the amateur animal tamer.

After the massaging was over, Dr. Miller had the new charge added to the two charges now pending against him—that of taking private property from the zoo (the wildcat), and intoxication.

A hearing will be given this week by Dr. William M. Mann, superintendent of the Zoo, to Charles E. Kern, whom Dr. Miller says was the keeper who gave him the wildcat. Mr. Kern denies this. He is now under suspension.

ARCHITECT'S STAFF WILL BE CUT IN HALF

Harold W. Baker Points to Lack of Construction in D. C. Supply Bill.

The municipal architect's office force will be cut in half early in the new fiscal year because of the lack of construction projects authorized in the District supply bill, Harold W. Baker, director of construction, revealed yesterday. Only two large building projects for which plans can be drawn are on the next year's schedule. These are the completion of the Wilson High School plans and the design of an eight-room Logan School.

A possible salvation for some of the architects lies in the public works bill, but so far District officials are not able to predict how much they can expect from the Federal Government for municipal construction.

Only two building projects will be ready to be placed under contract July 1 if the public works administrator should make a grant to the District at the beginning of the fiscal year. The plans for the contagious disease hospital and the Anacostia Junior High School are practically completed, and the District has $400,000 to apply on their estimated cost of $1,000,000.

While District officials, along with the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, have been drafting highly tentative lists of possible building projects for which they could apply for Federal grants, they are as yet uncertain as to how numerous obstacles are to be overcome.

For instance, under the first classification, which authorizes the grant or loan of up to 30 per cent of construction costs, the District would benefit not at all as it would have no resource for raising the other 70 per cent.

Should the District receive money under the Presidential authority to make grants of the full cost of construction, there is some question in the minds of District officials as to whether such grant would cover all incidental costs, such as the drafting of plans and overhead expenses, or be limited to the costs of labor and material as in the first classification.

It is virtually certain, however, that no efforts will be made by the Commissioners to place any part of the municipal center under construction because of the obligations it would place on the District budgets for the next several years.

Restaurant Man Bankrupt.

Lee Gin, proprietor of a restaurant at 421 Eleventh street northwest, yesterday filed in District Supreme Court a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. The schedule of assets and liabilities showed debts of $17,645.51 and assets of $3,414.26. Attorneys T. L. Jeffords and Jesse E. Potbury represented the petitioner.

Willard Fogle, 26, 20 Seventh street southeast, suffered a fractured pelvis and bruises, and Sam Shuey, 36, 701 Massachusetts avenue northeast, received cuts and bruises yesterday when their cars collided at Massachusetts avenue and Sixth street northeast. Both were treated at Casualty Hospital.

Fogle's condition was reported as undetermined last night.

Harry V. Haynes Quits Lorton to Be Auditor

Harry V. Haynes, convicted of misapplying funds of the Farmers & Mechanics Bank while president of that institution, has secured a position as an auditor, it was learned yesterday. He was released from Lorton Reformatory Tuesday after serving two years.

His sentence was originally four years and a half. The District Parole Board approved his release. At his trial he contended that the alleged misapplication of funds were efforts to protect the bank.

Woman Asking $10,000 Of Street Car Company

Through Attorney Catherine McCloskey, she claimed that she was thrown from a street car at Fifth and E streets northwest last February and was badly injured.
